GEOGRAPHY.

E. Marsden	...	Geography for senior classes, Parts I and II.
The World with fuller treatment of India	(Longman's Geographical Series for India, Book II).
F. D. Unstead	...	The Practical Geography, Parts I and II.
B. C. Wallis	...	Macmillan's Geographical Exercise Book (India).

* Open only to candidates whose vernacular is not this language.

The following books are recommended for the use of teachers:—

Blanford	... The Rudiments of Physical Geography for the use of Indian Schools.
Frew	... A Regional Geography of the Indian Empire (Blackie and Son.)
Wallis	... The Teaching of Geography (Cambridge University Press.)
O'Malley	... Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, Shuklin (Macmillan & Co.).

The following book is recommended for the use of teachers in connection with the teaching of "Sand Modelling" in the lower classes of schools:—

A. E. Frye ... The Child and Nature.

Every school that intends to undertake instruction in Geography for the Matriculation Examination is required to possess the apparatus mentioned in the following list:—

I.—(The total cost need not exceed Rs. 65).

- (1) A measuring tape.
- (2) A magnetic compass.
- (3) Squared paper and tracing paper.
- (4) Clay, dry sand, paper pulp for modelling.
- (5) A globe not less than 14 inches in diameter, with writing surface, and with line of latitude and longitude, and outlines only of the land masses marked upon it.
- (6) A map of the school locality on a scale of 4" or 6" = 1 mile.
- (7) A map of the district in which the school is situated on the scale 1" = 1 mile.
- (8) A coloured map of the province.
- (9) A coloured political map of India.
- (10) A physical map of India.
- (11) A relief map of India.
- (12) A map of the world on Mollweide's equal area projection and a map of Asia.

It is essential that the students should be provided with a globe, or with the necessary hand maps, and with a drawing instrument box. Maps for school work should not contain too much detail or be crowded with names.

II.—The following additional equipment is recommended when it can be provided, but the lack of it is not to be considered as a bar to the recognition of the school in Geography:—

- (1) A thermometer.
- (2) A mercury barometer.
- (3) A rain-gauge.
- (4) A small collection of typical rocks, in particular those of the province and India.
- (5) A small museum of typical products.
- (6) A good standard atlas.
- (7) Geographical pictures.
- (8) Magic-lantern and slides.

1. The attention of teachers is requested to the raised maps of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam made of paper pulp, prepared by Babu Kallachandra Datta, Head Pandit, Habiganj Government Girls' School, Sylhet, and sold for Rs. 7 and Rs. 5 respectively.

2. Globes of all kinds are made by George Philip and Son, London, W. and A. K. Johnston, London, and Messrs. Reddiman Johnston, London. Small hand Globes of German make can be obtained through the Indian School Supply Depot for about a rupee each.

3. The "Comparative" series of large wall maps of the continents published by George Philip and Son is good and up to date; so also are the Orographical wall maps published by Edward Stanford. Messrs. Ruddiman and Johnston publish a series of smaller wall maps which include maps of India illustrating various distributions.

Messrs. Nelson's wall atlases are good. Mr. S. B. Chatterjee publishes District Maps: also ordinary and relief maps of the province.

Babu M. Basu, the drawing master of the Dacca Collegiate School, has published good relief maps of Eastern Bengal and Assam and of India.

The Vidal-Blenche French wall maps on strong cardboard, named on one side, and the same map without names on the reverse, published by Armond Collin, Paris, are good and cheap. They measure 46 inches by 39 inches and can be delivered in Calcutta for Rs. 4-14 each.

4. The hand-maps, coloured to indicate relief published by the Diagram Company West Barnes Lane, New Malden, Surrey, at one penny each are the best of their kind.

The uncoloured half penny maps, showing river systems and a few towns, published by the same Company are excellent for class use.

The Autograph hand maps, with hill shading in brown, published by Edward Stanford, London, at one penny each, are very good, and are larger than the Diagram Company's hand maps. The 15-inch map of the world on Mollweide's equal area projection is especially to be commended.

5. Wall pictures of considerable artistic merit are published by Messrs. Edward Arnold of Leeds, Messrs. Hachette of Paris and Messrs. Holzner of Vienna and Messrs. Longmans Green and Company. The cost, delivered in India, from two to three rupees each.

Map lantern slides (and view slides especially prepared for Geography teaching) are sold by the Diagram Company for two or three shillings each. Mr. Bartington Smith of Darjeeling also sells good picture slides of the Himalayas at Rs. 15 per dozen.

ELEMENTARY MECHANICS.

The following books are recommended:—

Sir Philip Magnus	... Elementary Mechanics (Longmans, 1903).
A. N. Sen	... Elementary Mechanics.

The following list of apparatus is prescribed as indicating the approximate requirements of a recognised High School seeking to teach Elementary Mechanics for the Matriculation Examination:—

- Plumb-line and level.
- Simple level (including brass slotted weight).
- Roman step yard.
- Lecture apparatus for experiments on movements.
- George's New Atwood's Machine.
- Stop-watch

- 4 Single Brass Pulleys.
- 2 Single Brass Pulleys.
- 2 Triple Brass Pulleys.
- Weston Differential Pulley Blocks ($\frac{1}{4}$ ton)

- Inclined Plane.
- Parallelogram of Forces apparatus.
- Wall Crane.
- Becker's New Physical Balance.
- Set of Gramme Weights (200 grams to 1 mgrm.).
- 2 Composition-Ivory Balls.

Note.—The above list is not exhaustive, and much of it might be replaced by similar forms that could probably be made far more cheaply by any clever tinker under proper supervision. In most cases, however, it will probably be found advantageous to buy such a set as indicated in the list especially for demonstration purposes, and subsequently to develop simplified duplicates illustrating the same principles, which the boys should be given opportunity actually to experiment with on their own individual account or working in pairs.

No. 4590M.—The 24th August 1922.—In pursuance of section 19, sub-section (1), of the Calcutta Improvement Act, 1911 (Bengal Act V of 1911), it is hereby notified for general information that, in exercise of the power conferred by section 48 of that Act, the Government of Bengal (Ministry of Local Self-Government) are pleased to sanction the general improvement scheme known as scheme No. 1—Burrabazar, which has been submitted to them by the Trustees for the Improvement of Calcutta under section 47 of the said Act.

2. A description of the scheme is given as follows:

This is a general improvement scheme, which provides for the re-arrangement and re-construction of the streets and buildings within the area of the scheme. Thirty per cent. of the masonry buildings are reported to be unfit for human habitation and only 10 per cent. are in a really satisfactory sanitary condition. The roads are too narrow for health, and light and ventilation are generally defective.

The scheme also provides for the acquisition of all the lands within the area and the land will then be relaid out, so that all buildings, when re-erected, will abut on a street of adequate width. The proposed lay-out of building sites is shown in the plan, but this may be modified to suit the wishes of individual owners. Any owner of a new site who erects buildings on it of a sanitary character will be able to exempt his property from acquisition under section 73 of the Calcutta Improvement Act, and where any person is the owner of the greater portion of a new plot, the Board are willing to arrange that he should retain possession of the new plot on terms to be arranged. Land which comes into the possession of the Trust will be cleared and sold.

Monohardas Street and Moyrahatta Street will be widened to 45 feet.

Pagayaputty Street will be widened to 20 feet. Of the east and west roads, Cotton Street will be widened to 40 feet.

Burtolla Street and Meerbohorghat Street to 60 feet.

Chaitan Charan Sett Street extension to 40 feet and Banstolla Street to 40 feet.

The Engineering works which it is proposed to execute are indicated in the detailed estimate as below:—

No. 2275 P.H.—The 19th August 1922.—Under rule 7 of the Local Authorities Loans Rules, 1915, as subsequently amended, it is hereby notified for general information that the Government of Bengal (Ministry of Local Self-Government) intend to sanction the following application from the Commissioners of the Howrah Municipality for a loan of Rs. 36,334 from Government, bearing interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum and repayable in 40 equal half-yearly instalments of Rs. 1,701-6-9 each. ~~Unless good reasons are shown to the contrary within one month from the date of the publication of this notification, within the said municipality.~~

In addition to the details required on the reverse, clear information should be given below under the following heads -

- (a) If the ordinary surplus is insufficient to meet the charges of the proposed loan the particular steps which the borrowing body has taken or has agreed to take, in order to make good the deficiency.
- (1) The normal surplus shown in column 20, viz.,—Rs 27,350 is not a true index of our present financial position. Although the average ordinary expenditure is to a certain extent above the average income calculated on the figures in columns 17 to 19 and 13 to 15, respectively, still the Water rate Fund from which the repayment regarding the present loan is to be made, is in an affluent condition the average annual saving during the last five years from 1916-17 to 1920-21 being Rs 27,772.
- (b) The reserve of taxation or other possible means of increase in the revenues of the local body.
- (2) From the beginning of the last financial year, the latrine fee has been revised from which we expect an increase of about Rs 1,12,000 at the end of the year. The latrine fund was working at a deficit for the last several years and showed a debit balance of Rs 48,900 at the end of 1920-21. This deficit will be wiped off at the end of the present year. Hence from next year, our current expenditure would not be larger than the current income, and there will not be a debit.
- (c) A statement of all outstanding loans as well as the annual charges involved on them account.
- (3) Last two quinquennial revisions of assessment yielded, an increase of about 25 per cent on the valuations, about Rs 40,000 per year in the Municipal revenue and this progressive increase of revenue may be utilised in meeting the repayment charges. Out of the above increase, taken at 15 per cent at the lowest, Rs 9,000 will be consumed by the General Fund, leaving a surplus of Rs 31,000 for the Water rate Fund. The surplus in that fund will therefore be considerably augmented from the end of this year and will come up to about Rs 34,000. Hence there will be no difficulty in meeting the repayment charges of about Rs 26,988 for this and the other loan of Rs 2,50,000 already applied for.

(4) In 1926 a loan of Rs 15,00,000 will be wiped off and thus will set free a sum of Rs 86,900 out of which Rs 10,000 will be available for water works purposes. It is therefore clear that the repayment charges will not interfere with the current municipal expenditure, which will not have to be curtailed in any way whatsoever.

Rules for admission to the Government Weaving Institute, Serampore.

Object for which the Institute is established.

THE Weaving Institute has been established with the object of giving technical instruction in the best and latest methods of hand-weaving, of extending a knowledge of the mechanical improvements which make the modern hand-loom so vastly more effective an instrument than the primitive looms still widely used by native weavers in Bengal, and so of strengthening and reviving the weaving industry in this country.

With these objects in view two distinct grades of instruction are given, forming higher and lower classes, respectively—

- (1) to young men of fair education, who may be trained as teachers, managers and organisers of the weaving industry. These form the higher classes.
- (2) to actual hand-loom weavers. These form the lower or artisan classes.

The Institute is staffed and administered by the Bengal Government. It is managed by the Principal under the general control of the Director of Industries, Bengal.

RULES FOR THE HIGHER CLASSES.

1. The number of admissions to these classes in each year is limited to 75. Twenty-five per cent. of the seats will ordinarily be reserved for Muhammadan students, the claims of eligible candidates in excess of this number will be considered on their merits.

Fifteen scholarships of Rs. 15 each a month will be awarded to the students of the second-year class and 15 scholarships to the students of the third-year class on the results of the annual examination of the first and second-year classes, respectively, of the previous year. Bengal (Government) Appointment
Department, Notification No. 2261A.,
dated the 12th March 1920

(vi) The Bengal Embankment (Sunderbans) Act
IV of 1915.

C.

The examination in cases.

The record of a case such as ordinarily comes before a Canal officer exercising magisterial powers will be selected by the President of the Examination Committee. The record of the case should consist, as far as possible, of documents recorded in the Court vernacular of the place in which the candidate is employed. The case should not be of special difficulty, and, in selecting it, it should be remembered that officers will only exercise magisterial powers under Bengal Act, III of 1876 (Bengal Irrigation Act).

The record will be read out to candidates by an Indian official. Where possible, the case will be read to each candidate separately, or to small batches. The candidate must write his notes of evidence as the reading proceeds, as he would do were he actually trying the case. At the conclusion of the case the candidate, who may refer to his books, must write (European or Bengali, or Hindi or Urdu, Bengali or English, as they refer) a judgment on the question or questions at issue, with a statement of reasons. The Examination Committee will merely state their opinion on the merits of each candidate's judgment and not transmit this part of the proceedings.

Officers will be allowed to pass separately in either of the papers A or B in the case C. Passing marks in each subject will be 50 per cent.

4. The following table shows the particulars of marks assigned to each subject and the time allowed:—

SUBJECTS OF EXAMINATION.	Maximum marks.	Pass marks.	Time allowed.
Paper "A" ...	120	60	3 hours
Do. "B" ...	120	60	3 do.
Examination in cases ...	120	60	To be determined by the Local Examination Committee.

Examination in Vernaculars.

5. Subject to the proviso that no Indian member of the Indian Service of Engineers is liable to examination in a language which is his own vernacular, officers of the Roads and Buildings and Irrigation Branches of the Public Works Department are required to pass an examination in Bengali by the Lower Standard within two years of joining their appointments in India. They are also required to pass an examination in Hindi by the Higher Standard by the colloquial test within four years of joining their appointments in India. If they fail to do so their increments of pay will be withheld till they pass the examinations.

Officers may also, if they so wish, go up for the Higher Standard examination in Bengali within five years of joining their appointments in India.

On an officer passing the language examination the fact should be noted in the Classified List appropriate letters being placed against his name.

6. Officers of the Roads and Buildings and Irrigation Branches of the Public Works Department, who pass the Lower Standard examination in Bengali within the time prescribed, namely two years, are entitled to a reward of Rs. 80.

Those who pass the Higher Standard in Hindi by the colloquial test within four years are also entitled to a reward of Rs. 80.

Those who pass the Higher Standard in Bengali within five years are entitled to a reward of Rs. 120.

Indian officers are eligible for the same reward for passing in a compulsory examination in a vernacular language which is not allied to their mother-tongue.

7. Two grades of examination in Bengali are recognized, viz., (I) the Higher Standard and (II) the Lower Standard.

8. The examination specified in grade I above, and the Lower Standard examination specified in grade II above, will be held under the direction and control of the Central Examination Committee.

9. The following are the tests prescribed for the two grades of examination:—

Grade I.—The Higher Standard of Departmental Examination.

A.—Dictation. A passage from some official paper in Bengali will be read out to the candidates by a Bengali, and they will be required to write it down in Bengali characters with fair accuracy.

B.—A written translation from the vernacular into English.

The paper should contain passages from an unseen official document.

C.—A written translation from English into the vernacular—

A brief passage from an English judgment* or other official document of a somewhat difficult nature, selected by the Central Examination Committee, shall be translated into the vernacular by the examinee without assistance and in a generally correct manner.

* "The judgment or other official document" will, if possible, be selected from the files of the Public Works Department and likely to be of local interest.

D.—Vid-voce examination in the vernacular—

(i) The examinee shall be tested in conversation with several Indians of various classes in such a manner as to satisfy the Examination Committee of his power of making himself understood by them, and of explaining himself with clearness and sufficient propriety in the vernacular in an argument or topic of some difficulty.

(ii) The examinee will be called upon to read with fair fluency and explain in English to the Examiners three papers written by different persons in a plain running hand.

NOTE.—It is not necessary that each candidate should translate the same piece, just as it is not necessary that the vid-voce examination of each should involve the same conversation.

10. The maximum and the pass marks assigned to each branch of the examination and the time allowed for the papers are subjoined:—

SUBJECTS OF EXAMINATION.					Maximum marks.	Pass marks.	Time.
A.—Dictation	20	10	1 hour.
B.—Translation from Vernacular	20	10	2 hours.
C.—Ditto English	20	10	2 do.
D.—(i) Vid-voce Examination	20	10	15 minutes.
(ii) Ditto ditto	10	5

Grade II.—The Lower Standard of Departmental Examination.

11. For this examination the test shall be the same as the above, but the papers shall be less difficult. The proportion of marks to be obtained in order to pass, and the time allowed for the papers, shall be the same as for the Higher Standard above described. The principal object of this examination shall be to test the proficiency, for practical purposes, of the examinee in such language.

12. No Indian officer (these rules notwithstanding) shall be liable to examination in a language which is his own vernacular. The Superintending Engineer in submitting the lists of intending examinees to the Chief Engineer will consider each case, and, on satisfying himself, may exempt the candidate from examination in such language, reporting the reasons for doing so to the Chief Engineer.

13. Assistant Executive Engineers on first employment should be posted to such duties as will afford them the experience of work necessary to enable them to pass the examinations laid down in the preceding paragraphs. Cases may, however, occur in which, owing to the exigencies of the public service, illness, or want of time, or opportunity for convening a committee, an officer may not be able to pass the examinations in question within the prescribed period. In such cases an officer may, at the discretion of Government, be afforded a reasonable extension of time up to a limit of one year, and if he passes within this further period no penalty should be enforced and he may be granted by Government the reward admissible for passing the compulsory vernacular test within the prescribed period. In the event of an officer failing to pass the examinations within the extended period his increments should be withheld, and arrears of increments so withheld should not, on his passing the examinations, be granted to him except in special cases when his failure to pass has been due to circumstances beyond his own control. Failure to pass the examinations within the prescribed period will not, however, affect the amount of an officer's salary when he has subsequently passed the examinations and he will then be entitled to the rate of pay corresponding to the length of his service.

An officer of under 12 years' service who is transferred from another province where a different vernacular is current from the one prescribed for Bengal to this Presidency, may, at the discretion of Government, be required to pass the Lower Standard in Bengali within two years and the Higher Standard in Hindi by the colloquial test within four years of such transfer, and should he fail to do so he will be liable to the loss of further increments until he has passed.

MISCELLANEOUS

No 2928 His.—The 16th September 1922. In exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (1) of section 12 of the Bengal Amusements Tax Act, 1922 (Bengal Act V of 1922) the Governor in Council is pleased to make the following rules for securing the payment of the entertainments tax in respect of entertainments other than race meetings, namely:

RULES

1. Except as is provided by these rules no person shall mark or cause to be marked, in any manner, any stamp referred to in clause (a) of section 4 of the Bengal Amusements Tax Act, 1922.

2. No person shall purchase any such stamp except from a person duly appointed to sell and distribute stamps, or duly licensed to deal in stamps.

Provided that nothing in this rule shall apply to a person purchasing such a stamp affixed to a ticket for the purpose of being admitted to an entertainment.

3. The proprietor shall not issue, or have in his possession at the place of entertainment, or at any place where tickets for the entertainment are sold, any ticket being a ticket authorising or intended to be issued for the purpose of authorising any person to be admitted to an entertainment unless the price of admission and the statement required by this rule are legibly printed stamp or otherwise marked on the ticket.

For the purpose of this rule, price of admission means the price exclusive of the entertainments tax, and there shall be printed on every such ticket as aforesaid a statement that the price printed thereon in accordance with the requirements of this rule excludes the entertainments tax.

4. The proprietor shall not issue to any person a stamp referred to in clause (a) of section 4 of the said Act otherwise than securely affixed to a ticket issued for the purpose of authorising admission to the entertainment.

5. The proprietor shall not on any payment for admission to the entertainment being made, issue in respect of that payment any ticket authorising admission to the entertainment other than a ticket to which is affixed a stamp denoting the proper amount of entertainments tax chargeable in respect of that payment, provided that this rule shall not apply in any case where the proprietor of the entertainment has made arrangements for furnishing returns of the payments for admission and has given security to the satisfaction of the Local Government for the payment of the entertainments tax.

6. (1) Subject to the provisions of these rules the proprietor shall not deface, cut, tear or diminish any stamp affixed to a ticket and denoting the proper entertainments tax payable before the ticket to which it is affixed is issued, or admit any person to an entertainment with a ticket bearing a stamp which has been defaced, cut, torn or diminished.

(2) No person being a holder of a ticket to which a stamp is affixed issued for the purpose of authorising admission to an entertainment shall deface, cut, tear or diminish the stamp.

(3) The proprietor shall collect the tickets of all persons about to be admitted to the entertainment, and every person about to be admitted by means of a stamped ticket shall immediately before admission to the entertainment deliver the ticket with the stamp attached to the person who is collecting the tickets.

(4) When a ticket is so collected, the proprietor shall forthwith deface the stamp on the ticket by tearing the ticket into two portions across the stamp and shall return one portion of the ticket to the person to be admitted to the entertainment, and shall retain and keep until midday following the conclusion of the entertainment the other portion thereof, and shall then destroy it.

7. (1) Where the proprietor issues any ticket purporting or intended to authorise the admission to the entertainment of more than one person, he shall cause the ticket to be clearly marked with the number of persons so authorised to be admitted and the total price charged for the ticket, and he shall not admit to the entertainment by virtue of that ticket a greater number of persons than that marked on the ticket.

(2) For the purpose of calculating the entertainments tax chargeable in such a case there shall be deemed to be as many payments for admission as there are persons authorised to be admitted under the ticket, and each of these payments shall be deemed to be equal in amount to the total price charged for the ticket divided by the total number of the persons so authorised.

8. (1) Where the duty is calculated on a lump sum paid for a season ticket, or for a ticket authorising admission to any entertainment during a certain period of time, the proprietor shall before issuing the ticket mark it with the name of the person to whom it is to be issued.

(2) Unless the proprietor of the entertainment has made arrangements approved by the Local Government for furnishing returns of payments for admission and has given security to their satisfaction for the payment of the entertainments tax he shall, before issuing any such season ticket as aforesaid, affix thereon a stamp denoting the proper amount of entertainments tax chargeable thereon and shall deface the stamp by writing in ink on the face thereof the date of issue of the ticket, and any such stamp shall not be required to be defaced at the time of admission to the entertainment in the manner prescribed in sub-rule (f) of rule 6.

9. The proprietor shall not admit any person to the entertainment without any payment unless that person is the holder of a ticket or document entitling him to be admitted without payment and clearly marked "complimentary" or "free" or a badge recognised by the proprietor as entitling the holder thereof to be admitted. No person shall enter or otherwise obtain admission to an entertainment without payment unless he is the holder of such a ticket, document or badge as aforesaid.

10. Any reference in these rules to admission to a place of entertainment or to a person admitted to a place of entertainment shall be deemed to include a reference to the admission to another part of the place of entertainment for admission to which part a payment involving payment of entertainments tax or more entertainments tax is required of a person who has been admitted to one part of that place of entertainment and to such a person admitted to such another part of the place of entertainment, and these rules shall have effect accordingly.

11. The Local Government may for the protection of the revenue require a proprietor to keep registers of payment for admission and records of stamps denoting the entertainments tax purchased and used in such form as they may prescribe, and to issue tickets in such form and manner as they may prescribe and it shall be the duty of the proprietor to comply with such requirements.

12. (1) The proprietor shall at all reasonable times on demand by any officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf produce to that officer all books and records kept by the proprietor in connection with any entertainment and all tickets and all portions of any tickets and all stamps for the time being in his possession and shall allow the officer to inspect and take an account of the same or to remove the same for the purpose of examination or inquiry.

(2) A person who has been admitted to an entertainment in respect of which the proprietor has not made arrangements approved by the Local Government for furnishing returns of payments for admission, and giving security to their satisfaction for the payment of the entertainments tax, shall upon the demand made during the course of, or immediately before, or after the entertainment, produce to any officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf the ticket, badge, card of admission, voucher or document by means of which he was admitted or a portion of the ticket by means of which he was admitted, bearing a stamp defaced in accordance with sub-rule (f) of rule 6.

CHAPTER VI (CHAMBER BUSINESS).

1. One Judge will sit in Chambers every week day unless notice to the contrary be previously given, and all applications in Chambers shall ordinarily be made to that Judge only. Where a suit appears in the Warning List of any particular Court applications in Chambers in such suit shall be made to the Judge presiding over such Court.

CHAPTER X

6. There shall also be kept in the Registrar's office three lists of defended suits ripe for hearing, to be called

Prospective List A for commercial causes

Ditto B for liquidated claims

Ditto C for other suits.

14. Any suit in any of the Prospective Lists may be marked as a short cause, and set down at the top of the Peremptory List of defended suits of such Court as the Judge or Judges sitting on the Original Side shall by general or special order direct subject to any part-heard or specially fixed case, where the parties agree and counsel on each side certify that the trial will not, in their judgment occupy more than an hour, or where a Judge so directs.

15. Where any suit, standing in the General Cause List or in any of the Prospective Lists, is settled, and the parties require only an order for taxation of the costs, it may, on requisition to the Registrar, be set down in the Peremptory List of undefended suits with a note against it "Settled".

16. Where it is desired to postpone a suit which is about to be set down in the Peremptory List of defended suits for hearing, application for postponement of the hearing may be made to the Registrar on requisition in writing signed by all the parties who have appeared. Such requisition shall be submitted to the Judge in whose Warning List the suit has appeared or to the Senior Judge sitting on the Original Side if the suit does not so appear and such order shall be made thereon as to the Judge may seem fit.

20. For each Court sitting in the exercise of Original Civil Jurisdiction a Peremptory List of defended suits shall be prepared for every working day; and shall be supplied with the necessary number of defended suits from the Prospective Lists.

24. Besides the Peremptory List of defended suits, three other Peremptory Lists, namely, "the Peremptory List of Undefended Suits", "the Peremptory List of Motions" and the "Special Peremptory List" shall be prepared as from time to time directed for the Court or Courts taking motions.

CHAPTER X.

XXXVII of the Code has or have failed to obtain leave to defend or a direction under Chapter XII, rule 6, has been given, or where an order has been made for the transfer of the suit to the undefended list, the suit shall, unless otherwise ordered, be set down in the Peremptory List of undefended suits in case (a) on the first motion day after the expiry of the time for entering appearance, and in case (b) on the first motion day, as the case may be, after the date of the direction or the filing of the order and the expiry of the time or the non-compliance with the terms of the order.

Rule 36.—Suits and proceedings, which have not appeared in the Prospective List within six months from the date of institution, may be placed before a Judge in Chambers, on notice to the parties or their attorneys, to be dismissed for default unless good cause is shown to the contrary, or be otherwise dealt with as the Judge may think proper.

CHAPTER XX.

Rule 1.—One or more days in the week shall, from time to time, be fixed for the hearing of motions by the Court or Courts taking motions. Motions shall ordinarily be made to such Court or Courts on the days so fixed.

RESOLUTION.

Simla, the 15th September 1922.

No. F.-111-Jails.—In consequence of the recommendation of the Indian Jails Committee the Government of India, after consultation with local Governments, are pleased to announce their decision that the definition of the term "habitual criminal," contained in paragraph 5 of the Home Department Resolution No. ²⁷/₁₈₀₄₋₇₄, dated the 14th December 1886, shall be superseded and the following rules defining and prescribing the treatment of the "habitual criminal" shall now be enforced :—

I.—The following persons shall be liable to be classified as "habitual criminals", namely :—

- (i) any person convicted of an offence punishable under Chapters XII, XVII and XVIII of the Indian Penal Code, whose previous conviction or convictions, taken in conjunction with the facts of the present case, show that he is by habit a robber, housebreaker, dacoit, thief, or receiver of stolen property, or that he habitually commits extortion, cheating, counterfeiting coin, currency notes or stamps, or forgery ;
- (ii) any person convicted of an offence punishable under Chapter XVI of the Indian Penal Code, whose previous conviction or convictions, taken in conjunction with the facts of the present case, show that he habitually commits offences against the person ;
- (iii) any person committed to or detained in prison under section 123 (read with section 109 or section 110) of the Code of Criminal Procedure ;
- (iv) any person convicted of any of the offences specified in (i) above when it appears from the facts of the case, even although no previous conviction has been proved, that he is by habit a member of a gang of dacoits, or of thieves, or a dealer in slaves or in stolen property ;
- (v) any member of a criminal tribe, subject to the discretion of the local Government concerned ;
- (vi) any person convicted of an offence and sentenced to imprisonment under the corresponding sections of the Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure as applied by order under the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, or by the authority of any Prince or State in India ;
- (vii) any person convicted by a court or tribunal acting outside India under the general or special authority of His Majesty of an offence which would have rendered him liable to be classified as a habitual criminal if he had been convicted in a court established in British India.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this definition the word "conviction" shall include an order made under section 118, read with section 110, of the Criminal Procedure Code.

II.—The classification of a convicted person as a habitual criminal should ordinarily be made by the convicting court, but if the convicting court omits to do so, such classification may be made by the District Magistrate, or, in the absence of an order by the convicting court or District Magistrate, and pending the result of a reference to the District Magistrate, by the officer in charge of the jail where such convicted person is confined :

Provided that any person classed as a habitual criminal may apply for a revision of the order.

III.—The convicting court or the District Magistrate may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, direct that any convicted person or any person committed to or detained in prison under section 123, read with section 109 or section 110 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, shall not be classed as a habitual criminal and may revise such direction.

IV.—Convicting courts or District Magistrates as the case may be, may revise their own classifications, and the District Magistrate may alter any classification of a prisoner made by a convicting court or any other authority, provided that the alteration is made on the basis of facts which were not before such court or authority.

NOTE—The expression "District Magistrate" wherever it occurs in paragraphs II, III and IV above means the District Magistrate of the district in which the criminal was convicted, committed or detained. The expression includes a Presidency Magistrate.

V.—Every habitual criminal shall as far as possible be confined in a special jail in which no prisoner other than habitual criminals shall be kept :

Provided that the Inspector-General of Prisons may transfer to this special jail any prisoner, not being a habitual criminal, whom, for reasons to be recorded in writing, he believes to be of so vicious or depraved a character and to exercise, or to be likely to exercise, so evil an influence on his fellow prisoners that he ought not to be confined with other non-habitual prisoners, but a prisoner so transferred shall not otherwise be subject to the special rules affecting habitual criminals.

C. ORDER.—Ordered that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India and that a copy be forwarded to local Governments and Administrations for information and guidance.

Secretary to the Government of India.

ESTABLISHMENTS.

Simla, the 23rd September 1922.

No. F.-67-111-Esta.—The following announcement by the Secretary of State, dated the 23rd September 1922, is published for general information:—

The Royal Commission on the Public Services in India, who considered inter alia the pensionary conditions of the various civil services of the Government of India, recommended that the 4 per cent. deductions made from the pay and certain other emoluments of members of the Indian Civil Service as a contribution towards their annuity of £1,000 a year on retirement, should be funded for the benefit of the individual officers, subject to the proviso that the concession should not operate retrospectively in respect of deductions already made. This recommendation was approved by the Secretary of State in Council, with effect from the 1st April 1919. The deductions made from that date have accordingly been set aside in a Provident Fund, the accumulations in which, with compound interest, will be handed over to the officer on retirement, or to his legal representatives if he should die before retirement. No alteration has been made in the annuity itself, and an officer entering the service on or after the date mentioned will receive his annuity entirely at the expense of the State.

2. Since the decision was announced various memorials have been received by the Government of India and the Secretary of State praying for some extension of this 'funding concession' so as,—

- (1) to allow of somewhat larger benefits than are admissible under it to officers who entered the service before 1st April 1919 and who will therefore have contributed in varying degrees to their annuities, and
- (2) to secure some benefit to officers who had actually retired before that date. It was pointed out that whereas under the recommendations of the Public Services Commission members of other civil services in India who retired after the 23rd July 1913 were permitted as from 1st April 1919 to draw the full enhanced pensions sanctioned for those services, members of the Indian Civil Service received less favourable treatment in two respects :—
 Firstly, those who retired between 1913 and 1919 received no benefit ;
 Secondly, those who retired in years immediately following 1919 would receive only the small sums resulting from their pay as from April of that year while the full benefit of the change would accrue only to those who entered the service after that date.

The Secretary of State in Council has now been pleased to sanction refunds to the following extent of the individual contributions towards annuity made by members of the service before the 1st April 1919 when the funding concession came into effect, viz.:—

- A. Officers who retired at any date from 24th July 1913 to 31st March 1919 inclusive, to receive a grant of £500, officers who retired in 1919-20 to receive a refund of £480, and so on, the amount being reduced by £20 with each year until 1943-44, in which year officers retiring would receive nothing.
- B. In the case of invalid and proportionate pensioners, the refunds specified in A will be proportionately reduced.
- C. The cases of officers who have already retired or who may hereafter be retired on reduced annuities will be individually considered on their merits.
- D. In the case of officers who have retired and died since 23rd July 1913 payment of the sums which would have been admissible to the officers if now living will be made to the legal representatives.
- E. In the event of an officer who was in the service on the 24th July 1913, or who entered it between that date and 31st March 1919, inclusive, having died or dying before retirement, payment will be made to his legal representatives of any refund which would have been admissible to him under the terms of this announcement if he had been invalided at the date when his death occurred.
- F. The amount payable under this decision to officers already retired or to their legal representatives will be issued by the High Commissioner for India, or the Government of India, as the case may be, according as the annuities have been drawn in England or in India, respectively.
- G. To officers already retired the refund will be payable as soon as arrangements can be made. To those still in the service payment will be made on retirement. No application need be made by the officer. In both classes of cases no interest whatever will be payable.
- H. Where an officer wishes to draw the refund in rupees the sterling amount payable will be convertible into rupees at the rate of exchange current at time of payment.

H. TONKINSON,

Joint Secretary to the Government of India.

PART IA.

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India.

The following resolution, issued by the Government of India in the Finance Department, published in the Gazette of India, dated the 7th October 1922, is republished for general information.

A. CASSELLS,
Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

RESOLUTION.

SALARIES ESTABLISHMENTS, ETC. RULES AND GENERAL MATTERS.

Simla, the 29th September 1922.

No. 1448-E.A.—His Majesty's Secretary of State for India in Council has been pleased to make the rules appended to this Resolution, defining the classes of expenditure from central revenues upon subjects* other than provincial subjects which the Governor-General in Council may not sanction without the previous consent of the Secretary of State in Council. These rules supersede all previous rules of a similar nature and, subject to their observance, orders regarding specific cases of expenditure passed by the Secretary of State in Council under regulations previously in force will no longer be binding.

2. If the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council is required by these rules to any expenditure, such sanction should ordinarily be obtained before the Legislative Assembly is asked to vote supply to meet the expenditure. The Governor-General in Council may depart from this rule in cases of extreme urgency, where the time available is so short that sanction cannot be obtained by telegraph; but in such a case a statement showing all schemes for which supply has been asked before sanction has been obtained must be submitted to the Secretary of State as soon as possible after the presentation of the demands to the Assembly.

3. The Governor-General in Council may sanction an excess over an estimate which has, prior to the introduction of these rules, received the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council if the total cost of the estimate, as increased by the excess, is within the powers of sanction conferred upon the Governor-General in Council by these rules; and may sanction the extension of a temporary post which has received similar sanction if he would, under these rules, be competent to sanction the creation of such a post for the full term as extended.

* Note—Since the enactment of the Government of India Act, 1919, and of the Devolution Rules it is not permissible to incur expenditure from central revenues on provincial subjects or to make assignments from central to provincial revenues for expenditure on a provincial subject except in so far as such expenditure may be necessary in connection with matters covered by item 46 in Part II of Schedule I to the Government of India Act, 1919, or for services rendered by the Local Government.

4. RESOLUTION.

SALARIES, ESTABLISHMENTS, ETC. RULES AND GENERAL MATTERS.

Simla, the 28th September 1922.

No. 1449-E.A.—His Majesty's Secretary of State for India in Council has been pleased to make the rules appended to this Resolution, defining the classes of expenditure on reserved provincial subjects which a Governor in Council may not sanction without the previous consent of the Secretary of State in Council. These rules supersede all previous rules of a similar nature and, subject to their observance, orders regarding specific cases of expenditure passed by the Secretary of State in Council or the Governor-General in Council under regulations previously in force will no longer be binding.

2. If the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council is required by these rules to any expenditure, such sanction should ordinarily be obtained before the Legislative Council is asked to vote supply to meet the expenditure. The Governor in Council may depart from this rule in cases of extreme urgency, where the time available is so short that sanction cannot be obtained by telegraph; but in such a case a statement showing all schemes for which supply has been asked before sanction has been obtained must be submitted to the Secretary of State in Council as soon as possible after the presentation of the demands to the Council.

3. The Governor in Council may sanction any excess over an estimate which has, prior to the introduction of these rules, received the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council or the Governor-General in Council if the total cost of the estimate, as increased by the excess, is within the powers of sanction conferred upon the Governor in Council by these rules; and may sanction the extension of a temporary post which has received similar sanction if he would, under these rules, be competent to sanction the creation of such a post for the full term as extended.

4. Subject to the observance of these rules and to the provisions of section 72-D of the Government of India Act, the Governor in Council has full power to sanction expenditure upon reserved provincial subjects and, with the previous consent of his Finance Department, to delegate such power upon such conditions as he may think fit to any officer subordinate to him. Any sanction given under this rule will remain valid for the specified period for which it is given, subject in the case of voted expenditure, to the voting of supply in each year.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

Rules relating to expenditure by a Governor in Council on reserved provincial subjects.

1. The previous sanction of the Secretary of State in Council is necessary :—
 - (1) To the creation of any new or the abolition of any existing permanent post, or to the increase or reduction of the pay drawn by the incumbent of any permanent post, if the post in either case is one which would ordinarily be held by a member of an all-India service, or to the increase or reduction of the cadre of an all-India service.
 - (2) To the creation of a permanent post on a maximum rate of pay exceeding Rs. 1,200 a month, or the increase of the maximum pay of a sanctioned permanent post to an amount exceeding Rs. 1,200 a month.
 - (3) To the creation of a temporary post on pay exceeding Rs. 4,000 a month, or the extension beyond a period of two years (or, in the case of a post for settlement operations, of five years) of a temporary post or deputation on pay exceeding Rs. 1,200 a month.
 - (4) To the grant to any Government servant or to the family or other dependants of any deceased Government servant of an allowance, pension or gratuity which is not admissible under rules made or for the time being in force under section 96-B of the Government of India Act, except in the following cases :—
 - (a) compassionate gratuities to the families of Government servants left in indigent circumstances, subject to such annual limits as the Secretary of State in Council may prescribe; and

- (b) pensions or gratuities to Government servants wounded or otherwise injured while employed in Government service or to the families of Government servants dying as the result of wounds or injuries sustained while employed in such service, granted in accordance with such rules as have been or may be laid down by the Secretary of State in Council in this behalf.
- (5) To any expenditure on the purchase of imported stores or stationery, otherwise than in accordance with such rules as may be made in this behalf by the Secretary of State in Council.
- (6) To capital expenditure upon irrigation and navigation works, including docks and harbours, and upon projects for drainage, embankment and water-storage and the utilization of waterpower, in any of the following cases, namely :—
- where the project concerned materially affects the interests of more than one local Government ;
 - where the original estimate exceeds 50 lakhs of rupees ;
 - where a revised estimate exceeds by 15 per cent. an original estimate sanctioned by the Secretary of State in Council, and
 - where a further revised estimate is proposed, after one revised estimate has already been sanctioned by the Secretary of State in Council.
- (7) To a revision of permanent establishment involving additional establishment charges exceeding Rs. 5 lakhs a year ; provided that, if a resolution has been passed by the Legislative Council recommending an increase of establishment charges for this purpose, the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council shall not be required unless the expenditure so recommended exceeds 15 lakhs a year.
- (8) To any increase of the contract, sumptuary or furniture grant of a Governor.

- (10) To any expenditure upon railway carriages or water-borne vessels specially reserved for the use of high officials, otherwise than in connection with the maintenance of such carriages or vessels already set apart with the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council for the exclusive use of a Governor.

2. (1) Every application for the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council required by rule 1 shall be addressed to the Governor-General in Council, who shall, save as hereinafter provided, forward the same with his recommendations, and with such further explanations of the proposal as he may have seen fit to require from the local Government, to the Secretary of State in Council.

(2) If the application relates—

- to the grant in an individual case of any increase in pay, or
- to the creation or extension of a temporary post, the Governor-General in Council may, at his discretion, on behalf of the Secretary of State in Council, sanction the proposal, or may, and, if he dissents from the proposal, shall, forward the application with his recommendations, and with such further explanations of the proposal as he may have seen fit to require from the local Government, for the orders of the Secretary of State in Council.

RESOLUTION

PORTS AND LIGHTING

Sunder the 19th October 1922

No. 5479. The Bengal Chamber of Commerce has suggested to the Government of India that pilotage in the Hooghly might now be entrusted to a body of men more highly qualified, and consequently less costly than the present Bengal Pilot Service, and that the administration of the Hooghly be handed over to the Port Commissioners Calcutta. In view of the highly technical nature of the question the Government of India have in consultation with the Government of Bengal decided to appoint a Committee representative of official and non-official interests to investigate the whole question of re-organisation of the Bengal Pilot Service. The Committee will consist of the following gentlemen

Chairman

E. C. French, Esquire, C.S.I., C.E.S., Member, Board of Revenue, Bengal

Members

The Chairman, Calcutta Port Commissioners

Captain A. F. Hatfield, R.N., Port Officer, Calcutta

S. J. K. Chas. Esquire, Bengal Pilot Representative of the Bengal Pilot Service

J. H. Lyle, Esquire, Representative of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce

A. McD. Eddie, Esquire, Representative of the Calcutta Chamber of Commerce

Babu Jahu Nuth Roy, Representative of the Bengal Native Chamber of Commerce

H. Barton, Esquire, M.C., Representative of the Anglo-Indian and Demised European Association

R. Upendrakishore Ray Choudhury, B.L., M.C.

Secretary

G. H. W. Davies, Esquire, C.E.S., Deputy Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Marine Department

The Committee will sit at Calcutta as soon as possible and submit its report through the Government of Bengal. The terms of reference to the Committee are

- Whether the Bengal Pilot Service should be reorganised and placed under the control of the Port Commissioners Calcutta and if so, what scheme of reorganisation should be adopted and how it should be carried out
- If reorganisation be advised what measures should be adopted to protect the existing members of the Bengal Pilot Service who are serving under covenant with His Majesty's Secretary of State for India
- Whether any modifications are required in the existing rules for recruitment to the Bengal Pilot Service including the rules relating to the qualifications of candidates with special reference to the recruitment of Anglo-Indians and Indians
- The training to be given to the probationary members of the Service to qualify them for taking charge of ships in the Hooghly
- Whether any practical measures can be suggested for enabling Anglo-Indians and Indians to acquire the preliminary qualifications necessary for admission to the Bengal Pilot Service ORDER. Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Government of Bengal, to the Finance Department, to the Auditor, Government of India Sanctions, and to the Chairman and Members of the Committee.

RESOLUTION.

PAY, ALLOWANCES AND FINANCE OFFICERS.

Sinla, the 23rd August 1922.

SUBJECT:—Indian Audit and Accounts Service Examination Rules.

No. 1725-F.E. - In supersession of the Resolution in this Department, No. 1251-F.E., dated the 31st September 1914, as subsequently amended, the following revised rules, which will come into force from the 1st January 1923, are prescribed for the examination of candidates in India for admission to the Indian Audit and Accounts Service.

I. A register of candidates will be kept from which not less than three candidates for each vacancy will be nominated by the Government of India from time to time as vacancies are expected. Only candidates so nominated will be entitled to compete.

II. Applications for entry in the register must be forwarded through the local Government of the province in which the candidate resides. A candidate desirous of having his name entered should pay a fee of Rs. 5 into a Government Treasury and enclose the treasury receipt with his application. Names will ordinarily be entered in the register only on the recommendation of a local Government; and the fee paid by a candidate will not be refunded in any case even if the local Government do not recommend him or the Government of India decide not to enter his name in the register.

III. On or before the 1st of May in each year local Governments will send to the Government of India the names of any persons whom they desire to recommend for entry in the register. The list should be accompanied by a statement containing in respect of each such person—

- (1) the application which should be in the candidate's own handwriting.
- (2) A duly verified statement of age.
- (3) Copies of certificates of character and education.
- (4) A statement, duly supported, showing the mathematical reading which the candidate has done, and the examinations involving mathematics which he has passed.
- (5) Information regarding any services that may have been rendered to the State by his parents or family.
- (6) A statement of the two optional subjects in which he will, if nominated, offer himself for examination.

A candidate will not be allowed to change the optional subjects in which he wishes to appear in the examination for any year, after the date and conditions of the examination have been published in the Gazette of India as laid down in Rule XII below.

Before being recommended by a local Government, each applicant must give satisfactory proof that he is a native of India, within the meaning of the Statute 33 Vict., Cap. 3, section 6*.

* The words "Native of India" shall include any person born, or domiciled within the dominions of His Majesty in India, or person habitually resident in India and not established there for temporary purposes only.

Note. Subjects of Indian States are eligible for registration under rule II.

IV. The names of persons not possessed of high educational qualifications will not be registered. Clear and distinct handwriting, a business familiarity with the English language, a good knowledge of arithmetic and an elementary knowledge of algebra are indispensable.

V. The Government of India reserve an absolute discretion, not only in regard to the selection of persons to be entered on the register of candidates, but also as to the nomination of candidates to compete at the examination. It must be clearly understood that registration of a candidate's name does not, in any way, imply that he will be nominated for admission to the examination.

VI. The name of a registered candidate will be struck off the register when he has failed in two examinations. It will also be liable to be struck off if he has been twice nominated and has failed to appear at the examination on one or both occasions.

VII. A candidate nominated for admission to one examination will not be admitted to a later examination unless again nominated.

VIII. The age of a candidate, on the first day of August of the year in which the examination is held, must not be less than twenty-two or more than twenty-five years. A candidate, who has been continuously in Government employ since before the age of 25, may, however, at the discretion of the Government of India, be allowed to compete at the examination up to the age of 25, provided that he is satisfactorily recommended by the Head of his Department.

IX. A nominated candidate will be required to pay a fee of Rs. 50 for each nomination. Before a prescribed date prior to the examination, he should forward to the Government of India in the Finance Department the following:—

- (a) A treasury receipt for the amount of the fee paid into a Government treasury.
- (b) A medical certificate in the annexed form by a Commissioned Medical Officer or by a Medical Officer in charge of a Civil Station. A candidate who obtains a second nomination must produce a fresh Medical Certificate.

Certificate

I do hereby certify that I have examined A. B. a candidate for employment in the Indian Audit and Accounts Service and that I cannot discover that he has any disease, constitutional, affectional or bodily infirmity, unfitting him, or likely to unfit him, for the public service in any part of India.

- (c) A certificate of age from the officer in charge of the District in which his family resides or, if it resides in a Presidency town or an Indian State from the Presidency Magistrate or the Political Agent, as the case may be. To obtain this certificate the date and place of the candidate's birth must be proved before the district officer, Presidency Magistrate or Political Agent, as the case may be, by documentary evidence, supplemented, where this is not conclusive proof, by statements of relatives and others on oath or solemn affirmation.

X. Nominated candidates will be examined in the subjects described in the schedule attached to this Resolution. No candidate will be admitted to the Service who fails to show a competent knowledge of the compulsory subjects, and the Government reserve the right of declining to make any appointment when no candidate reaches a high standard of proficiency.

XI. The examination will be mainly by written questions and answers. The questions will be prepared, and the examination conducted in such manner as the Governor General in Council from time to time directs.

XII. Some time before an examination is to be held its date and place and the conditions of examination, will be notified in the Gazette of India and the number of vacancies which the Government expect to fill on the results of the examination will, at the same time be stated.

XIII. Subject to the above conditions, candidates will be appointed to the posts thrown open to competition according to their order of merit at the examination.

EXAMINATIONS FOR THE INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE.

REGULATIONS.

* * The following Regulations, made by the Secretary of State for India in Council, are liable to alteration from year to year.

1. An examination for admission to the Indian Civil Service, open to all qualified persons, will be held in London in July and August of each year for such number of appointments to that Service as the Secretary of State may on each occasion determine. The date of the Examination will be announced beforehand by the Civil Service Commissioners.

2. Save as hereinafter provided a candidate must be a British subject. If the candidate (being a British subject) or his father or his mother was not born within His Majesty's Dominions and allegiance then at the time of his birth his father must have been a British subject or the subject of a state in India and such father must be or must have continued to be until his death a British subject or the subject of such state in India. Provided that a ruler or subject of any state in India in respect of whom the Governor-General in Council has made a declaration under section 96A of the Government of India Act, 1915, as amended by section 3 of the Government of India (Amendment) Act, 1916, may be considered eligible.

3. A candidate must have attained the age of twenty-one, and must not have attained the age of twenty-four on the first day of August of the year in which the Examination is held, or must be in a position to claim such a concession under the provisions of the Appendix to these Regulations as will render him eligible.*

4. A candidate who is a Native of India must obtain a certificate of age and qualification under Regulations 2 and 3 issued under Notification of the Government of India, No. 1114, dated 12th September 1918, and signed, should he be a resident in British India, by the Secretary to Government of the Province, or the Commissioner of the Division within which his family resides, or, should he reside in a Native State, by the highest Political Officer accredited to the State in which his family resides.

7. No person will be eligible for admission to the Indian Civil Service who has made before any Tribunal established under the Military Service Acts, 1916, an application for the issue to him of a certificate of exemption from the provisions of those Acts on the ground of a conscientious objection to the undertaking of combatant service.

8. No person who, in a previous year, accepted the offer of a nomination as a Selected Candidate for the Indian Civil Service and subsequently resigned his position as a Selected Candidate, will be admitted to the examination.

9. Should the evidence upon the above points be prima facie satisfactory to the Civil Service Commissioners, the candidate, on payment of the prescribed fee, will be admitted to the Examination. The Commissioners may, however, in their discretion, at any time prior to the grant of the Certificate of Qualification hereinafter referred to, institute such further inquiries as they may deem necessary; and if the result of such inquiries in the case of any candidate should be unsatisfactory to them in any of the above respects he will be ineligible for admission to the Indian Civil Service, and, if already selected, will be removed from the position of a Probationer.

SECTION C.—An Extra Numerum subject may be offered carrying 100 marks and chosen from the following :—

Physical Anthropology.
Social Anthropology.
An auxiliary language.

11. The auxiliary language in Section A or Section C' will be tested by means of translation from the language. The following languages may be offered ; French, German, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, Norwegian, Swedish, Danish, Russian, Latin, Ancient Greek ; provided that—

- (a) No Candidate offers any language twice in the examination.
- (b) No Candidate offers in Sections A and C' together two languages of the group Italian, Spanish, Portuguese or two of the group Norwegian, Swedish, Danish.
- (c) Only a Candidate who takes two modern languages in Section B may offer Latin or Ancient Greek as an auxiliary language.

Instead of an auxiliary language a candidate whose mother-tongue is an Indian language may offer as Subject 5 either Physical Anthropology or Social Anthropology provided he does not offer the subject elsewhere.

12. In subjects 50 to 67 the Civilization subject associated with a language can only be taken by candidates who offer the language itself for examination.

13. A Candidate desiring to offer any of the subjects 30 to 42 or subject 47 must produce evidence satisfactory to the Commissioners of laboratory training in an institution of university rank. For Astronomy (28), Geography (43), Physical Anthropology (44); and Agriculture (46), other equivalent training will be required. There will be no laboratory test as part of the examination.

14. From the marks assigned to Candidates in each subject such deduction will be made as the Civil Service Commissioners may deem necessary in order to secure that no credit be allowed for merely superficial knowledge.

15. Moreover, if a Candidate's handwriting is not easily legible a further deduction will, on that account, be made from the total marks otherwise accruing to him.*

16. A list of the competitors shall be made out in order of their proficiency as disclosed by the aggregate marks finally awarded to each competitor, and in that order so many competitors, up to the determined number of appointments, as are found by the Civil Service Commissioners to be qualified by examination, shall be designated to be Selected Candidates for the Indian Civil Service, provided that they appear to be duly qualified in other respects.

Should any Selected Candidate become disqualified, the Secretary of State for India will determine whether the vacancy thus created shall be filled or not. In the former case the Candidate next in order of merit, and in other respects duly qualified, shall be deemed to be a Selected Candidate.

17. Persons desirous to be admitted as Candidates must apply on Forms, which may be obtained from "The Secretary, Civil Service Commission, 6, Burlington Gardens, London, W. 1," at any time after the 1st December, in the year previous to that in which the Examination is to be held. No person will be admitted to the Examination from whom the Secretary to the Civil Service Commissioners has not received on or before the 1st June (or, if that date should fall on a Sunday or public holiday, then, on or before the first day thereafter on which their office is open), in the year in which the Examination is to be held, an application, in the handwriting of the Candidate, on the prescribed form.

APPENDIX.

1. Any person who has joined since the 4th August, 1914, the Army or Navy, or Royal Marines or the Royal Air Force, or has rendered since that date actual military service in the Special Reserve or Territorial Force, Royal Naval Reserve or Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve, may, if eligible in point of age under the Regulations as they now stand for admission to the open competitive examination held in 1922, but over age in 1923, deduct from his actual age at the time of the open competitive examination held in 1923 :—

- (a) The actual period of such service, if it has not exceeded three months.
- (b) One year, if the actual period of service has exceeded three months. No candidate will be allowed to deduct more than one year from his actual age.

2. The same concession may also be granted to those who have been employed during the same period in connection with the armed forces of the Crown at home or abroad giving their whole time and under obligation to serve for the duration of the war or until their discharge, or for any period not terminable at their own option, provided that their employment be not on ordinary commercial terms, such as that of Assistant Paymasters, Clerks, Artisans and the like.

* It is notified for general information that the number of marks deducted for bad handwriting may be considerable.

3. The grant of the concession described in paragraph (2) will be at the discretion of the Civil Service Commissioners, whose decision in each case will be final. Candidates who contemplate applying for an age deduction under (2) will do well to apply to the Civil Service Commission for a ruling on their case.

4. Candidates to be eligible for the concessions in (1) or (2) must furnish an official certificate of the period and satisfactory character of their service and if any doubt arise whether the service of any candidate is of the kind contemplated, the Secretary of State for India in Council reserves to the Civil Service Commissioners the right to decide the case upon its merits.

Copies of this paper may be obtained on application to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal

(14) If any candidate is prevented by sickness or any other adequate cause from attending the Final Examination, the Commissioners may, with the concurrence of the Secretary of State for India in Council, allow him to appear at the Final Examination to be held in the following year, or at a special examination. A selected candidate absent for such adequate cause from the Intermediate Examination may, under similar conditions, be allowed to appear at the Intermediate Examination a year later or at a special examination, or may be excused the Intermediate Examination and allowed to appear for the Final Examination in regular course.

The Civil Service Commissioners are authorized by the Secretary of State for India in Council to make the following announcements:—

(i) Selected candidates will be allotted to the various provinces upon a consideration of all the circumstances, including their own wishes; but the requirements of the Public Service will rank before every other consideration.

(ii) Except in the case of persons continuing to receive Scholarship allowances of equal or greater amounts from the Government of India an allowance of £300 a year or in the case of Selected Candidates possessing an Indian domicile, an allowance of £350 a year will be given to any candidate who passes his probation at one of the Universities or other Institutions that have been approved for the purpose by the Secretary of State for India in Council.

In the case of Selected Candidates on probation for one year the allowance will be payable in four equal instalments on the following dates respectively: December 24th after his selection, March 25th, June 25th and after signature of Covenant on appointment to the Service.

In the case of Selected Candidates on probation for two years the allowance will be payable in eight equal instalments, the first on the December 24th after selection, the second to the seventh on the six following quarter days and the eighth after signature of Covenant on appointment to the Service.

The payment of the various instalments of the allowance except the final instalment and, in the case of the two-year probationers, the instalment payable at the end of the first year of probation will be conditional on the receipt by the Secretary of State through the Civil Service Commissioners of a certificate that the candidate has fulfilled up to the date the requirements of the authorities and shown satisfactory conduct at the approved institution.

The whole probation must ordinarily be passed at the same institution. Migration will not be permitted except for special reasons approved by the Secretary of State.

N.B.—The Secretary of State for India gives notice that the amount of the allowances will be reconsidered in 1923, with a view to a possible reduction with effect from the instalment payable in December, 1924.

(iii) A 1st class passage to India will be engaged for Selected Candidates with a view to their proceeding to India during the November following their Final Examination.

(iv) Each Candidate will be required before receiving the first instalment of his allowance to execute an agreement binding himself and one surety jointly and severally to refund all monies he may have received from the Secretary of State for India in the event of:—

(1) his failure to pass the Final Examination within the time prescribed by the Regulations, and to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners of his fitness for admission to the Indian Civil Service, or

(2) his subsequent failure to execute the usual covenant, and to proceed to India, as and when he shall be directed by the Secretary of State for India.

(v) All candidates obtaining Certificates will be also required to enter into covenant by which, amongst other things, they will bind themselves to make such payments as under the rules and regulations for the time being in force they may be required to make, for the pensions of their families. The stamps payable on these covenants amount to £1.

(vi) The seniority in the I.C.S. will be determined by the results of the examinations taken and the reports on law cases submitted during the course of probation.

(vii) Candidates who fail to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners at the Final Examination held in any year will be definitely rejected, and will not be allowed to present themselves for re-examination, unless it shall appear to the Secretary of State in Council, after reference to the Civil Service Commissioners, that such failure is due to circumstances wholly exceptional and beyond the control of the candidate.

No. 2822 P.H.—The 14th November 1922.—The following draft of rules, which, in exercise of the power conferred by section 290 of the Bengal Municipal Act 1881 (Bengal Act III of 1881), the Government of Bengal (Ministry of Local Self-Government) propose to make and subject to which the Commissioners of the Krishnagar Municipality may allow communication-pipes to be laid down from the service pipe of the Commissioners for the purpose of leading water to premises for domestic purposes only, are published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

2. The draft rules will be taken into consideration on the 2nd January 1923, and any objection or suggestion which may be received by the undersigned through the District Magistrate before that date will be duly considered.

Draft rules

So long as the Commissioners deem it practicable and consistent with the maintenance of an efficient water supply, they may allow any owner or occupier of a holding paying a water rate imposed under the provisions of Part VII of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1881, on the annual value of such holding when such annual value is not less than Rs. 100, to lay down communication-pipes from the service pipes of the Commissioners for the purpose of leading water to such holding for domestic purposes only, subject to the following rules and conditions:

Provided that no connection shall be allowed to holdings other than masonry buildings without the sanction of the Commissioners at a meeting:—

1. The owner or occupier of any holding requiring water to be laid on to such holding for domestic purposes, or requiring any addition or alteration to an existing water-supply, must apply for the same on a printed form to be supplied, free of cost, at the municipal office.

2. A fee of Rs. 100 must be paid to the Commissioners by such owner or occupier for each connection to a municipal main supply pipe or a common communication-pipe laid in accordance with rule 3 before any work is commenced, such fee to be in addition to all other costs and charges imposed under these rules.

3. Except as provided below each holding must have a separate connection to the municipal main supply-pipe and extensions from the communication-pipe of one holding to another holding shall not be permitted.

Provided that with the consent of the Commissioners in meeting connections to two or more holdings may be permitted from a common communication pipe. Any such communication-pipe must be laid in a street or common passage, and a stop-cock and meter as provided for in rule 7 must be fixed on the connection to each holding:

Provided also that no holding shall have more than one separate connection, but if in any case the Commissioners are satisfied that an adequate supply to any holding cannot be given through a single connection, they may sanction a second connection thereto.

4. The owner or occupier of the holding in respect of which the connection is required, must pay the entire cost of the connection, including the supply and fixing of the fittings referred to in rule 7, and must also pay the cost of such alterations in, or repairs to, roads, drains, sewers, gas or water-mains or pipes, and the cost of such other works as may be necessitated by, or result from, the work of making such connection.

5. The owner or occupier of the holding to which a connection has been given must, at any time, on receipt of notice to do so from the Commissioners, pay the entire cost of any repairs or alterations to the connection or any part thereof that the Commissioners may consider necessary to put it into a satisfactory condition or which may be necessitated by any change in the municipal water-works or system of distribution or

By the defective condition of the connection or any part thereof or by any other cause whatever.

6. (1) The works required under rules 4 and 5 may, at the option of the Commissioners, either be carried out by the Commissioners themselves at the expense of the owner or occupier of the holding in respect of which the works are required, or may be carried out by a person or firm employed by such owner or occupier and approved by the Commissioners.

(2) No work shall be carried out under sub-rule (1), except under the supervision of a municipal officer.

7. A holding connection shall comprise the following parts or fittings:—

- (a) a brass or gun-metal ferrule inserted in the main supply-pipe;
- (b) a galvanized iron communication-pipe from the ferrule to the meter;
- (c) a stop-cock and its surface box;
- (d) a meter;
- (e) service-pipes from the stop-cock to the taps; and
- (f) taps.

8. (1) All the fittings referred to in rule 7 shall be exact duplicates of standard samples kept in the office of the Commissioners, and approved by them in meeting.

(2) All fittings shall be inspected and tested and stamped by an officer of the municipality before being fixed.

(3) If any owner or occupier shall desire to adopt any fitting of a pattern different from the standard patterns, he must present such fitting for the approval of the Chairman, and any fittings so presented may, if considered satisfactory by the Chairman, be stamped, and samples thereof may be purchased and placed among the standard fittings.

9. The holding connection, when fitted in position, must be capable of standing a pressure of 40 feet, and no water shall be supplied until it has stood such a test applied by the Commissioners.

10. The size of the ferrule and the diameter of the communication-pipe referred to in clauses (a) and (b) of rule 7, and the number of taps shall be fixed in accordance with the annual valuation of the holdings as follows:—

	Annual valuation of holding		Size of ferrule	Diameter of communication-pipe	Number of taps
	Rs.	Rs.	Inch.	Inch.
From	100 to	199	1	$\frac{1}{2}$	1

"	1,200 ..	1,499	$\frac{1}{2}$	$\frac{3}{4}$	6
"	1,500 ..	1,999	$\frac{1}{2}$	1	7
"	2,000 and above	special sanction of the Commissioners.

11. (1) On every communication-pipe a brass or gun-metal stop-cock having the same water-way as such pipe shall be placed as near as practicable to the point where that pipe enters the holding to be supplied.

(2) The stop-cock shall be built in a brick chamber provided with a cast-iron surface cover-box so designed that it can be locked and the key of this box shall remain under the control of the Chairman.

(3) The stop-cock shall be capable of adjustment so that the supply to the holding may be regulated thereby.

12. (1) The meter shall be placed as near to the stop-cock as possible and in a position where it can be conveniently examined.

(2) The meter must be fixed in a brick chamber covered over with a cast-iron surface box of approved pattern.

13. Neither the stop-cock nor the meter must be placed in any private premises.

14. The Commissioners shall depute an authorized person to read every meter not less than once a quarter, and shall give notice to the occupier at least twenty-four hours before the reading is recorded.

15. (1) Every owner or occupier of any holding, in respect of which a connection has been made, under these rules, shall be entitled to a supply of—

(a) Two thousand two hundred and fifty gallons of water per quarter per rupee of water tax paid during the quarter,

(b) a further proportionate number of gallons per quarter for every additional fraction of a rupee.

and for his quarterly water-rate is returned at each holding.

(2) For all water in excess of the amount allowed under sub-rule (1) such owner or occupier shall be charged quarterly as follows :—

	Per 1,000 gallons.
	Rs. A. P.
(a) For any excess quantity of water not exceeding one-half of the amount of the allowance prescribed in sub-rule (1)	0 8 0
(b) For any excess quantity of water exceeding one-half of the amount of the allowance prescribed in sub-rule (1), but not exceeding that amount	0 10 0
(c) For any excess quantity of water exceeding the amount of the allowance prescribed in sub-rule (1), but not exceeding twice that amount	0 14 0
(d) For any excess quantity of water exceeding twice the amount of the allowance prescribed in sub-rule (1)	1 4 0

16. The Commissioners may cut off the connection between any water-works of the municipality and any holding to which water is supplied from such works, or may turn off such supply, in any of the following cases, namely :—

- (a) if the holding is unoccupied ;
- (b) if the occupier refuses to admit any officer duly empowered in that behalf into the holding for the purpose of making any examination or inspection authorized under this Act, or under any by-law or rule framed under this Act, or prevents such officer from making such examination or inspection ;
- (c) if the owner or occupier of the holding touches or interferes with his meter in any way except with the permission of the Chairman, or wilfully injures or damages it ;
- (d) if the owner or occupier of the holding wilfully or negligently permits waste of water in such volume as will, in the opinion of the Chairman, endanger the water-supply in the neighbourhood ;
- (e) if the owner or occupier of the holding shall refuse or neglect to pay any of the fees or charges imposed in accordance with these rules for a space of fourteen days after he has been served with a notice of demand for the same ;
- (f) if the owner or occupier of the holding constructs or fixes any cisterns, tanks, reservoirs, taps, pipes or any other works in connection with the water-supply not authorized by these rules ;
- (g) if the pipes, taps, ball-cocks, cisterns, or any other parts of the connection are, in the opinion of the Commissioners at a meeting, in a leaking condition or a state of disrepair ;

Provided that such disconnection or turning off of water-supply shall not relieve any person from any liabilities which he may have incurred under these rules.

In the circumstances contemplated in clause (d) an officer authorized by the Commissioners in this behalf by a general order shall have the power to turn off the supply for a period not exceeding eight hours on his previously recording his reason in writing.

17. Every tap shall be of the same size as the pipe to which it is attached and shall be of brass and of the pattern known as "Screw-down". Every tap shall be at least 3 feet above the surface of the ground beneath.

18. No cistern, tank or reservoir of any description which is intended to be supplied with water from the municipal water-works shall be permitted to any holding except with the sanction of the Commissioners in meeting, and such sanction shall distinctly specify the dimensions and capacity of the cistern, tank or reservoir allowed. The inlet to every such cistern, tank or reservoir must be controlled by an efficient ball-cock so that the discharge thereinto is completely stopped when the cistern, tank or reservoir is full. Any taps fed from such cistern, tank or reservoir must be included in the number of taps allowed under rule 10.

19. No connection shall be permitted to any holding unless and until the owner or occupier makes effective provision to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for draining all waste water away.

ADMISSION to the Evening Shorthand and Typewriting speed classes of students having rates of speed of 80 and 20 words per minute, respectively, will be made from 1st December 1922. For particulars intending candidates will refer to the prospectus given below.

The Evening Lectures.

Courses of evening lectures are delivered in the following subjects. A student can take up one subject or several subjects, provided the class hours permit him to attend the lectures in each subject :—

- (a) Book-keeping (Elementary).
- (b) Book-keeping (Advanced).
- (c) Shorthand (Theory).
- (d) Shorthand (Speed).
- (e) Typewriting.

- (g) Outlines of Political Economy.
- (h) Banking and Currency.
- (i) Annuities and Insurance.
- (j) Mercantile Law.
- (k) Accountancy and Auditing.

The courses of lectures commence in July and continue until the following April except the course of Accountancy and Auditing, which extend over two years.

(a) Book-keeping (Elementary).—Students having a satisfactory knowledge of English and Arithmetic are admitted. Text-book—Arthur Fieldhouse's Complete Book-keeping, up to 100 exercises including partnership accounts. The fee for the full session, July to April, is Rs. 24, payable in eight monthly instalments of Rs. 3 each. Classes are held three times a week from 6 to 7 P.M.

(b) Book-keeping (Advanced).—Students who have passed the Elementary Book-keeping Examination, or who can give satisfactory proof of their knowledge of Elementary Book-keeping up to the requisite standard, are admitted. Text-Book—Complete Book-keeping, by Arthur Fieldhouse. The fee for the full session, July to April, is Rs. 24 payable in eight monthly instalments of Rs. 4 each. Classes are held twice a week from 6 to 7 P.M.

(c) Shorthand (Theory).—Pitman's Shorthand is the system taught. Students having a sufficient knowledge of English are admitted at the beginning of the session in July. Students are also admitted in December, provided they have already a sufficient knowledge of Shorthand to enable them to appreciate the lectures in the session, December to April.

The minimum speed required to pass the examination is 80 words per minute. The class is held daily from 5 P.M.

The fee for the session, July to November, is Rs. 12, which may be paid in four monthly instalments of Rs. 3 each. The fee for the session, December to April, is Rs. 16, which may be paid in four monthly instalments of Rs. 4 each.

(d) Shorthand (Speed).—Students having a speed of 60 words per minute are admitted in July, and the class practice is from 60 to 120 words per minute.

Students having a minimum speed of 80 words per minute are admitted in December, and the class practice is from 80 to 140 words per minute.

In the examination the tests are at four grades of speed, 80, 100, 120, 140 words per minute, and at higher speeds if candidates can write more rapidly. Classes are held daily from 6 P.M. Fees are the same as for (c).

(e) Typewriting.—Beginners are admitted in July. Students having a minimum speed of 20 words per minute are admitted in December. The minimum speed required to pass the examination at the end of April is 35 words per minute. Certificates are issued for 35, 40, 45, 50, 55, 60 words per minute. For each of the speed tests there is a corresponding accuracy test in tabulating. Classes are held at 5, 6 and 7 P.M. Fees are the same as for (c).

Combination of the above subjects and reduction of fee.—If a student simultaneously takes up two or three of the subjects (a) to (e), a reduction of Re. 1 per instalment of each of the fees payable by him will be granted: for example, if a student is a member of both the Shorthand and the Elementary Book-keeping classes, he will have to pay instalments of Rs. 2 for each subject instead of Rs. 3 for the session, July to December.

(f), (g), (h), (i) and (j).—Classes are formed in these subjects if a sufficient number of candidates apply for admission. The fee for each subject is Rs. 3 for each series of ten lectures.

(k) Accountancy and Auditing.—There are two courses of year each for ordinary students, or one year for those who are already practising as Auditors, to prepare candidates for the Government examination of Diploma in Accountancy, which qualifies them to obtain the Government license to practise as Auditors. Students of this class have to attend Book-keeping and Mercantile Law classes, for which no extra fee has to be paid. The fee is Rs. 144, payable in advance in four half-yearly instalments of Rs. 36 each in the case of ordinary students and Rs. 72 in two half-yearly instalments of Rs. 36 each in the case of those who are practising as Auditors and hold a provisional license granted by Government.

2. Examinations.—The examination in subjects (a) to (j) is held at the end of April, at the end of the year's course, under the control of the Government Commercial Institute Board, and successful candidates receive certificates signed by the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, and countersigned by the Secretary to the Bengal Chamber of Commerce. The examination fee for each subject is Rs. 5.

3. Attendance.—Strict regularity and punctuality of attendance are observed. Students must attend 75 per cent. of the lectures in order to appear at the examination. Classes are not held in the evening on Saturday.

4. Standard of Admission.—Candidates who have attended the lectures of the day course are eligible for admission. Others will be admitted, provided they appear qualified for the class or classes they seek to join.

5. Prizes.—Prizes of Rs. 50 each are offered by the Bengal Chamber of Commerce to the best candidates from the evening classes in subjects (b), (d), (f), (g), (h), (i) and (j). Three medals are offered by the Remington Typewriter Co. to the best three students of either the day or evening classes in the Typewriting examination.

6. Admission.—Candidates for admission should send in their applications and register their names, with a deposit of fees, before the end of June. Candidates who desire to be admitted in December should apply before the end of November.

GEOGRAPHY.

E. Marsden Geography for senior classes, Parts I and II.

The World with fuller treatment of India (Longmans' Geographical Series for India, Book II).

F. D. Unstead The Practical Geography, Parts I and II.

B. C. Wallis Macmillan's Geographical Exercise Book (India)

The following books are recommended for the use of teachers

Blandford The Rudiments of Physical Geography for the use of Indian Schools

Frew A Regional Geography of the Indian Empire (Blackie & Son)

Wallis The Teaching of Geography (Cambridge University Press)

O'Malley Bengal, Bihar and Orissa Sikkim (Macmillan & Co.)

The following book is recommended for the use of teachers in connection with the teaching of "Sand Modelling" in the lower classes of Schools

A. E. Frye .. . The Child and Nature

Every school that intends to undertake instruction in Geography for the Matriculation Examination is required to possess the apparatus mentioned in the following list. —

I. (The total cost need not exceed Rs 65)

- (1) A measuring tape
- (2) A magnetic compass
- (3) Squared paper and tracing paper
- (4) Clay, dry sand, paper pulp for modelling
- (5) A globe not less than 14 inches in diameter, with writing surface and with line of latitude and longitude, and outlines only of the land masses marked upon it
- (6) A map of the school locality on a scale of 1" or 6"—1 mile
- (7) A map of the district in which the school is situated on the scale 1" = 1 mile
- (8) A coloured map of the province
- (9) A coloured political map of India
- (10) A physical map of India
- (11) A relief map of India
- (12) A map of the world on Mollweide's equal area projection and a map of Asia

It is essential that the students should be provided with atlases or with the necessary hand maps, and with a drawing instrument box. Maps for school work should not contain too much detail or be crowded with names.

II. The following additional equipment is recommended when it can be provided, but the lack of it is not to be considered as a bar to the recognition of the school in Geography. —

- (1) A thermometer
- (2) A mercury barometer.
- (3) A rain-gauge.
- (4) A small collection of typical rocks in particular those of the province and India.
- (5) A small museum of typical products
- (6) A good standard atlas
- (7) Geographical pictures
- (8) Magic-lantern and slides

(1) The attention of teachers is requested to the raised maps of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam made of paper pulp, prepared by Babu Karishchandra Datta, Head Paudit, Habiganj Government Girls' School, Sylhet, and sold for Rs 7 and Rs 5, respectively.

(2) Globes of all kinds are made by George Philip and Son, London, W., and A. K. Johnston, London, and Messrs. Ruddiman Johnston, London. Small hand globes of German make can be obtained through the Indian School Supply Depot for about a rupee each.

(3) The "Comparative" series of large wall maps of the continents published by George Philip and Son is good and up to date; so also are the Orographical wall maps published by Edward Stanford. Messrs. Ruddiman Johnston publish a series of smaller wall maps which include maps of India illustrating various distributions.

Messrs. Nelson's wall atlases are good. Mr. S. B. Chatterjee publishes District maps, also ordinary and relief maps of the province.

Babu L. M. Bhow, the drawing master of the Dacca Collegiate School, has published good relief maps of Eastern Bengal and Assam and of India.

The Vidal-Lablache French wall maps on strong card-board, named on one side, and the same map without names on the reverse, published by Armond Collin, Paris, are good and cheap. They measure 46 inches by 39 inches and can be delivered in Calcutta for Rs. 4-14 each.

(4) The hand-maps, coloured to indicate relief, published by the Diagram Company, West Barnes Lane, New Malden, Surrey, at one penny each are the best of their kind.

The uncoloured half penny maps, showing river systems and a few towns, published by the same Company are excellent for class use.

The Autograph hand maps, with hill shading in brown, published by Messrs. Edward Stanford, London, at one penny each, are very good, and are larger than the Diagram Company's hand maps. The 15-inch map of the world on Mollweide's equal area projection is especially to be commended.

(5) Wall pictures of considerable artistic merit are published by Messrs. Edward Arnold of Leeds, Messrs. Hachette of Paris and Messrs. Holzcl of Vienna, and Messrs. Longmans Green and Company. They cost, delivered in India, from two to three rupees each.

Map lantern slides and view slides especially prepared for Geography teaching are sold by the Diagram Company for two or three shillings each. Mr. Bartington Smith of Darjeeling also sells good picture slides of the Himalayas at Rs. 15 per dozen.

ELEMENTARY MECHANICS.

The following books are recommended —

Sir Philip Magnus Elementary Mechanics (Longmans, 1903).
A. N. Sen Elementary Mechanics.

The following list of apparatus is prescribed as indicating the approximate requirements of a recognised High School seeking to teach Elementary Mechanics for the Matriculation Examination.

Plumb-line and level.
Simple lever (including brass slotted weight).
Roman steel yard.
Lecture apparatus for experiments on movements.
George's New Atwood's Machine.
Stop-watch.
Glazebrook's apparatus (to demonstrate movement of a body).
Hick's Ballistic Balance.
Compound Wheel and Axle.
4 Single Brass Pulleys.
2 Triple Brass Pulleys.
Weston Differential Pulley Blocks ($\frac{1}{2}$ ton).
16 feet of Chain at 6d. per foot.
Inclined Plane.
Parallelogram of Forces apparatus.
Wall Crane.
Becker's New Physical Balance.
Set of Gramme Weights (200 grams to 1 mgr.).
2 Composition-ivory Balls.

Note — The above list is not exhaustive, and much of it might be replaced by similar forms that could probably be made far more cheaply by any clever mistry under proper supervision. In most cases, however, it will probably be found advantageous to buy such a set as indicated in the list, specially for demonstration purposes, and subsequently to develop simplified duplicates illustrating the same principles, which the boys should be given opportunity actually to experiment with on their own individual account or working in pairs.

CALCUTTA, THE 21ST NOVEMBER 1922.

RESOLUTION—No. 5619Ind

Minister in charge : The Hon'ble Nawab Saliyd Nawab Ali Chaudhuri, Khan Bahadur, C.I.E.

READ—

The Report of the Department of Industries, Bengal, for the year ending 31st December 1921.

DR. D. B. MEEK, the Director of Industries, held charge of the department during the greater part of the year. During his absence on leave

Mr. A. T. Weston, the Deputy Director, was placed in charge of the department. Mr. Everett held the post of Inspector of Technical and Industrial Institutions. In December 1921 Dr. Rasik Lal Datta was appointed Industrial Chemist.

2. Owing to the absence of an expert staff little research work could be undertaken during the year, except at the Calcutta Research Tannery. The possibility of manufacturing glace-kid leather from local materials has been demonstrated, the leathers manufactured comparing favourably with similar goods imported from abroad. Successful experiments have been made in the manufacture of foot-ball leather, box-side leather and sole leather. Investigations in regard to the tanstuff resources of the Sundarbans forests have led to the discovery of an economical process for the utilization of goran (Ceriops Roxburgiana) bark, a full account of which has been published. Other tanstuffs of commercial importance have been discovered in the Sundarbans, and experiments with them are in progress.

Apart from research work technical advice has been freely given, ready-made treatment materials such as chrome liquors and fat-liquors have been supplied to inexperienced and unscientific tanners, and machine work such as finishing, polishing, etc., has been executed for small concerns. In view of the valuable work done at the tannery it has been decided to continue it for a further period of five years. An interesting feature is the keen interest taken by young men of the Bhadralok class in the manufacture of shoes and leather. Applications for apprenticeship were received in such numbers that many had to be refused for want of accommodation.

3. The information available regarding the prospects of the match industry in this presidency is at present meagre, and the matter has been under investigation by the Industries Department. Arrangements have been made for utilizing the services of Mr. A. P. Ghosh, a manufacturing expert, for a detailed survey and report on the technical and commercial aspects of the industry in Bengal. The investigation is expected to occupy a period of six months. Simultaneously the possibilities of the supply of suitable wood for matches from the Bengal forests will be examined.

4. During the year the Industries Department directed its attention to the preparation of schemes for the development and encouragement of silk, glass, dairy and cigar and cigarette making industries. Much valuable information has now been collected, and the schemes are under consideration.

The question of instituting a hydro-electric survey for developing water-power resources in Bengal came under consideration during the year. In accordance with the recommendations of the Industrial Commission, a joint Committee composed of officers of the Public Works Department and of the Department of Industries was appointed in November 1921 to conduct the survey, which will be confined, in the first instance, to the tract in Hill Tippera round Comilla and Chittagong.

For some time past there has been a keen demand for the demonstration of improved methods of spinning, weaving and dyeing, and of tanning in exhibitions and in local centres of these industries. These demonstrations were attended with considerable success and created much local interest. As it is impossible for the ordinary staff of the Serampore Weaving Institute and Calcutta Research Tannery to cope with the increasing calls on them for such demonstrations special establishments have been sanctioned for the purpose. The department also arranged for the attendance of a large number of weavers from the districts of Bengal at the All-India Handloom Weaving Exhibition at Patna, and they showed a keen appreciation of the advantages of improved methods. The recent revival of the handloom weaving industry afforded a great opportunity to the department for popularising the use of fly-shuttle looms and labour-saving appliances and spinning machines, and full advantage was taken of it. Facilities were also afforded for the formation of co-operative societies among weavers and the establishment of yarn banks and cloth depôts.

Next to weaving, the conch-shell industry is the most important industry in Dacca. Large quantities of conch-shells are imported annually into the town from Ceylon, Southern and Western India. Owing to the high prices charged by the few middlemen who imported the shells the condition of the workers was gradually deteriorating. To remedy this state of things, a co-operative society has been formed among the conch-shell workers, and the society, aided by a guarantee from Government against loss up to a maximum of Rs. 10,000, has successfully negotiated a contract with the Fisheries Department, Madras, for the purchase of shells direct. The Minister in charge will watch with interest the results achieved by the society in its venture.

5. The development of technical and industrial education continued to receive the earnest attention of the Minister and the Department of Industries. In pursuance of the schemes for the training of apprentices in railway and other workshops in the neighbourhood of Calcutta, the Board of Control for Apprenticeship Training and the governing body of the Calcutta Technical School were appointed during the year under review. The Kanchrapara Technical School scheme has since received the approval of the Government of India in the Railway Department who have authorised the co-operation of the Eastern Bengal Railway authorities with this Government in the matter. Steps have now been taken for giving full effect to the scheme in collaboration with the committee of management of the school and for the improvement of teaching work by the appointment of the full staff. Pending the transfer of the Locomotive Superintendent's office at Kanchrapara which has been selected for the location of the school, the classes are being held in certain rooms of the new hostel building for Indian apprentices. It is hoped that it will be possible to complete the scheme in the near future with the co-operation of the railway authorities. Owing to the want of funds the building operations in connection with the Technical School in Calcutta had to be suspended. The Legislative Council has, however, recently voted a grant of Rs. 65,000 to enable the Public Works Department to proceed with the work during the current year. Progress was made with the scheme for the improvement of mining education in the coal-fields. Some of the buildings required for lecture-halls and quarters for the teaching staff at Raniganj and Sitarampore are already under construction. Financial considerations have necessitated the temporary suspension of arrangements for recruiting the new staff required. Meanwhile, however, the present arrangement under which lectures are delivered by part-time lecturers will continue. The Government Weaving Institute at Serampore and the district and peripatetic weaving schools continued to do useful work. The great popularity of the Serampore Institute is evident from the large number of applications for admission received at the last session. Accommodation is available only for 75 students in the higher classes and for about 60 in the artizan classes, while the total number of applications from qualified candidates amounted to about 2,000. Towards the end of the year under review it was decided to retain the Institute permanently at Serampore. A building project for the Institute which is at present located in hired buildings is now under consideration. Steps were taken after the close of the year for the extension of the peripatetic demonstration of weaving, and arrangements have been elected at a comparatively small cost by which the peripatetic schools will be in a position to admit at one time double the number of pupils that they can teach at present. The system of granting loans to ex-students of weaving schools for the purchase of machinery has been very popular and has enabled many of the students to make a successful start in the weaving industry. Sanction has been received to the recruitment in India of a qualified Principal for the Government Commercial Institute in Calcutta, and it is hoped that the post will be filled up in the near future. As soon as this has been done the Principal will be asked to prepare a scheme for the expansion and improvement of the Institute.

During the year schemes for the establishment of industrial, commercial and junior technical schools at suitable centres throughout the province were under preparation. These schemes have matured since the close of the year, and it is proposed to start at once two schools of each of these types.

6. The Minister in charge is pleased to note that in spite of the fact that much of its work lies in a sphere which has not hitherto been regarded as coming within the activities of Government, and must therefore be largely of an experimental nature, the department is already able to show a creditable record of usefulness. The thanks of the Minister are due to Dr. D. B. Meek and Mr. Weston for their successful administration of the department during the year under review. He also desires to record his appreciation of the valuable assistance which the members of the Advisory Board of Industries and of the other Boards and Committees mentioned in the report have rendered to the department.

By order of the Government of Bengal

(Ministry of Agriculture and Industries),

J. T. DONOVAN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

Mr. Dutt estimated that, in the conditions which existed in 1893, the District Judge could cope with the additional work thrown on him with the assistance of the Joint Magistrate, who, when necessary, was to be vested with the powers of an Assistant Sessions Judge and empowered to hear petty appeals. Where there was no Joint Magistrate, he thought that the District Judge could obtain sufficient assistance from a senior and selected Deputy Magistrate who, if necessary, could be empowered to hear petty appeals. In dealing with subdivisions he estimated that the judicial work of a subdivision could be done by the Subdivisional Officer, who would become an entirely judicial officer under the control of the District Judge, whilst a Sub-Deputy Collector could do all the revenue and administrative work of the subdivision. This recommendation he subsequently modified to this extent, that he considered that there should be a Deputy Collector, and not a Sub-Deputy Collector, to carry out the revenue and administrative work of a subdivision. We cannot find that Mr. Dutt's scheme took into account the necessary occasional absences from the headquarters of the subdivision of the officer in charge of revenue and administrative work, which would create difficulties with regard to the opening of the sub-treasury. We have not been able to find any direct expression of his views with regard to the person or persons to exercise the powers under the preventive sections of the Criminal Procedure Code.

4. Mr. Bolton's scheme.—Mr. Bolton's scheme recommends the appointment in each district of a District Judge to exercise the powers then vested in an Assistant Sessions Judge under the Criminal Procedure Code, with the exclusive power of hearing appeals from magistrates of all grades and applications for revision of their decisions. He suggests that this officer should distribute all cases as they arise among the subordinate magistrates, or that he should assign this duty and the power of receiving and distributing complaints to one of those magistrates.

He recommends the appointment of a Divisional Judge in every division, and that he should exercise the powers of a District and Sessions Judge under the Codes of Criminal and Civil Procedure throughout the division, and that he should control the District Judge and try all sessions cases which the District Judge was not competent to try, and that he should have the power to transfer cases from one court to another.

He further recommends that at the headquarters of each district there should be one or more subordinate, Joint, Assistant or Deputy Magistrates, whose exclusive duties should be to try criminal cases triable by a magistrate, the appointment to be ordinarily for a period of five years and the power of supervision and control of such magistrates to be vested exclusively in the District Judge, the District Officer ceasing to exercise these or any judicial or appellate powers.

Mr. Bolton would retain with the District Officer and his subordinates the preventive powers of the Criminal Procedure Code, subject to an appeal to or revision by the Commissioner of the Division.

With regard to subdivisions, Mr. Bolton would in large subdivisions have two officers, a Deputy Magistrate for judicial work with, where necessary, charge of the sub-treasury, and a Deputy Collector for revenue and executive work. In the smaller subdivisions he would allow, for the time being, the combination of functions to continue, the Subdivisional Officer being subordinate to the District Judge for judicial purposes and to the District Officer for revenue and executive purposes. His scheme further provides for the inspection of magistrates and Subdivisional Officers by the District Judge.

Mr. Bolton estimates the cost of his scheme, exclusive of buildings, at 5 lakhs a year. The details of the cost of the scheme are to be found at page 614 of Volume II of the volumes referred to in paragraph 1 of this report.

5. Sir Harvey Adamson's scheme.—Sir Harvey Adamson outlines his scheme as follows:—

He would separate judicial and executive functions entirely. He would allow all subordinate civil service officers and, if possible, the officers of the executive branch, after a fixed number of years, to make a final choice between judicial and executive, but, during the period antecedent to final choice, he would garrison all such officers to Commissioners' divisions, to be deputed to executive or judicial duties by orders of the Commissioner, a change from one duty to the other during this period to be made at intervals of not less than two years. He would consult High Courts freely on the transfer and promotion of all officers permanently allotted to the judicial branch of the service. At the headquarters of each district he would station a District Officer and a senior magistrate, the former to exercise revenue functions, to control the police, to exercise the preventive sections of the Criminal Procedure Code, and to discharge all miscellaneous executive duties, the latter (either a member of the Indian Civil Service or a Deputy Magistrate of experience) to be the head of the magistracy and try important criminal cases, hear appeals from second and third class magistrates, perform criminal revision work and inspect magistrates' courts. If these duties do not fully occupy his time, he would be appointed Additional District Judge and be employed in civil work or in inspecting civil courts or as an Assistant Sessions Judge.

Sir Harvey Adamson would depute some of the officers at the headquarters of a district to executive and the remainder to judicial work; he would re-arrange subdivisional boundaries and divide each district into judicial subdivisions and executive sub-districts not necessarily co-terminous.

As a result of the scheme he states that a district would be divided into (a) executive and (b) judicial, each being subdivided into headquarters and sub-districts or subdivisions, the executive staff being under the District Officer and consisting of Indian Civilians, Deputy Collectors and Sub-Deputy Collectors at headquarters, with either an Indian Civilian or a Deputy Collector in each subdivision. Similarly, the judicial staff would be under the senior magistrate, consisting, at headquarters, of Indian Civilians, Deputy Magistrates and Sub-Deputy Magistrates, and in subdivisions of an Indian Civilian or a Deputy Magistrate.

Under this scheme the District Officer would be empowered as a District Magistrate and other executive officers as first class magistrates to perform the preventive functions under the Criminal Procedure Code, Chapter VIII (omitting section 106) to Chapter XII.

6. The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter's scheme.—The broad features of Mr. Mitter's scheme are as follows: He would place all officers who exercise any judicial powers (civil or criminal) under the District Judge, who would have the supervision of the judicial work of a district, both civil and criminal. He would relieve the present District Magistrate of his magisterial duties, calling him the District Officer. He would, where necessary in a district, appoint an Additional District and Sessions Judge and one or two Civil Judges to exercise the powers of a Subordinate Judge, giving them the criminal powers of an Assistant Sessions Judge and the powers now exercised by the District Magistrate under Chapters VIII to XII of the Criminal Procedure Code. He thinks that, in districts where the work is not very heavy, no additional District and Sessions Judge will be needed, but only one additional Judge to exercise the powers of a Subordinate Judge, Assistant Sessions Judge and the judicial powers of the District Magistrate under the Criminal Procedure Code. Mr. Mitter further proposes that the District Judges and all judicial officers under them should be placed under the High Court in all matters, namely, pay, promotion, leave, suspension, punishment, etc., and that they should have no concerns with the District Officer, Commissioner or Local Government, and he suggests that the Judicial Department of the Local Government should be placed under the High Court.

He suggests further the division of the judicial service into two branches, namely, imperial for the whole of India and provincial for each province, discussing the recruitment, training, pay, etc., of the two branches. This question, however, seems to concern the country as a whole, and accordingly to be outside the scope of the reference to us, and we think it need not be further discussed by this Committee.

Mr. Mitter has submitted in considerable detail how the changes proposed by him would affect the personnel in the present twenty-seven districts into which Bengal is divided. He states the staff employed in or about the year 1913 in judicial work both civil and criminal and in revenue and administrative work, and in parallel columns indicates the staff in his opinion necessary when the separation has been carried out. In so doing he has not separated the staff required in his opinion at the sadar station and in the subdivisions, which makes it difficult to test his figures with the staff estimated by the District Magistrates whom we have examined, to be necessary, if separation were effected. Mr. Mitter has worked out an estimate of the cost of his proposals in each district and estimates that there would be a total yearly saving of Rs. 1,66,800. The Chittagong Hill Tracts, Darjeeling and Jalpaiguri are not included in the scheme. Mr. Mitter has not taken into account the cost of any additional buildings which separation would necessitate. Possibly under his scheme he thinks no additional buildings would be necessary. Again he has not taken into account any increase of clerical and other staff which separation would necessitate, but again possibly under his scheme he thinks that no such increase would be necessary. Mr. Mitter unfortunately felt himself precluded by his present position from giving evidence before us, so that we were unable to avail ourselves of his assistance on these points. The Committee, however, desire to acknowledge the assistance which they have gained by a perusal of his book, copies of which he very kindly supplied to the members of the Committee.

7. The present administration of criminal justice.—Before formulating any scheme ourselves it will be convenient to state briefly, but not exhaustively, the present system prevalent in the province, outside Calcutta, for the administration of civil and criminal justice.

The chief criminal judicial officer in the district is a District and Sessions Judge who presides at the trial of cases committed to Sessions, and also hears appeals from magistrates with first class powers. He is assisted in this work, where necessary, by an Additional District and Sessions Judge. District and Sessions Judges and Additional District and Sessions Judges are engaged in purely judicial work and take no part in the administration of the district, and have no executive functions generally speaking. They are under the control and supervision of the High Court, but are posted to districts by the Local Government, subject to the approval of the High Court.

The next criminal judicial officer is the Magistrate and Collector, who is a magistrate with first class powers (described in the Criminal Procedure Code as the District Magistrate); he can, and very occasionally does, hear criminal cases of special importance, but his judicial functions mainly consist in hearing appeals from magistrates with second and third class powers, and his most important work is the inspection and supervision of the criminal courts of the district, other than the courts of the District and Sessions Judge and Additional District and Sessions Judge. In some districts he is assisted by an Additional District Magistrate and Collector, who usually exercises the judicial and inspectional and supervisory functions of the District Magistrate and Collector. The District Magistrate and Collector, in addition to his judicial functions, exercises important administrative, revenue and executive functions, and it is he who is responsible for the peace and order of the district, and he exercises general control and direction over the police in criminal cases. The Additional District Magistrate and Collector, in districts where there is such an officer, also exercises important administrative, executive and revenue functions. The other criminal work of the district is carried out by Assistant Magistrates Assistant Collectors, Deputy Magistrates Deputy Collectors and Sub-Deputy Magistrates Sub-Deputy Collectors. These officers have, as the case may be, the powers of magistrates of the first, second or third class.

In some cases their duties are purely judicial, in others purely administrative and executive, including those connected with revenue, whilst some exercise judicial, administrative and executive and revenue functions. In the subdivisions of each district there is a Subdivisional Officer, who is either an Indian Civil Service officer or a Deputy Magistrate with the powers of a first class magistrate (he is described in the Criminal Procedure Code as the Subdivisional Magistrate); upon him falls the duty of inspecting the criminal courts of the subdivision, which however are also from time to time inspected by the District Magistrate; the Subdivisional Officer also exercises almost all the powers under the preventive sections of the Criminal Procedure Code.

The Deputy Magistrates Deputy Collectors, Assistant Magistrates Assistant Collectors, Sub-Deputy Magistrates Sub-Deputy Collectors and Subdivisional Officers are under the control and supervision of the District Magistrate and Collector and the Divisional Commissioner. Their promotion and posting is controlled by the Local Government.

8. Civil Work.—The civil work of the province, outside Calcutta, is performed by the District and Sessions Judge, by one or more Additional District and Sessions Judges, where they exist, by Sub-Judges and by Munsifs. These are purely judicial officers, and they perform no administrative or executive functions generally speaking. They are under the control and supervision of the High Court. It has not been thought necessary to refer to the appellate jurisdiction exercised by the High Court in civil and criminal cases.

9. Where the overlapping of judicial and executive functions occurs.—It will be clear from what has been stated in the last two paragraphs that the overlapping of judicial and executive functions occurs in the case of the District Magistrate and Collector, the Additional District Magistrate and Collector (in districts where there is such an officer), Assistant Magistrates Assistant Collectors (who are Indian Civilians), Deputy Magistrates Deputy Collectors and Sub-Deputy Magistrates Sub-Deputy Collectors, except, as regards these latter, in cases where they are employed in purely judicial or in purely administrative and executive functions, as the case may be.

10. Evidence.—The Committee have held twenty-two sittings and have examined twenty-one witnesses, whose evidence will be found in Appendix A to this report.

Of the witnesses examined, one was a Commissioner of a Division, nine were District Magistrates, one was an Additional District Magistrate, two were District Judges, and three were Subdivisional Officers.

Of the other witnesses examined, two were barristers (one of whom had had experience as a Deputy Magistrate and also as a Presidency Magistrate), two were pleaders from the mufassil, and one was an Indian Civilian who had had experience as a Subdivisional Officer, as a District Magistrate and as an Additional District and Sessions Judge.

The Committee further sent round to all District Magistrates who were not examined orally, a questionnaire, which will be found, together with the replies, in Appendix B. They also sent round to the District Judges another questionnaire, which will also be found, together with the replies, in Appendix C.

The Committee also invited an expression of their views from the following associations :—

- The Bengal Chamber of Commerce.
- The Bengal Landholders' Association.
- The Indian Muslim Association.
- The Calcutta Trades Association.
- The European Association.
- The British Indian Association.
- The National Liberal League.
- The Indian Association.
- The Central National Muhammadan Association.
- The Marwari Association.
- The Bengal National Chamber of Commerce.
- The Bengal Presidency Muslim League.
- The British Indian Peoples' Association.

The replies of those associations who expressed their views will be found in Appendix D.

11. We see no practical difficulty in effecting a separation of judicial and executive functions, but we think that in framing any scheme it is desirable—

- (1) that the separation should be as complete as possible,
- (2) that it should disturb existing conditions as little as possible, and
- (3) that, so far as is consistent with efficiency, any increase of cost should be minimised as far as possible.

12. Scheme of separation.—We accordingly recommend that, in order to carry out the separation of such functions in this province, the following scheme be adopted :—

- (a) The hearing of appeals from magistrates with second and third class powers should in future take place not before the District Officer or his subordinates, but before the District and Sessions Judge or some purely judicial officer empowered in that behalf.
- (b) The inspection of criminal courts should be made in future not by the District Officer or his subordinates, but by the District and Sessions Judge or by some purely judicial officer empowered in that behalf, and the responsibility for the efficient working of all the criminal courts in the district and the due despatch of criminal business should rest in future not with the District Officer but with the District and Sessions Judge. We desire to emphasise the necessity of the inspection and supervision of the work of the criminal courts being ordinarily carried out by the District and Sessions Judge himself. Unless this is done, we think that there is a grave risk that the criminal work of the districts may deteriorate.
- (c) The present staff of Deputy Magistrates Deputy Collectors and of Sub-Deputy Magistrates Sub-Deputy Collectors should be divided into two branches, and one should be employed in purely judicial work and the other in purely administrative, executive and revenue work. The control and supervision, including questions of promotion and transfer, of those engaged in purely judicial work should lie exclusively with the judicial authorities and the control and supervision of those engaged in purely administrative work should remain with the District Officer. If and when the scheme is adopted, regard should be had, where possible, to the wishes of the various members of the staff as to the branch to which they should be assigned. After the division is effected, we think that there should be no change for the present in the location of the magisterial staff, that is to say, that they should continue, where possible, to occupy their existing courts and rooms whether at the sadar or the subdivision. We see no practical difficulty in the District and Sessions Judge, or whoever supervises and inspects their work, carrying out these duties at the sadar and subdivisional offices. To remove these officers at once to the Judge's court house would greatly increase the cost of any scheme; but, where additional accommodation is necessitated by the scheme, it should be provided at the Judge's court house rather than at the District Officer's, and ultimately all judicial officers, civil and criminal, at headquarters should be located in the Judge's court house.
- (d) In future recruitment for the Bengal Civil Service and the Sub-ordinate Civil Service should be made direct to the judicial branch and direct to the administrative, executive and revenue branch, change from one branch to the other not being permitted. Some members of the Committee, however, think that change from one branch to the other should be permitted for a period of five or six years, as thereby the wider experience thus gained would be beneficial to both branches.

(e) As regards future members of the Indian Civil Service posted to Bengal, we think that their selection of judicial or executive should be finally made at the expiration of six years' service, those first six years being treated as training and the officer being deputed for substantial periods to one branch or the other. We are aware that proposals have been made from time to time with regard to the improvement of the judicial training of members of the Indian Civil Service, but we do not think that it is within the scope of the reference to this Committee to consider and come to a conclusion upon this question. Some members of the Committee, however, think that in future recruitment for the Indian Civil Service should be made direct for the judicial branch and direct for the revenue, administrative and executive branch.

(f) The High Court should exercise the same control and supervision over the magisterial staff as they now exercise over the civil staff.

13. The preventive sections of the Criminal Procedure Code.—An important question arises which it will be convenient to deal with in a separate paragraph from the other details of the scheme. This question concerns the preventive sections of the Criminal Procedure Code which are contained in Chapters VIII to XII inclusive of that code. Under the present system the powers under these sections are vested in the District Magistrate, the Subdivisional Officer and magistrates with first class powers empowered in that behalf. In Mr. Mitter's scheme these powers were to be taken away from the District Magistrate and from the magistrates under him and transferred to the District and Sessions Judge and to the judicial officers under him; in Mr. Bolton's scheme and in Sir Harvey Adamson's scheme these powers were to be retained by the District Officer and by officers under him. The Committee have heard a considerable amount of evidence on the question of the retention or otherwise by the District Officer and those under him of the present powers given them by the preventive sections. As already stated, they have examined the District Officers of nine districts orally. All these officers consider that the powers under these sections should remain as at present with the District Officer and those under him; three of them, however, see no objection to the trial of all cases under these sections being transferred to the District and Sessions Judge or those under him, provided there is no delay. As regards the views of the remainder, three see no objection to trials under section 107 taking place before a judicial officer, four see no objection to trials under section 110 taking place before a judicial officer, provided the trial be held locally, five would not object to motions against conditional orders passed under section 133 being heard by a judicial officer, and five would not object to section 145 proceedings taking place before a judicial officer. The two District and Sessions Judges whom we examined both thought that the power of initiating or drawing up proceedings under these sections should remain as at present, but that the hearing should take place before a judicial officer. The Divisional Commissioner whom we examined thought that all cases under these sections should be tried by a judicial officer, whilst the Additional District Magistrate whom we examined would retain as at present all powers under these sections, except that he would allow cases under sections 109, 110 and 145 to be tried by a judicial officer. Two of the three Subdivisional Officers would retain the powers as at present, whilst the other would retain the powers under sections 133, 144 and 145 for urgent cases, letting the other powers be exercised by a judicial officer. Of the two barristers whom we examined, one of whom, as stated, is an ex-Deputy Magistrate with experience in the subdivisions, one would give all the powers to the District and Sessions Judge and the other would have the hearing of all proceedings before a judicial officer.

Of the two pleaders examined, both would leave the initiation of proceedings with the District and Subdivisional Officers, subsequent proceedings to take place before a judicial officer. One would, however, leave the District and Subdivisional Officers their powers under section 144 unimpaired, and saw no objection to their passing emergency orders under the other sections. The other saw no objection to the District and Subdivisional Officers passing orders under sections 133 and 144, provided that such orders could be subsequently challenged in courts of law. This witness was opposed to trials of section 110 cases taking place locally, thinking that the accused was thereby prejudiced in obtaining legal assistance.

Of the seventeen District Magistrates whom we did not examine orally but who replied to the questionnaire, all were in favour of the District Officer and those at present exercising powers under these sections retaining the power to initiate proceedings; twelve of them, however, saw no objection to the trial of proceedings under these sections being before a judicial officer.

Of the associations whose opinions we invited, one only dealt with this question, expressing the opinion that the power of initiation should remain as at present in urgent cases, but that proceedings under sections 107, 108, 110, 133, 144 and 145 should take place before a judicial officer.

In some of the oral evidence which we have taken and in some of the replies which we have received, some stress has been laid upon the fact that the powers under these sections are in the nature of executive acts, and that the proceedings are only quasi-judicial. As the District and Subdivisional Officers will, under the scheme submitted, still remain liable for the peace and order of the districts, it would manifestly be impossible to deprive them of these powers entirely, at the same time it seems to us impossible to say that the proceedings thereunder are not, at any rate at some stages, judicial proceedings. Consequently, if things remained as at present, executive officers would still be exercising some judicial functions and the separation of functions would not be complete. At the same time it is impossible always to be strictly logical and, if we were satisfied that the peace and order of the district depended on things remaining as at present as regards the preventive sections, we should not hesitate so to recommend, even if thereby some executive and judicial functions overlapped.

After considering the evidence, we recommend that the powers of the District Officer and those under him under the preventive sections shall be modified in the following manner:—

- (1) In ordinary cases under sections 107, 108, 109 and 110, when the District Officer requires a person to show cause, the proceedings shall be sent for trial before a judicial officer, but in cases of emergency which arise under these sections and when immediate action is necessary, it shall be open to the District Officer and those empowered to act under these sections themselves to make orders under the sections, but, where they make such orders, they shall state their reasons in writing and an appeal against the orders shall lie to the District and Sessions Judge. The Committee are agreed that all cases under section 110 should be tried locally as at present and that opportunity for obtaining legal assistance should be freely given.
- (2) Section 137 shall be modified so as to provide that, if a person bound down conditionally under section 133 appears to show cause, the proceedings shall be heard before a judicial officer, but, if the order is made absolute, the District Officer shall be the person to enforce it under section 140 and the following sections.
- (3) The hearing of proceedings under sections 145 and 147 shall be before a judicial officer, initiation of proceedings and the power to make provisional orders under the last proviso of section 145(4) remaining as at present with the District Officer and those under him.
- (4) Any appeal under section 406 of the Criminal Procedure Code shall go to the District and Sessions Judge.

If these suggestions are adopted, it will be necessary, in order to secure speedy disposal of cases, that the District Officer should forward the proceedings to the District and Sessions Judge with a request that they should be speedily disposed of, and that a High Court order should require the District and Sessions Judge to give effect to the request and secure the speedy disposal of all matters thus marked as urgent.

14. Amendment of the Criminal Procedure Code.—The adoption of the proposals outlined in the last two paragraphs will not necessitate extensive amendments of the Criminal Procedure Code and of other Acts. Such amendments must be consequential on any scheme, and we have not thought it necessary in this report to indicate the amendments which will be necessary. This will be a matter for the Legislative Department in the event of this or any other scheme being adopted.

15. Cost.—It remains for us to consider whether the carrying out of the proposals for separation outlined in paragraph 12 will involve any and if so what additional cost. It will be convenient to consider this under three main heads as follows: Firstly, whether the transfer of the appellate functions of the District Magistrate and of his revisional functions and of the inspection of criminal courts to the District and Sessions Judge or to those under him will involve any additional staff or the provision of any additional accommodation. Secondly, whether the separation of functions at the headquarters of the district will involve the provision of additional staff and additional accommodation. Thirdly, whether the like separation in the subdivisions will involve any similar additions.

We propose to state here the method adopted by the Committee in calculating the cost of any additional officers and staff and of buildings which the scheme outlined above in their opinion necessitates, the same method being adopted where a saving is shown. The Committee upon enquiry were not able to obtain an average figure based on the grade pay of the additional officers and staff required, and they have accordingly adopted for the basis of their calculations the following figures, which must be taken as approximate only.

Where an extra officer of the rank of District and Sessions Judge is required, they have calculated the pay of such an officer at Rs. 1,750 a month, of a District Magistrate and Collector at Rs. 1,500, of a Sub-Judge at Rs. 1,000, of a Deputy Magistrate and of a Deputy Collector at Rs. 500, of a Sub-Deputy Magistrate and of a Sub-Deputy Collector at Rs. 250 and of a peon at Rs. 15. Some members of the Committee think that a saving might be effected by appointing Subordinate Judges or senior Deputy Magistrates to fill the superior posts.

Where in subdivisions or at headquarters additional accommodation is necessitated, they have based their calculations on a rough estimate furnished by the Public Works Department, who estimate that the provision of an additional court room or of an additional room added to existing buildings, measuring 25 feet by 18 feet, would cost approximately Rs. 3,500. In a few cases, where additional accommodation is required at headquarters, a sum in excess of this estimate has been allowed.

16. The hearing of appeals and inspection.—Appeals from second and third class magistrates are, as already stated, heard at the present time by the District Magistrate or by the Additional District Magistrate, where there is one, or by a senior Deputy Magistrate at headquarters. Inspection is carried out by the District Magistrate or by the Additional District Magistrate, where there is one, and criminal motions, etc., are similarly dealt with. We have ascertained from the District Magistrates the time now occupied in these duties, and the result of our enquiries is set out below.

Bakerganj.—The greater part of the time of the Additional District Magistrate is occupied in criminal work.

Bankura.—Appeals occupy four to five hours weekly; inspection two weeks a year.

Birbhum.—One quarter of time occupied.

Bogra.—One third of time occupied.

Burdwan.—One quarter of time occupied.

Chittagong.—One fifth, if no Additional District Magistrate.

Dacca.—Six hours a day, that is, three-fourths of the time of the Additional District Magistrate.

Dinajpur.—One-third of time occupied.

Faridpur.—Two-fifths of time occupied, actual court work occupying one-eighth of the time, as petty appeals are heard by a Deputy Magistrate.

Howrah.—Rather less than one-fourth of time occupied.

Hooghly.—One-third of time occupied.

Jessore.—Two-sevenths of time occupied in criminal work, including the hearing of appeals.

Jalpaiguri.—One quarter of time occupied.

Khulna.—One-fifth of time occupied.

Malda.—Three hours a day occupied.

Midnapore.—One half of the time of the Additional District Magistrate is occupied in normal times. The District Magistrate occupies three weeks a year in inspecting the outlying subdivisions for both revenue and criminal purposes.

Murshidabad.—Criminal appeals occupy four hours a week, other criminal work one quarter of an hour daily; inspection occupies five days a year.

Mymensingh.—One half of the time of the Additional District Magistrate is occupied in criminal appeals and motions and the District Magistrate occupies three days a year in inspecting each of the outlying subdivisions and he hears some three or four references a year against acquittals.

Nadia.—One hour a day, appeals being heard by a Deputy Magistrate.

Noakhali.—One-third of time occupied in criminal work, including the hearing of appeals.

Pabna.—Three hours a day.

Rajshahi.—Criminal appeals occupy one hour a day; inspection six or eight days a year.

Rangpur.—Three-twentieths of time occupied. A senior Deputy Magistrate hears appeals.

Tippura.—One-third of time occupied and an additional half hour a day in general supervision.

24 Parganas.—Four-fifths of the time of the Additional District Magistrate is occupied and the District Magistrate hears exceptional cases and exceptional appeals.

Darjeeling and the Chittagong Hill Tracts are not included in this table

We have submitted the results of the enquiries embodied in the above table to the District and Sessions Judges of the different districts, in order to ascertain whether they could undertake the additional duties which would be thrown upon them by the change without the provision of any additional staff, or whether any additional staff will be required.

The District and Sessions Judge of Bakarganj states that the second Additional District and Sessions Judge, who acted for eight months in 1919 and 1920, and for nine months in 1921, should be made permanent. He suggests that this would necessitate the usual ministerial staff. He further suggests that a Sub-Judge should be vested with the powers of an Assistant Sessions Judge and empowered to hear appeals from second and third class magistrates. We recommend that the second Additional District and Sessions Judge should be made permanent at an approximate annual additional cost of Rs. 7,000. His staff could be furnished from that of the Additional District Magistrate, whom we think no longer necessary.

The District and Sessions Judge of Bankura states that he could hear appeals and carry out his inspections without additional assistance.

The District and Sessions Judge of Birbhum says that he would require the assistance of a Sub-Judge for three months in the year to enable him to carry out this work. We think this estimate is reasonable, and it would involve an approximate additional expenditure of Rs. 3,000 annually, taking the salary of a Sub-Judge at Rs. 1,000 a month.

The District and Sessions Judge of Bogra, who is also the District and Sessions Judge of Pabna, suggests that it would be necessary to appoint a whole time District and Sessions Judge for Bogra. The effect of this would be to give Bogra a whole time District and Sessions Judge of its own, who, with the assistance of the Sub-Judge there, who now acts as an Assistant Sessions Judge, could deal with the additional work resulting from separation. This seems to us reasonable and would involve an additional approximate expenditure of Rs. 21,000 annually for salary (taking the salary of a District and Sessions Judge at Rs. 1,750 monthly) and the cost of his establishment which we estimate at Rs. 4,000 approximately, taking into account the staff which will be available by transfer from the District Magistrate and from the Judge's civil establishment. Some members of the Committee think that the existing arrangement of the union of Bogra and Pabna should be continued, and an additional Sub-Judge appointed to deal with the increase of work.

The District and Sessions Judge of Burdwan, who is at present assisted during part of the year by an Additional District and Sessions Judge, states that this officer should be made a permanent whole time officer to enable him to cope with the additional duties necessitated by the scheme of division. This seems to us reasonable and would involve an approximate additional annual expenditure of Rs. 10,500.

The District and Sessions Judge of Chittagong suggests that the Additional District and Sessions Judge, who now sits for four months at Chittagong, should sit there each year for six months to enable him to do the additional work. This seems reasonable and would involve an additional annual expenditure of Rs. 3,500.

The District and Sessions Judge of Dacca states that either an Additional District and Sessions Judge should be appointed to cope with the work or an additional Sub-Judge, vested with the powers of an Assistant Sessions Judge and empowered to hear appeals from second and third class magistrates.

We think that the appointment of a Sub-Judge, as suggested by the District and Sessions Judge, would meet the case, and this would involve an additional annual expenditure of Rs. 12,000 for the Judge. The District Judge also states that an additional sherishtadar and two clerks would be necessary. We think that these should be provided by a transfer from the staff of the Additional District Magistrate, who, whether retained or not, will be relieved of his judicial and magisterial work.

The District and Sessions Judge of Dinajpur, who is also District and Sessions Judge of Jalpaiguri and of Darjeeling, thinks that the additional work would necessitate the appointment of a whole time District and Sessions Judge for Dinajpur, and that there should be a separate whole time District and Sessions Judge for Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling. His opinion is supported by the figures which he has laid before us. We think that this demand is reasonable. Some members of the Committee think that the existing arrangement of the union of Dinajpur, Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling should be continued, and an additional Sub-Judge appointed to deal with the increase of work.

The District and Sessions Judge of Faridpur estimates that a full time extra Additional District and Sessions Judge should be appointed in view of the extra work. This estimate seems to us excessive, but we would allow an Additional District and Sessions Judge for six months annually, which would involve an approximate additional expenditure of Rs. 10,500 annually and the provision of additional accommodation at a cost of approximately Rs. 6,000.

The District and Sessions Judge of Hooghly, who is also the District and Sessions Judge of Howrah, estimates that the appointment of an Additional District and Sessions Judge for six months annually will enable the extra work of the two districts to be dealt with. He states that accommodation is available at Chinsurah. We think that there should be a separate District and Sessions Judge for each of the districts of Howrah and Hooghly. We have consulted the Additional District and Sessions Judge of Hooghly stationed at Howrah. His opinion is that a separate Judgeship can be created for Howrah without additional cost. It would probably be necessary to give him the assistance of an Additional District and Sessions Judge for three months every year to enable him to cope with the extra work involved in the separation of functions. We therefore estimate an approximate additional annual expenditure of Rs. 10,500 for the two districts, that is to say, by providing Hooghly with the assistance of an Additional District and Sessions Judge for three months every year and giving Howrah the same assistance.

The District and Sessions Judge of Jessore states that, if the arrangement is adhered to whereby the Additional District and Sessions Judge who also works at Khulna is to work at Jessore for five and a half months in the year, no additional assistance will be necessary.

Under the arrangement recommended for Dinajpur, it will be necessary to appoint a whole time District and Sessions Judge for Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling at an approximate cost of Rs. 21,000 annually for salary and Rs. 4,000 annually for establishment, taking into account the staff which will be available by transfer from the District Magistrate and from the Judge's civil establishment. This would involve the provision of additional accommodation at an approximate cost of Rs. 15,000. As already stated some members of the Committee think that the union of Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling and Dinajpur should continue, and that a Sub-Judge should be appointed to deal with the increase of work.

The District and Sessions Judge of Khulna estimates that, if the Additional District and Sessions Judge who also sits at Jessore and who in 1921 worked in Khulna for eighty-five days, sits in Khulna for an additional eighty-five days in the year, the additional work could be dealt with. This seems reasonable, and the approximate additional annual expenditure would be Rs. 7,000 (i.e., four months at Rs. 1,750).

The work at Malda is done by the District and Sessions Judge of Rajshahi, who states that he will require assistance at Malda. He thinks that a Sub-Judge with powers of an Assistant Sessions Judge should be deputed for this purpose. We think this assistance should be afforded for six months annually at a cost approximately of Rs. 6,000. Some of the Committee, however, think that it is essential to have a responsible head of the magistracy in each district and that, instead of providing an additional Sub-Judge for Rajshahi and Malda combined, a District and Sessions Judge should be appointed for Malda alone.

The District and Sessions Judge of Midnapore states that he would require the Additional District and Sessions Judge, whom he now shares with Burdwan, for the whole year. This seems reasonable and would involve an additional annual expenditure of Rs. 10,500.

The District and Sessions Judge of Murshidabad estimates that he would need the assistance of an Additional District and Sessions Judge for six months every second year. This seems reasonable and would involve an additional annual expenditure of Rs. 5,250.

The District and Sessions Judge of Mymensingh estimates that, if the Sub-Judge, vested with the powers of an Assistant Sessions Judge, who is temporarily posted to Mymensingh, is permanently retained, he could cope with the additional work. This involves no additional cost.

The District and Sessions Judge of Nadia estimates that he would require no additional assistance.

The District and Sessions Judge of Noakhali states that the Additional District and Sessions Judge, who is temporarily posted to Noakhali, should be made permanent, and also thinks that possibly a second Additional District and Sessions Judge would be required for a time. We think that the Additional District and Sessions Judge should be made permanent and this involves no additional cost.

The District and Sessions Judge of Pabna estimates that, if his suggestions as regards Bogra are carried out, no additional assistance would be necessary at Pabna.

The District and Sessions Judge of Rajshahi estimates that no additional assistance would be required if the scheme outlined above for Malda be carried out.

The District and Sessions Judge of Rangpur states that he would require an additional judicial officer to cope with the extra work but, on the figures, we think that no assistance need be given.

The District and Sessions Judge of Tippera estimates that, if the Additional District and Sessions Judge who now sits for eight months in the year be continued throughout the year, he can deal with the work. This seems reasonable and involves an additional annual expenditure of Rs. 7,000.

The District and Sessions Judge of the 24-Parganas estimates that an Additional District and Sessions Judge will be required. We think that it might be possible to deal with the increased work by the appointment of a Sub-Judge. This will cost annually Rs. 12,000, and will involve additional accommodation at a cost of approximately Rs. 15,000.

The additional expenditure accordingly involved in giving the necessary assistance to District and Sessions Judges by reason of the transfer of the District Officer's present judicial and magisterial duties amounts approximately to Rs. 1,54,750 annually, and the cost of additional buildings thereby necessitated amounts approximately to Rs. 36,000.

17. Additional District Magistrates.—In October 1921 there were Additional District Magistrates in the following districts, namely, Bakarganj, Chittagong, Dacca, Midnapore, Mymensingh, Tippera and the 24-Parganas. In Bakarganj the greater part of this officer's time is occupied in criminal work, and we think that, if separation is effected, this officer may be abolished. This will effect an annual saving of approximately Rs. 18,000 (counting the monthly salary at Rs. 1,500), but it might be necessary to give an extra Deputy Collector to assist the District Officer at an approximate cost of Rs. 6,000. The net saving would thus be Rs. 12,000.

In Chittagong three-fifths of the time of the Additional District Magistrate is occupied in criminal work, and we think that, if separation is effected, this officer may be abolished at a net annual saving of Rs. 12,000, allowing for the cost of an additional Deputy Collector at Rs. 6,000.

In Dacca three-fourths of the time of the Additional District Magistrate is occupied in criminal work, and the Commissioner of the Dacca Division, whom we examined, thought that on separation this officer might be dispensed with. Upon the figures this is so, but Dacca is a large district with the second largest city in the province as its headquarters, and we understand that difficulties might be occasioned if the officer were abolished, even if assistance were given to the District Officer by the appointment of an extra Deputy Collector. Some of us think that it might be possible on separation to abolish this officer, others think otherwise, and we have accordingly not taken into account any saving that might be effected by the abolition of this officer.

In Midnapore and Mymensingh half the time of the Additional District Magistrates is occupied in criminal work, but in these districts we think that an Additional District Officer must remain. Some members of the Committee, however, think that these officers might be dispensed with and selected Deputy Collectors appointed in their place.

In Tippera one-third of the Additional District Magistrate's time is occupied in criminal work, and we think that on separation this officer should be abolished at a net saving of Rs. 12,000, allowing an extra Deputy Collector at Rs. 6,000 to assist the District Officer.

In the 24-Parganas four-fifths of the time of the Additional District Magistrate is taken up in criminal work. The District Magistrate admits that upon the figures this officer should be abolished upon separation being effected, but he states that he cannot properly administer the district without his assistance, and that at the present time there is not sufficient inspection done of the district generally. For the purposes of this report, we assume a net saving of Rs. 12,000 annually, allowing an extra Deputy Collector to assist the District Officer. Under the head of Additional District Magistrates there will thus upon separation be a gross saving of Rs. 72,000 annually, but an increase of Rs. 24,000 annually by the provision of four Deputy Collectors, making a net saving of Rs. 48,000 annually. Some members of the Committee think that it is not necessary to allow additional Deputy Collectors in the districts of Bakarganj, Chittagong, Tippera and the 24-Parganas.

18. District headquarters.—So far as the headquarters of the districts are concerned, it will be possible to divide the existing staff between the executive and judicial branches without any considerable increase of staff. There is no doubt that the present system has great advantages so far as elasticity is concerned. Under it, when criminal work is at a low ebb for the time being on the increase, it is possible to deal with the increase by deputing for criminal work those who ordinarily devote most of their time to revenue and administrative work, and vice versa. This will no longer be possible when separation is effected, and so it is necessary, in making the division, to secure that there is an adequate staff in all branches capable in normal times of dealing with the work. In some districts this involves an increase of staff. Where for example the time at present of $2\frac{1}{2}$ officers is occupied in criminal work and that of $2\frac{1}{2}$ officers in revenue and administration work, and five officers could do the work at headquarters under the existing system, it may be necessary to have six officers, three for each branch, by reason of the separation of functions.

We have considered whether further assistance could be obtained from the Honorary Magistrates, sitting either singly or in benches. There seem a large number of them in every district (as shown in the Civil List), but we are told that their attendance with some exceptions is irregular, and that, whilst often the quality of their work is good, their irregularity of attendance, with the resulting slow disposals, makes it unlikely that any real relief can be obtained from this source. Some members of the Committee, however, think that more use could be made of Honorary Magistrates, and that the recommendation of names for appointment should come through the judicial officers or through a Committee consisting of the District and Sessions Judge, the District Officer and a representative of the local bar, and that regular attendance should be made a condition of such service, and that Honorary Magistrates should be subject to immediate removal in case of inefficiency or non-attendance.

We are not unmindful that, if division takes place, it may be possible to employ in the trial of criminal cases both Sub-Judges and Munsifs, but these officers are already fully occupied with civil work and their employment in criminal cases would necessitate an increase in their number. We have worked out in the schedules for the different districts, which accompany this report, the additional staff necessitated at district headquarters by the proposed change, showing in the first column the existing staff and the numbers of those with first, second or third class powers. In the second column we have shown the time at present occupied by them in criminal work and in the third and fourth columns the estimated staff required for the separated functions. The fifth column shows the increased staff in our opinion necessitated by the separation, and columns 6 and 7 give the increase of clerical and other staff and of buildings necessitated by the change, and the last two columns contain an estimate of the total cost which the change will necessitate recurring and non-recurring. In the remarks column we have indicated the assistance which, in our opinion, should be given to the District and Sessions Judge and the additional accommodation required.

So far as the clerical staff at headquarters is concerned, this in some districts is divided into those dealing with criminal matters and those dealing with revenue and administration. Where there is no such division, this can probably be effected without difficulty. We do not think that this should involve any considerable increase of the clerical staff. We have been told that in some districts a large increase of this staff will be necessary, but we are inclined to think that, if a spirit of accommodation is displayed, this will not be necessary. Again it is said that difficulties would occur by reason of the staff being in one room, part after division being under the control of the District Magistrate and part under that of the District Judge, and that difficulties would also occur with regard to the head clerk, and that an additional head clerk might be necessary, so that each staff might have a separate head.

Doubtless it will be better if separate accommodation be provided, but to give full effect to this would render the scheme unduly costly, and we are not convinced of the immediate necessity for this, although ultimately it may be necessary. For the present we think that it will be sufficient if the existing accommodation is re-arranged where necessary. We estimate as a round figure for the twenty-five district headquarters with which we are dealing an annual additional expenditure of Rs. 12,500 for the provision of additional clerical staff. So far as process-serving is concerned, at present the same staff under one nazir serve both criminal and revenue processes, and it is suggested that, after division of functions, this arrangement would not be satisfactory. If a division of the process-serving staff is necessary, this might be effected either by transferring the staff for the service of criminal judicial processes to the District Judge and by making the civil nazir the head of both staffs, or by dividing the staff and appointing an additional nazir. Under this head, for increase of process-servers and the provision of additional head nazirs, we would estimate as a round figure for the twenty-five district headquarters an increased annual cost of approximately Rs. 12,500.

The estimated increased cost at headquarters necessitated by the scheme is approximately Rs. 63,040 recurring (that is to say, Rs. 38,040 for personnel, Rs. 12,500 for increase of clerical staff, and Rs. 12,500 for increase of the process-serving staff), and non-recurring approximately Rs. 14,000.

19. Subdivisions.—The division of functions in the subdivisions presents some difficulty, especially in the smaller ones. In these the staff consists as a rule of one Deputy Magistrate Deputy Collector, who is the Subdivisional Officer, and of a Sub-Deputy Collector with one or more Circle Officers who tour some twenty days a month.

In the ordinary small subdivision it would be necessary, we think, to have in all cases two officers of the position of Deputy Collector, one of whom would be the Subdivisional Magistrate employed solely in judicial work, the other being the Subdivisional Officer employed solely in revenue and administration work. This would involve in small subdivisions, where there is at present a Deputy Magistrate Deputy Collector and a Sub-Deputy Magistrate Sub-Deputy Collector, the additional cost of having a Deputy Collector in place of a Sub-Deputy Collector, but this is not all. The Subdivisional Officer tours some ninety days a year, and is often ten or fifteen days away from the subdivisional headquarters. This therefore necessitates, unless the sub-treasury is to be closed during his absence, the provision of an additional Sub-Deputy Collector in each of the smaller subdivisions to open the sub-treasury in the absence of the Subdivisional Officer on tour. But for this he would not be required, and he is in some sense a redundancy necessitated by the division of functions.

We have considered if there is any way to avoid this. The Subdivisional Magistrate clearly could not perform the duty of opening the sub-treasury. He will be under the control and direction of the District Judge, with no responsibility to the Subdivisional Officer or to the District Officer. The only alternative suggested is that one or other of the Circle Officers, where there are Circle Officers, should be deputed for this duty in the absence of the Subdivisional Officer on tour, but this would partially remove the Circle Officers from the performance of the special duties for which they were appointed. Consequently in many of the smaller subdivisions, where communications are bad and where the Subdivisional Officer when touring is absent for some days from his headquarters, division of functions involves the appointment of an additional Sub-Deputy Collector, unless the Circle Officers are utilised for opening the sub-treasuries in the absence on tour of the Subdivisional Officers, and we are disposed to recommend that this latter alternative be accepted. The provision of an additional officer would also in some cases necessitate the provision of additional accommodation in the smaller subdivisions. Most subdivisional offices are already, it is stated, over crowded and cannot accommodate an additional officer. It was suggested to us in evidence that it might be possible so to re-arrange the revenue work at the district headquarters that more might be devolved on the subdivisions, so that the cost of an additional officer in the subdivision might be compensated for by a decrease of the headquarters' staff. But this involves the consideration of matters which we think are outside the scope of our enquiry and we have not pursued the matter.

A difficulty and possible increase of cost arises with regard to housing. ~~At the Subdivisional Officer is provided with a house rent-free, and it is suggested that the Subdivisional Magistrate, an officer of equal rank, will also expect a house to be provided. Mr. ... said that this in any case will be necessary owing to the difficulty in most subdivisions of finding any housing accommodation whatsoever.~~ If the Subdivisional Officer is provided with a house rent-free, the Subdivisional Magistrate must be treated on an equal footing and given a house allowance, which would involve for the fifty-four subdivisions an expenditure of approximately Rs. 32,400 annually. Some of us, however, think that both officers should pay rent for any housing accommodation which is provided. The same questions arise in the subdivisions as at headquarters with regard to the clerical staff and the service of processes, but it is not necessary to discuss this again in this connection, and we think that the combined process-serving may remain in the subdivisions as heretofore, until it is proved by experience that difficulties arise. If there is to be a separation of process-serving, this would involve the appointment of an additional nazir and possibly of additional process-servers, which we estimate approximately would involve an additional cost of say Rs. 12,500 for the subdivisions. We would add Rs. 12,500 for additional clerical assistance.

In the schedules already referred to will be found similar figures with regard to the subdivisions to those set out with regard to headquarters. We estimate the additional cost of the scheme in the subdivisions at Rs. 3,41,860 recurring and Rs. 1,03,000 non-recurring. The recurring expenditure is made up of Rs. 2,84,460 for personnel (in respect of which a saving of Rs. 63,000 could be effected if the Circle Officer opens the sub-treasury when the Subdivisional Officer is on tour) and Rs. 25,000 for extra clerical assistance and for process-servers and Rs. 32,400 for housing allowance.

20. Assistance required by the High Court by reason of the scheme.— The Committee addressed the High Court in order to ascertain whether, in their opinion, the transfer of the control and supervision of magistrates to the High Court, as recommended in paragraph 12 (f) of this report, would necessitate the provision of any additional assistance. To this enquiry the High Court replied that a large measure of additional assistance, involving considerable expenditure, would be necessary, but that they were not prepared at that time upon short notice to state what form the additional assistance should take. Accordingly it should be borne in mind, in calculating the cost of the scheme, that the cost of possible additional assistance to the High Court must be taken into account. As against this, however, must be set a possible saving to be effected in the staff of the Local Government which now deals with this work.

21. We sum up the cost of our proposals as follows :—

Recurring Expenditure.				Rs.
At headquarters—
Personnel (gazetted staff)	38,040
Additional clerical assistance	12,500
Additional process-serving staff	12,500
In subdivisions—

Additional clerical assistance	12,500
Additional process-serving staff	12,500
Housing allowance	32,400
Cost of assistance to District Judges by reason of the transfer of appeals, inspection, etc., and cost of the additional clerical staff occasioned by the creation of new District Judgeships ...				1,54,750
				5,59,650
Savings by abolition of Additional District Magistrates ...				48,000
				5,11,650
Net additional recurring cost ...				5,11,650
Savings by utilising Circle Officers for opening sub-treasuries ...				63,000
Total net recurring expenditure ...				4,48,650

Non-recurring expenditure (buildings).

	Rs.
At headquarters	14,000
In subdivisions	1,03,000
To District Judges' courts	50,000
Total non-recurring	1,53,000

The accompanying table shows how this cost is apportioned among the different districts of the province.

We desire to emphasise the fact that, although we have tried to arrive at as accurate an estimate as possible, the figures can only be regarded as approximate.

22. The thanks of the Committee are due to their Secretary, Mr. Hubert Graham, I.C.S., for his promptitude in dealing with the work and for the care and attention bestowed upon it, which have greatly lightened the labours of the Committee.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

APPOINTMENT DEPARTMENT.

CALCUTTA, THE 24th NOVEMBER 1921.

RESOLUTION—No. 13043A.

READ—

Resolution of this Government No. 6287A., dated the 19th August 1921.

UNDER the orders contained in the resolution cited, the Governor in Council appointed a committee to elaborate a practical working scheme for the separation of executive and judicial functions in the administration of Bengal and to report on the cost thereof. This committee, which was presided over by the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Greaves, commenced its sitting in the beginning of November 1921 and concluded its labours towards the end of the following January, when the report was submitted to Government. In order that the report might be placed before the public with the considered views of Government, the Governor in Council consulted the local officers on the scheme formulated in the report and on the estimate of cost framed by the committee, and the views of the High Court, which is obviously closely concerned with any scheme of this kind, were also invited. As the delay thus incurred is longer than was anticipated, His Excellency in Council is pleased to order the publication of the report for present information. Owing to considerations of economy the appendices to the report have not been printed.

2. The Governor in Council desires to take this opportunity of acknowledging the services rendered by the President, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Greaves, and by the members of the committee. The thanks of Government are also due to the Hon'ble the Chief Justice for having made the services of Mr. Justice Greaves available in the present connection.

ORDER.—Ordered that the resolution together with the report be published in the Gazette and that copies be forwarded to the principal newspapers and representative associations in Bengal.

Ordered also that copies of the report be forwarded to selected officers and departments of Government whom the report may concern.

By order of the Governor in Council,

A. CASSELLS,

Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

Secretary to the Government of Bengal (off.).

CHAPTER I.

Introduction.

1. Orders.—The orders of Government extending the deputation of the Special Officer for Primary Education in Bengal after the receipt of his report in 1921 were general in character. Certain provisional conclusions had been arrived at by Government and it had become necessary to put them to a practical test in an experimental fashion in order to discover whether the suggested scheme could be applied widely in the municipal and rural areas of Bengal. It is to be noted that an examination of the question of the education of girls was not included within the scope of the duties of the Special Officer. Calcutta also remained outside the sphere of his activities, though he was subsequently appointed a member of the Primary Education Committee for the city.

2. Summary of the last (1921) Report.—Before proceeding to new matter it would seem to be advisable to summarize the contents of the last "Report on the Expansion and Improvement of Primary Education in Bengal" in order to indicate the nature of the problem to be attacked and the general character of the principles and methods suggested for its solution.

3. The problem was found to be but one phase of a very large and complex social problem involving the feeding and clothing of the people, the enlightening of their minds, and the setting free of their lives. The dangers of widespread literacy were examined in detail, but were found to be inconsiderable as compared with the dangers and disadvantages of a continuance of an almost universal ignorance. This was shown to be true whether the question was approached from the point of view of mere human enlightenment, of political advance, or of economic progress.

4. The history of what has been done in the past was examined and its value estimated. The continuous existence of two antagonistic policies was traced, and the possibility of their reconciliation and unification at the present time demonstrated. A comparison of existing conditions in primary education in Bengal with those obtaining in certain other provinces attracted so much attention that it has been thought worth while to reproduce paragraphs 49 and 50 of the 1921 report with "Tables I, II, III and IV" as Appendix A of this report.

5. The existing confusion in the classification of children and schools was made manifest in a tabular comparison of the system in vogue in Eastern and Western Bengal, and proposals for the organisation of a simple and complete, though elastic, national system of schools were offered for consideration. These proposals are reproduced in diagrammatic form as the frontispiece of this report. It was also suggested that primary and middle schools and the lower departments of high schools should be brought into order as the constituents of a national system of elementary schools which should be placed under separate management, so that they should not suffer from neglect.

6. The failure of the existing primary schools was made clear, their inefficiency being traced among other causes to their faulty distribution, to the lack of premises and equipment of their own, but above all to the low qualifications and miserable pay of the teachers, whose emoluments from the schools under private management outside Calcutta average about Rs. 7-8-0 per month and in Calcutta about Rs. 10-8-0 per month.

7. The remedy was stated to lie in a reorganisation of the whole system in the light of certain definite principles:—

(a) The Proper Distribution of Schools.—The schools at present cluster and compete where teachers can secure fees, other areas being left unprovided. In the new system each municipal or union area is to be mapped out, the parts that are uninhabited owing to the existence of water, cultivation, jungle, or other causes, being shaded in the map and then left out of account. The populated areas are then to be covered with circles of half a mile radius, a publicly-managed school being placed at the centre of each such "school area." The result would be that each household would have a good permanent school within half a mile in the direct line, and there would be no mutually debilitating competition between schools in the same locality. All the funds that can be made available in the locality are to be concentrated in the recognised school which is to be developed to the highest point possible within the limits of the elementary system.

(b) The Concentration of the Children.—Within each half mile "school area" will be found a certain number of boys of primary school age. When the time comes for compulsion to be enforced these will all have to enter the school, but in the meantime they will form a rough guide as to the size of the school building. If 400 boys are found within the circle it will be safe to arrange for the accommodation of 300, if the number is only 65 a school for 50 will be built. The schools being truly national it is hoped that children of all classes and creeds will be able to attend them, provision being made in parallel sections of classes for the special needs of each community. The larger the schools up to a limit of 300 boys, the greater will be the economy and efficiency with which they can be conducted.

(c) Popularization.—The schools are to provide the teaching that is needed and desired by the people of the locality. For instance, Muhammadan boys will be taught their prayers and the Holy Koran, while Hindu boys receive instruction in their great classics such as the Mahabharata and the Ramayana. In the same way, wherever possible, some elementary English will be taught if the people desire it.

(d) Co-ordination.—As the schools become established on these lines they will take part in a public primary school examination which is much desired by the people. The pros and cons of this question are set out in last year's Report in paragraphs 65–69. Through this examination they will be linked with schools for giving more advanced instruction—(i) on the cultural, and (ii) on the vocational sides (vide frontispiece). These higher schools will be organised in a way that will best serve the largest possible population, and so as to give the best boys every chance of developing their powers to the full for the benefit of their people.

8. It is hoped that it will be possible to make the new system free from school-fees the collection of which gives so much trouble to teachers, and the income from which, though small, keeps away from the schools a large number of promising boys. It is not expected, however, that it will be possible to make primary education free and compulsory everywhere all at once, but that progress will follow four steps, one or more of which may be omitted in advancing localities:—

- (i) The present plan of private enterprise in which the schools are assisted by grants and largely supported by fees.
- (ii) A system of public (Union Board or Municipal) control, the teachers being paid fixed salaries, and the fees collected by the public authority.
- (iii) A system of public control, the schools being free and the teachers being paid from public funds.
- (iv) A system of public control, the schools being free and attendance at them compulsory for all boys of primary school age.

9. The question of the training of teachers was discussed and certain proposals made for reform. This is a technical matter that need not be entered into again in detail, but it is desirable to emphasize one point in connexion with it. The pay of primary school teachers is so low that the work is, generally speaking, attracting a class of man who is not worth training, and money is being wasted on men and institutions that do not repay their cost. Until teachers are paid a living wage which will attract passably good men, it seems to be futile to spend money on men who either will not stick to their profession, or who are incapable of doing its work satisfactorily.

10. The fundamental and difficult question of finance was dealt with in last year's Report. As it has to be taken up again this year no object will be served by summarizing last year's proposals here.

11. Three remaining points deserve consideration: A—the curriculum of the schools, B—their grading and C—the possibility of finding an easier script, so as to lighten and shorten the labour of learning to read and write for children who cannot hope to have more than a very few years at school.

12. A—The Curriculum.—A new primary school curriculum has been issued by the Department of Public Instruction and is to come into force in certain districts in 1923. For this the Special Officer has no responsibility and claims no credit. It appears to him that a curriculum of this kind should merely indicate standards that are to be attained in each subject at each stage of the classification of children the details being left to be worked out by local education authorities. A short departmental manual should also be issued with a view to giving guidance in school management, including the drawing up of time-tables, etc., and in appropriate methods of teaching various subjects.

13. B—The Grading of Schools.—It does not appear that the same curriculum can be prescribed for all grades of primary schools. Some of these are primitive pathshalas and maktabs, with ill-paid, ignorant and ill-qualified teachers, while others are in the hands of well-qualified and enthusiastic teachers of a high standard of ability. It appears that three grades of primary school should be recognized. All should at first be placed in the lowest grade and should have a chance of proving themselves fit to be placed in the second or the first grade by the excellence of their work. There should be some extra grant paid by Government to teachers of the higher grades, for this would form an incentive for inducing teachers to raise the standard of their school without throwing an additional burden on local authorities who otherwise might be tempted to keep their schools at a low standard of efficiency in order to avoid expense.

14. C—An Alternative Script.—One of the important causes of the failure of the children to make rapid progress in the early days of their education is the difficulty and complexity of the Bengali script. It was referred to in paragraph 144 of last year's Report. This is a very delicate question, but it has been agitated of late in various ways by people of very different views and in widely different parts of India. There is no question of abandoning the traditional Bengali script, but of authorizing the use of a simpler script as an alternative for those whose school days are likely to be limited in number. In an interesting booklet, called "Typewriter Bengali," an anonymous author has made an attempt to solve the problem. With his permission a sketch of his project is given in the next paragraph and in Appendix B.

15. In Appendix B (a) will be found a comparison of—(i) the number of symbols that a child has to read and write in ordinary Bengali (viz., over 500), and (ii) the number (viz., 24) under the suggested system. The author shows how the writing of these letters can be taught as, based on three pairs of quite simple forms [vide Appendix B (b)] which can be very rapidly acquired. He claims that, since the symbols are merely substituted for existing Bengali letters, the ordinary primary school teacher could easily and rapidly learn the new system and teach it in his traditional fashion. This will be found to be the case by a reference to Appendix B (c) which is a summary of the whole system with its Bengali equivalents. A child who had learned Bengali on this system would have made long strides towards the reading and writing of English. An additional advantage claimed for the proposed script is that Bengali can be written in it on any existing typewriter without the alteration of a single key or letter.

16. Resolution No. 1284 Edn., dated 2nd July 1921, of the Government of Bengal.—After examining the Report, the Government of Bengal were pleased to have it printed in English and in Bengali. About 10,000 copies were distributed to public bodies of various kinds, to the press, and to interested individuals. At the same time a Resolution was issued drawing attention to the salient features of the report and inviting criticisms and constructive suggestions. The Resolution is printed as Appendix C of this Report for ready reference.

17. Opinions.—Considering the importance of the subject and the interest that is generally professed in it, the number of replies that have been received is disappointing. The reception of the Report by the press of all shades of political opinion was on the whole decidedly favourable to the scheme, and in some cases enthusiastic in its praise. The other opinions received have been of the same character. That of His Excellency Lord Ronaldsby has been printed on the cover of this Report with his approval. It is perhaps permissible to quote the kind words of a leading businessman of Bengal. Sir Rajendra Nath Mukherjee says: "Allow me to congratulate you on the good work you are doing for the primary education of Bengal." Sir Deva Prasad Sarvadhikary, late Vice-Chancellor of Calcutta University, has been good enough to write: "I congratulate you on your splendid work and wish you all success." Raja Reshee Case Law, as representing the 24 Parganas District Board, has expressed his views at length. They are printed as Appendix D to the Report. The Joint Honorary Secretary of the British Indian Peoples Association writes, "My Association holds that no further time should be lost in initiating so beneficial a scheme, which should command the hearty support of all those concerned," and this appears to be the general opinion, provided a solution can be found to the financial difficulty.

18. Practically no criticism has been levelled against the principles laid down in the Report, or against the methods suggested for putting them into practice. No charge of extravagance has been brought against the details or the total of either the capital or the recurring expenditure proposed and.

though the Special Officer has, since the publication of his last Report, been compelled to agree to a diminution of the expenditure proposed under several heads, this has been because the money cannot at present be found for effecting what have been recognised as the just claims of the original proposals

19. The problem that has to be faced by the people of Bengal in regard to primary education is now brought within the range of the comprehension of any one who cares to look into the matter. The minimum cost of a moderately efficient system has been determined, and has been stated in exact figures for every municipality and for more than 200 unions in the Province. It can be stated without great additional labour for any other area of which the authorities are keen enough to desire the information. It is hoped that this will become clear during a perusal of the remaining chapters of this Report.

CHAPTER II.

What Has Been Done, and its Lessons.

20. Municipal and Rural Divisions of the Work.—The work connected with the expansion and improvement of primary education falls, with increasing distinctness, into two well marked divisions. The first is that of organizing the municipal areas, the second that of developing the new system in the village unions in the mufassal. The former is a clearly defined enterprise of limited extent which is easily realizable in terms of possible finance. Unfortunately the number of people who reside in the municipalities constitutes but a very small fraction of the population of the country as a whole. Nevertheless it is of great importance that primary education in the municipalities should be placed upon a sound basis, for they should prove to be widely distributed centres from which light and leading should spread to the surrounding rural areas. The latter is an immense undertaking, the bounds of which at present defy exact specification and the financial implications of which can only be dimly ascertained by calculations from averages, and cannot be fully met for many years to come even if we take the most moderate reckoning of the necessities of the case.

21. Sacrifice and Effort Needed.—This need not be a matter for discouragement, for it took Britain more than a quarter of a century to develop her system of free primary schools, and she only succeeded, after a stern struggle, about 25 years ago. It is evident, however, that if Bengal is to make up for lost time she will be called upon not only to make the strenuous effort that England made but also to accomplish the work more quickly. A great constructive essay is plainly necessary, and this will call for real hard work and self-sacrifice on the part of all classes of the people.

22. The Municipalities (omitting Calcutta).—Detailed schemes showing the capital (i.e., for sites, buildings, and equipment), and recurring (i.e., for staff, contingencies, repairs, and rent, if any) cost of making complete provision for all boys of primary school age who are likely to attend free primary schools voluntarily when they are opened, have now been drawn up for every municipality (i.e., 116) in Bengal. These schemes, specimens of which are given on pages xii, xiii, and xvi of the Appendices of the last Report, were set out on a form, accompanied by a map showing the extent of the proposed school areas and the position of each of the central schools. They were explained by a covering letter, and were sent to the municipal authorities for consideration, and, if thought desirable, amendment. Copies were also sent to the District Deputy Inspector of Schools, to the District Magistrate, and to the Divisional Commissioner, so that all concerned should be in a position to assist in the matter if they so desired.

23. Notes on the present position in regard to these schemes will be found in Appendix E to this Report. It is, therefore, enough to say here that about half the municipalities have not made any reply; that seven have definitely declined to proceed with the scheme, principally on the ground that they are unable to find the funds from their ordinary resources, and dare not levy a special education cess under the Bengal Primary Education Act of 1919; that eleven have conditionally accepted the schemes, but on terms that made it impossible for the Special Officer to recommend their acceptance to Government; that seven have accepted the scheme, but postponed carrying it out till better times come; that fifteen have accepted the scheme in part, i.e., they were willing to make a commencement without necessarily committing themselves to the whole scheme; that sixteen have completely accepted the scheme. The details of some of these last schemes are being settled while some have been sent to Government for sanction and some have been sanctioned.

24. It is worth while mentioning here the following cases in which private benefactors have made offers of help with the schemes:—

- (a) The Rajah of Hestampore has offered the capital cost of the Suri (Birbhum) scheme if the municipality will find half the recurring cost.

- (b) Sir Rajendra Nath Mukherjee has contributed a site and Rs. 2,000 which is half the capital cost of one school at Basirhat, is giving half the monthly recurring cost of the school.
- (c) A private gentleman has given Rs. 500 towards one of the schools in the South Suburban Municipality.
- (d) The "sixanna" Santosh estate has offered Rs. 1,375 towards the capital cost of the Tangail scheme.
- (e) Mr. S. B. Dey has offered Rs. 20,000 towards the cost of a site, as well as two complete buildings in Calcutta, one for 300 boys and the other for 300 girls.
- (f) Professor N. N. Gangulee has offered Rs. 150 per annum towards the recurring cost of a school in Behala, and the Y. M. C. A. have guaranteed Rs. 300 per annum more for the same school.

25. The Proportion of Government Aid in Municipalities.—All these schemes were sent out on the basis of the challenge of the Hon'ble Minister for Education that Government would meet any local effort on a half-and-half basis. Some municipalities are undoubtedly hesitating in the hope that they may secure from Government a higher proportion of the cost of the scheme, while others take the view that the Provincial Government should undertake the whole cost of primary education, both capital and recurring.

26. Methods of Providing for Capital Expenditure in Municipalities.—One of the great difficulties that has been encountered has been that of finding money for the capital expenditure. The following methods of finance have been suggested to the municipalities:—

- (a) Gifts.—Pious and benevolent capitalists may be found to offer the whole or one-half of the cost of the entire scheme, or of individual schools in it. There is no doubt that a free primary school would form an excellent monument to any person whom it was desired to honour.
- (b) Investment.—Such persons may be found who desire to use their money in this way, but who feel that they cannot afford to alienate it altogether from their families and that they cannot afford to give up altogether the income they derive from its use. It has been suggested that, in order to meet such capitalists, Government should pay for the sites and the equipment of the schools, and should offer rent for buildings erected at the rate of 6 per cent. on their value plus whatever might be needed for a sinking fund for the repayment of the capital in (say) 30 years. By this plan a rich man would secure on earth a sound Government guaranteed investment without the risk of paper depreciation, and, no doubt, unlimited credit in heaven for his good deed!
- (c) Loans.—The third proposal was that the municipality should borrow from Government one-half of the capital required and should add to its recurring expenditure the cost of the interest and sinking fund, and that Government should make a grant of the other half of the money. Most municipalities appear to be very much afraid of entering upon loan transactions of this kind, but there is certainly great justification for dividing the capital cost with posterity for whose benefit it is undertaken, even if posterity may perchance declare that it was not consulted upon, and does not approve of the nature of the scheme.
- (d) Programmes.—Lastly, programmes spreading the work of building over two or more years have been devised in such a way that the capital cost decreases from the first year onwards, while the recurring cost naturally increases as the new schools are opened. Government paying half, the cost to the municipality can be covered by a cess, the amount of which is generally somewhat larger than that required for the ordinary recurring cost of the scheme. The disadvantage of this plan is that, while all the ratepayers pay the cess from the beginning, some of them have to wait two or more years before their own particular school is ready. This is counterbalanced to a large extent by the fact that the building programme is 'usually of only a few years' duration, and when it has ended the town finds itself in possession of its buildings without debt, and in a position to reduce the education cess. Details of these proposals for each municipality will be found in Appendix L(b) at the end of this Report.

27. In spite of the noble efforts of a small number of municipalities to adopt one or another of these alternatives as shown in Appendix F, it has to be admitted that none of them can, at present, be regarded as meeting all the difficulties of the situation. Some municipalities demand that Government should pay the whole of the capital cost, some three quarters and some two-thirds of it. If primary education really is to be made universal, Government will have to face the question as to what is to be done, and come to a decision. The situation can be met either—(a) by compelling the local bodies to find half the cost in one way or another, or (b) by providing the whole, or a very large proportion of the cost themselves, at any rate for the poorer municipalities.

28. The difficulty of the first alternative is to provide a penalty that will fit a refusal to raise the money. The only penalty that seems possible would be the suppression of the municipality by Government, and it hardly seems to be right to destroy local-government in order to establish primary education. The financial implications of the latter alternative are discussed in Chapter IV of this Report.

29. It should be borne in mind that if these schemes are to be financed from loans the buildings will have to be of a more permanent character than need otherwise be the case. This will be evident when it is realized that the loans will not be repaid for 25 or 30 years which is longer than the life of any but pucca buildings. This makes the initial cost much higher than that at first contemplated, though a good deal of money would be saved in the long run in repairs and rebuilding as compared with cutch buildings. Critics who inveigh against the "building of palaces" and so on would do well to give due weight to considerations of this kind. We cannot at present get enough money from current revenue for buildings, even the most cutch buildings. Surely, it is better in the circumstances to build from loans and have better and more lasting school houses in the municipalities.

30. Methods of providing for Recurring Expenditure in Municipalities.—If the question of the capital expenditure could be answered, a good many municipalities would summon up courage to face their share of the recurring cost of the scheme. This can be done in several ways:

(a) Endowment.—The best way would be to secure from benefactors permanent endowments, either for individual schools or for the scheme as a whole.

(b) Fees and Municipal Grants.—In case it is thought to be impossible to proceed at once to free education, it is possible in some places to make free a certain proportion of the seats, and to charge fees from the rest of the children. These fees should be collected by the municipality and not by the teachers. They should be supplemented by sufficiently increased municipal funds. The teachers could then be paid fixed salaries regularly. Two advantages accrue from the fee system—(i) the people understand the paying of fees, and (ii) they suit the middle class who get directly by this means what they pay for. Unfortunately, this customary method has not proved adequate for the building of a national system of primary education, and the very poor cannot pay fees.

(c) Increased Municipal Rates.—In some cases it will be most convenient to find the money merely by raising the existing municipal rates. As ratepayers in municipalities are charged neither a road cess, nor a police tax, as they are in rural areas, this should not be impossible in some places. This method provides the municipality with an adequate fixed income for educational purposes and avoids the trouble of deciding on fee exemptions and of collecting fees. If this method is adopted a sufficient percentage should be fixed for educational expenditure.

(d) An Education Cess.—The opposition to the levy of a special cess is principally founded on the general objection to new taxation of any kind, but it is also thought by some that an additional new tax will cause greater resentment than the mere addition of a percentage to existing well-established rates. This is at least to some extent counterbalanced by the greater willingness of people to pay directly for education than for a general fund (concerning the expenditure of which they are often suspicious), especially when they realize that they are to escape all payment of fees and to receive a better class of education for their boys than has been possible in the past. The willingness to pay a special cess may also be regarded as the acid test of the sincerity of protestations regarding the value attached to free primary education, and to mass education. Further, a parent who has got to pay one or two annas a month whether his son Gopal goes to school or not is much more likely to see that the said Gopal attends regularly than if his going involves the payment of a fee as well as the loss of the boy's labour.

(e) A Tax on Shopkeepers.—It has been suggested that the difficulty would be met by levying a tax on a special class like shopkeepers that would produce the full amount needed for the schemes. The shopkeepers would then raise their prices and all would pay for the scheme without knowing they were doing so!

32. The Rural Areas.—During the course of the year certain changes were made in rural areas in the direction of local self-government. In some districts some of, and in others, all the old panchayet and union committees gave place to union boards with greatly extended powers of taxation and of making improvements in sanitation, transport, education, etc. Unfortunately, owing to mischievous political propaganda claiming to be directed towards fuller self-government, these steps towards actual swaraj were misrepresented to, and misunderstood by, the masses of the people. This was so markedly the case that in one district at least the operation of the Village Self-Government Act of 1919 had to be suspended almost entirely. It is to be supposed that politicians of extreme views who have now avowedly entered upon a constructive programme which includes the education of the masses, will realize that, as one of the Mills said, the power of willing co-operation is the test and measure of civilization, and that every pice, and every grain of energy and patriotic ardour that can be expended will not be too much to bring about the result which they desire in common with their more moderate fellow citizens.

32. District Board Experiments.—Seeing how little favourable was the time for new taxation proposals in the Unions, the District Boards were asked to consider whether they were prepared to finance experimental schemes in selected union areas by paying in full the local half share of the recurring expenses. The object of the experiments was to test the organization that had been proposed by the Special Officer, to see whether the estimates were well-founded, to discover whether the right kind of teacher could be obtained for the salaries proposed, and to accustom the people to free primary education for all, so that, when the experimental stage was successfully passed, they would be in a position intelligently to decide whether it was worth while paying a small education cess or not. Such experiments are bringing the question of free primary education down from the heated realm of popular political oratory to the more prosaic and testing ground of actual fact and experience.

33. The following District Boards, which make up much more than half the total number, took up the matter and agreed to find the capital cost of the projects out of the funds placed at their disposal by Government in connexion with the "panchayeti union school scheme," as well as to find one-half of the recurring cost from their own resources, if Government would make a grant equal to the other half :—

34. Khulna District Board.—During the financial year 1922-23, it should be possible to put the whole matter to a searching test in this fashion. In the meantime, the Khulna District Board, the pioneer in this matter, had got to work during 1921-22 and had built and equipped what was practically a full complement of schools in each of the three Union Board areas of (a) Tala, (b) Baruli, and (c) Bagerhat. A full report on each of these schemes will be found among the notes on individual opinions in Appendix F. Great credit is due to Mr. Amritlal Raha, Rai Bahadur, Chairman, and Mr. Jatindranath Ghosh, Vice-Chairman of the Khulna District Board, for their initiative in devising the scheme and for their hard work in getting it put to a practical test in the face of immense difficulties. For it will be remembered that in addition to ordinary obstacles to progress, Khulna was last year the scene of serious vicissitudes in fortune caused by famine or at any rate a great shortage of the necessaries of life. Experience has much fruit still to offer to us in this matter, but the results of even the first year's work are such as to give great encouragement.

35. Hooghly District.—The year 1921-22 was also marked by the work Union Boards, the District Board, and Government are in possession of facts ing out in detail of schemes for every union in the Hooghly District so that the and figures which will enable them either to abandon the hope of universal free primary education or to press on with and establish it as an actual fact throughout one of the districts of Bengal. The financial side of the question is dealt with in Chapter IV of this Report.

36. Birbhum District.—The District Board of Birbhum was so much impressed with the possibilities of the scheme, and by the example of Hooghly that they passed a resolution asking Government to have all the Unions in their district worked out in the same way. One of the difficulties to be anticipated in this venture is the scattered nature of the population in these parts. Mr. A. C. Banerjee, the enlightened and energetic Chairman of the Board, has taken a great interest in the scheme and is finding funds for three years from his own pocket for the local share of his own Union Board area.

37. Union Board Schemes.—Specimen detailed schemes have been worked out in all the districts of Bengal, as well as all those in the complete District of Hooghly. In all 204 such schemes are now ready. The financial side of the matter is dealt with in Chapter IV. Only a few Union authorities have yet been able to face the levy of a cess for producing their half of the recurring expenditure. Negotiations are still in progress in several cases. A copy of a letter from an enlightened President of a Union Board is printed as Appendix G of this Report in order to show the nature of the difficulties that have to be cleared up by patient and necessarily slow negotiations and propaganda work.

38. Benefactors in Rural Areas.—It is only right to mention here the names of benefactors, apart from those who have given sites, who have come forward with offers of help to relieve the financial difficulty in rural areas :—

- (a) The Raja of Hetampore has offered a building for a school in his Union.
- (b) Khan Sahib Haji Hafecz Muhammad Hossain of Zinzira Union Dacca, has given a site and Rs. 6,250 in cash towards the capital cost of a scheme for his Union, and has guaranteed an endowment of Rs. 1,200 per annum towards the recurring cost.

- (c) Rai A. C. Banerjee Bahadur, Chairman of the Birbhum District Board, has guaranteed one-half of the recurring cost of the scheme in his own Union from his private purse.
- (d) Dr. J. C. Ghosh of Dacca University has promised Rs. 205 per annum for five years for a school at Ghargohal (Bhangamora).
- (e) Golap Chandra Hera has promised Rs. 60 per annum for a school at Shapur and has agreed to its being realised with the Union rate.
- (f) Mr. S. C. Basu has promised half the capital and recurring costs of a school at Jangalbadhal.

Other examples will be found in Appendix F.

It is expected that when the appeal has been understood and its meaning for Bengal appreciated, there will be a very great number of similar offers.

39. Method of Providing for Capital Expenditure in Unions.—The schemes have been worked out financially, as in the municipalities, under the two broad divisions of—(a) capital, and (b) recurring cost. The expenditure under the former falls under the heads—(i) sites, (ii) buildings, and (iii) equipment.

40. Sites.—In almost every case it has been thought reasonable that sites should be given free by the people of the locality, and to this they generally agree, though difficulties sometimes arise—(i) through people offering useless land far from the real centres of population, or (ii) through undue pressure being brought to bear upon poor men whose land is already very small, and who find it hard to resist the demand though quite unwilling to part with even half a bigha.

41. Buildings and Equipment.—The buildings which it is intended to erect are of the simplest character, and such as can be repaired with local materials by the people themselves. They are to have mud plinths, mud or mat walls, and thatched roofs. It is expected that the people will give some labour and local materials, but it is generally not possible to secure sufficient actual cash for the necessities of the case, even though the sum required is small. It is clear so far as most districts are concerned that if Rs. 300 is given for posts, doors, windows, etc., quite a good building, measuring 14 x 25 feet with a 6 foot verandah along the south side, can be erected for 50 boys. Rupees 450 has been allowed for a school of 100, and Rs. 600 for a school of 150 boys. An allowance at the rate of Rs. 2 per boy has been made for equipment, i.e., tables, chairs, blackboards, maps, etc., the children being expected to sit on mats on the floor.

42. There seems to be no alternative but to suggest that the whole of the actual money payment for capital costs should be met by Government, or by the district boards with funds placed at their disposal by Government. The financial meaning of this is discussed in Chapter IV.

43. Method of Providing for the Recurring Cost of the Scheme.—The recurring cost of the scheme falls under the heads of—(i) staff, (ii) contingencies, including cleaning, etc., (iii) repairs, and (iv) rent (if any). Of these the cost under (i) staff is, of course, by far the heaviest. A close examination of existing conditions has shown that with the best intentions in the world the Union authorities find it very difficult, indeed we may say impossible, to raise continuously year by year one-half of the recurring cost of the schemes by fees and voluntary contributions, even when the latter are promised in moments of enthusiasm. Moreover, it would be unwise and even dangerous in some places to make any attempt to levy an additional tax just now, even if it were an education cess devoted wholly to the primary schools. The difficulties in the way are discussed later on in this chapter, but the facts are undoubtedly as stated.

44. Local Contribution.—We are thus confronted with the grave question as to what is to be done. Should the principle of a local contribution from the Unions be abandoned? The answer is that at present there are over 47,000 primary schools in Bengal. If Government were to undertake the entire cost of these and paid only one teacher in each at the meagre rate of

Rs. 20 per month, the resulting monthly bill would be (Rs. 20 \times 47,000 =) Rs. 9,40,000, or Rs. 1,12,80,000 per annum, an impossible sum at present. In the end we should not have secured much greater efficiency, if any, and almost no expansion, and yet we should have wasted the substantial aggregate sum that is now collected in fees, etc. The willingness of people to make a local payment has a great value as a means of selecting suitable areas for prior development till sufficient funds become available for the whole of Bengal.

45. It may be argued that Government ought rather to help the backward areas where education is not appreciated than to offer funds where the people are rich and enlightened enough to be able to pay at least something themselves. The reply to this is that all the areas in Bengal, not excluding Calcutta, are deplorably backward, and that the light is more likely to be useful and to spread quickly if it is thoroughly kindled in a comparatively few places where the materials are good, than if it flickers feebly in a great number where it has but little support. With the limited funds at the disposal of Government the best plan will be to spend money where it will produce the maximum effect in the shortest time.

46. If, then, a special tax cannot at present be collected in rural areas, and if it is impossible for Union authorities conscientiously to give a safe guarantee, or for Government to accept one that is in its nature unsafe, it appears that the only course open to Government is to take steps of a generous character in selected areas within the means that are at their disposal.

47. A Proposed Advance towards a Solution.—What is suggested here is that District Boards should be called upon to make proposals for the expansion and improvement of primary education in the whole or in selected unions of their particular areas. Those districts putting forward the best proposals from the educational and financial standpoints should be first selected. An offer should then be made to the people of the unions in the selected districts saying that those who accept the principles of the new organization, and the actual project for their own area, and who will undertake honourably to do the greatest possible amount towards their share of the cost will be given preference in the establishment and maintenance of the necessary schools.

48. When the schemes have been worked out in detail Government might then give to the union authority their half share of the total cost of the scheme without exacting precise conditions regarding the provision by the union of a specified amount by means of a cess or otherwise. This would enable the people to open the schools and to guarantee to the teachers in an absolute manner as a nucleus of pay the amount of the Government contribution. It would then be open to the union and district authorities to levy a cess, or to collect fees or subscriptions as might prove to be possible. Even if the amount so raised did not exceed that now collected, the schools would be much better off than in the past owing to the increased Government contribution, while they would be far better distributed, housed and staffed. In this way a school of 50 boys that, in the complete scheme, should have been staffed by two teachers on Rs. 20 and Rs. 10, or a total of Rs. 30 per month, would be able to guarantee (from Government funds) Rs. 15 to one teacher together with whatever might be collected locally. The same sort of arrangement would apply to schools of larger size. The union and district authorities would at the same time have a perfectly definite statement before them, indicating the nature and extent of their educational and financial responsibilities, towards the fulfilment of which every anna they could afford from public or private funds could be set aside. This elastic arrangement should be permitted during an experimental period extending over about three years, at the end of which time each union should have its proportionate contribution definitely fixed according to its available resources.

49. District Board Circulating Funds.—In paragraphs 32--37 above, reference has been made to experimental schemes conducted by District Boards. These experiments are limited to a period of three to five years, during which time free primary education will be established in the selected unions. At the end of that time these union boards will find themselves in possession of the machinery, buildings, etc., of the scheme, and will be in a position to decide whether to go on to the levy of a cess for continuing the advantages obtained or to go back to fees and contributions. The funds used by the district board for the purpose of giving free primary education in a particular union could then be offered to another union in the same way. By this plan of the slow circulation of a comparatively small amount of money all the unions in a district would gradually experience free primary education for a limited period of years, and would have the choice of carrying it on by their own efforts after that, or of taking the responsibility of giving it up in favour of a fee system.

50. Propaganda.—An enormous amount of wise propaganda work is needed throughout Bengal. The Special Officer's small staff worked hard while preparing the municipal and union board schemes in order to get the people to comprehend and appreciate the nature of the proposals. They were successful to a very large extent in spite of the contrary efforts of non-co-operators, but their number was very small and they were lost in the vastness of Bengal. It is necessary to train first all the District Inspectors, and then their subordinate staff, in the requirements of the new scheme. Good work was done orally as well as through the printing press in certain districts by the combined efforts of the Collector, the District Board members, and the educational officers. A specimen of a Bengali notice (translated) that was issued in the Faridpur District is printed as Appendix H of this report.

51. The wide distribution of the last Report had a great effect in arousing interest and stimulating discussion. A very wide correspondence, the issue of detailed schemes, lectures, private conversations, discussions with local bodies added their weight. All this needs to be organised and pressed on with vigour wherever it is intended to make a real assault on the citadels of ignorance. It was a pity that the sanction of schemes sent in was, for various reasons, long delayed, so that the effect of pointing to actual schemes in being was unfortunately lost.

52. The Bengal Primary Education Act of 1919.—This was printed as an Appendix to the last Report, and has now been amended to permit of its application to union boards, as well as municipalities and union committees. When Government have definitely decided upon their policy in primary and other grades of education, it may be found to be necessary to amend or recast this Act, or to introduce a comprehensive law for Bengal.

53. Difficulties Experienced.—Much of the difficulty experienced in getting local bodies to come to a decision in favour of vigorous action is due to the reluctance of many members even to appear at meetings called to consider primary education and its finance. Further, the people, and even the members of the local bodies, not excluding municipalities, are unaccustomed to devising or constructively criticising schemes involving public finance. Too much is left to one or two men in constructing schemes, and too little in carrying them out. Many members of local bodies seem to have difficulty in such a simple thing as distinguishing capital from recurring expenditure! The discussions in meetings also tend to wander from point to point in an inconclusive manner, and the subjects of the curriculum are sometimes being debated by one half of the meeting while the price of sites is an object of interest to the other half. Even when a matter is "settled" a long correspondence is often necessary to clear up quite elementary questions.

54. Another difficulty arises from a real, if temporary, enthusiasm which can be aroused in a good cause without much difficulty, and which often results in promises which fail to materialise when the time comes, though given in perfectly good faith at the time. These are particularly embarrassing because it is insulting to doubt them when given, yet they throw everything back by necessitating the re-opening of negotiations from the start. Again, the local bodies sometimes do not command the confidence of the people who appear to feel that the money raised in taxes sometimes tends to disappear in the forwarding of interests which are not common to the whole community. For instance, the people of one of the villages constituting a small municipality told the Special Officer, in reference to the water-supply which had been laid on in the principal village—"The pleaders drink the good water and we pay the taxes."

55. There is also the almost universal and deep rooted objection to taxation of any kind without examination of its character or the possible benefits that might arise from it. This is partly due to actual poverty, as explained in the last Report, but also to other causes. To this mental tendency to negation much of the success of the non-co-operation movement is perhaps due. A negative attitude towards a suggested course of action is easy and appears safe, and can be made to feel religious for a time at least, but must end in a failure to advance and to overcome the present discontents. The later doctrines of "non-co-operators" urging upon the people the value of constructive work are finding practical acceptance less easy. It is to be hoped that all will join together in a truly constructive effort for the enlightenment of the masses and the provision of schools for all the people of Bengal.

CHAPTER III.

Some Special Problems: A—Darjeeling; B—Calcutta; C—Mills, Factories, and Cantonments.

56. A—Darjeeling.—The problem of primary education in the hills is special in character for reasons of race and religion, as well as on account of climatic and geographical conditions. The Scottish Mission is doing a very great work in organizing and supervising the schools, and in training teachers. Other religious agencies are accountable for minor developments. In the absence of additional funds it has not been found possible as yet suitably to increase the pay of the teachers of the primary schools, though this is very necessary if good men are to be attracted to the work. There is a great tendency for men of ability to leave the rural areas and to find remunerative and attractive work in Darjeeling, Kurseong, and Kalimpong. For this reason, although living is undoubtedly cheaper in the country, the scale of pay, when revised, should be the same for town and country. It has been suggested that a suitable standard of pay would be—

- (i) Trained men Rs. 20—1—40,
- (ii) Untrained men Rs. 15—1—30,
- (iii) Men in charge of schools to receive an additional Rs. 5 per month, provided that any teacher coming on to the new scale at a time when he is drawing more than the minimum of his scale should be placed in the scale at the point of his existing pay. It is also thought that the new Town School in Darjeeling should have a somewhat higher scale. It is not proposed to alter night school allowances.

57. The town of Darjeeling is now in a fair way towards making adequate provision in respect of primary education. Fortunately, the old style of aided schools had been established in what, on examination, proved to be good centres for the future centralized municipal schools. These will be dealt with piecemeal and put on a sound basis.

58. In the past year the municipality has taken in hand the first and most important school, namely, that which serves the central and most crowded part of the town. The existing building is not very well suited for school purposes and is situated in a noisy place in the bazar close to the market. It has 178 children on the roll, of which 131 are Hindus, 8 Christians, and 39 Buddhists. Only 20 per cent. of the children who enter reach the top of the school which is of the lower primary standard. The boys are arranged in four classes in which fees are charged at two, four, six and eight annas. The income from fees is Rs. 33 per month. The Municipality makes a grant of Rs. 80 per month, and Government Rs. 30 per month, the latter being paid on account of trained teachers. The total emoluments of these from the school are (Rs. 27 + 6) = Rs. 33, (Rs. 16 + 6) = Rs. 22, (Rs. 15 + 6) = Rs. 21, (Rs. 14 + 6) = Rs. 20. The first, third and fourth have free quarters provided by the Scottish Mission. The second receives Rs. 4 a month in lieu of free quarters. The three remaining teachers receive (Rs. 10 + 2) = Rs. 12 per month and no free quarters or house allowance. Rupees 2-8-0 per month is spent on contingencies. The total monthly expenditure without allowing for rent or repairs is, therefore, (Rs. 33, Rs. 22, Rs. 21, Rs. 20, Rs. 4, Rs. 12, Rs. 12, Rs. 12 and Rs. 2-8-0) = Rs. 138-8-0, leaving a small balance. The headmaster has read to the middle school standard and speaks English.

59. The Municipality has acquired an excellent centrally situated site, and is building a fine three-storeyed stone building. Government contributed Rs. 25,000 out of a total of Rs. 65,000 which is being spent on the project. This includes three good shops which face the road on the ground floor. The rent from them is expected to assist substantially with the interest that will have to be paid on the building loan. The shops are so built that they can be opened from the inside and converted into class rooms if needed later for that purpose. The top storey will provide excellent quarters for some of the teachers, who will probably be paid on a scale between Rs. 20 and Rs. 50 per month with free quarters. The school is to be opened this year. Its roof is already on.

60. The Municipality is considering the advisability or otherwise of freeing the school from fees, and of applying to Government for a grant for the recurring expenses of the school on a half-and-half basis according to the challenge of the Hon'ble Minister of Education. If then the full numbers for which accommodation has been provided fail to present themselves for admission the time will have arrived for the Commissioners to make application to Government for permission to enforce compulsory attendance in that part of the town. Each of the other school areas will then, no doubt, be taken up and treated similarly, though they will involve far smaller capital and recurring expenditure.

61. The question of the future management of municipal schools under the new organization will need careful consideration. Darjeeling is a somewhat special case owing to the great part that has been taken by the Scottish Mission in the provision and supervision of teachers. It has been suggested that the management of the new Town Primary School, and ultimately of all the primary schools in the town should be in the hands of a special primary school board or committee which should be composed of—

- (a) representatives of the Municipality,
- (b) departmental officers,
- (c) nominees of the Mission, and
- (d) teachers chosen by the primary school teachers themselves.

Such a board or committee might be entrusted with the following powers among others:—

- (a) The appointment and dismissal of teachers,
- (b) The arrangement of school hours and terms,
- (c) The expenditure of and accounting for all funds connected with primary education,
- (d) The award of scholarships, and
- (e) The regulation of the question of religious instruction.

62. This case has been treated at some length in order to show that this sort of thing is possible, even where large capital costs are unavoidable, provided there is a vigorous and determined municipality to carry through the scheme. It is expected that these primary schools will be co-ordinated with the Middle and High schools of the town, so that they will benefit by securing the best brains of the locality, both on their cultural side and, if such should materialize, on the side of any vocational training they may find it possible to provide.

63. B—Calcutta.—Although Calcutta was excluded from the range of the activities of the Special Officer, he was placed on the Primary Education Committee for the City in an advisory capacity. It therefore seems to be desirable to refer to certain points connected with recent developments. The problem of providing Calcutta with adequate facilities for primary education has long been under consideration, and its very magnitude has been one of the main causes of the postponement of its solution. The history of the case has been clearly stated in a note by Mr. C. C. Chatterjee, Deputy Chairman of the Corporation.

64. Dr. Dunn went into the matter with great acumen and in 1918 placed before the authorities concerned a report containing proposals of a detailed description for a programme of work extending over several years. This was discussed at length and accepted in general terms by the Corporation in September 1919. The subsequent proceedings are set forth by Mr. Chatterjee as follows:—

"The following resolutions were at last arrived at by the Corporation on the 18th September 1919:—

- (1) That the scheme prepared by the Hon'ble Mr. T. O. D. Dunn, Officiating Director of Public Instruction, for the improvement of Primary Education in Calcutta by the provision of a limited number of model schools, by taking over new schools every year, by improving a certain proportion every year of existing schools which are capable of improvement, and by the provision of a Training College for teachers be generally accepted.

- (2) That the capital expenditure involved be apportioned between Government and the Corporation in the proportion of half-and-half and the recurring expenditure be shared equally by the Corporation and the Government and that a Joint School Committee be established consisting of the representatives of the Corporation and the Government in whom the control of primary education in Calcutta be vested.

These resolutions were communicated to Government with the Chairman's letter No. 3623, dated the 24th November 1919.

The reply of Government to the above letter was communicated with their letter No. 554, dated the 9th March 1920. The orders of the Government were briefly as follows:—

- (a) Government communicated their approval to the scheme for the improvement of primary education in Calcutta as drawn up by the Education Department.
- (b) Government would not give any undertaking to meet any part of the recurring expenditure.
- (c) Provided the recurring cost were met by the Corporation, Government would be willing—
 - (i) to meet the whole of the capital cost of a Training College,
 - (ii) to contribute Rs. 10,000 annually for 3 years only towards the recurring charges of the Training College, and
 - (iii) to provide three-fourths of the capital cost of the rest of the scheme.
- (d) A General Committee should be constituted under Executive Orders to advise the Corporation in regard to the supervision and control of primary education.

The Special Committee referred to above met again and decided to write to Government for the reconsideration of the question of apportionment of cost of primary education in Calcutta. On the 13th and the 18th August 1920, the Committee and the Corporation, respectively, approved of the draft reply to be sent to Government. The Chairman addressed Government accordingly by his letter No. S/2095, dated the 21st August 1920.

The reply of Government to the above letter was conveyed by their letter No. 560, dated the 8th March 1921. Government stated that they had reconsidered the question of their contribution to the recurring as well as the capital cost of the scheme of primary education, but they regretted that financial stringency precluded them from acceding to the request of the Corporation. They sanctioned the payment of the grant of Rs. 3 (three) lakhs to the Corporation during the year 1921-22 for an early start with the schools and requested the Corporation to take steps to constitute a General Committee to advise the Corporation in regard to the supervision and control of primary education in Calcutta.

In May 1921, the Corporation by their resolution No. 115 agreed that the aforesaid Committee should be constituted as proposed by Government, and that it should be composed of 12 members as follows:—

The Chairman of the Corporation.

Nine Commissioners to be elected by the Corporation, of whom one should be a European, one Muhammadan, and one a Marwari.

The Inspector of Schools, Presidency Division.

Another officer of the Education Department to be nominated by Government."

65. Unfortunately, all this had taken a long time to settle and when the Corporation was at last in a position to take the matter up in earnest through a Committee appointed by the Government of Bengal in consultation with the Corporation, there had been such changes in the situation that considerable modifications in the original proposals of Dr. Dunn had become necessary. A study of the dates in the narrative alone is interesting. The Committee has examined the case and action is being taken though the obstacles in the way of getting anything actually done are amazing in number and strength.

66. In the first place, the powers of the Committee are not sufficiently clearly defined, and there is at its disposal no staff for executive action. To deal with the enormous problem of the primary education of the second city of the Empire in this amateurish fashion is to court failure. Next, even when it is possible for the Committee to arrive at decisions, action has to be delayed by land acquisition proceedings and by reference to building and other committees of the Corporation which appear to constitute a very complex organization. Any reference back involves a long delay especially as the Education Committee itself is composed of very busy men. For this reason the Committee has appointed an executive sub-committee but the powers of the sub-committee are necessarily of a very limited character.

67. It seems to be of the utmost importance that a properly constituted education authority for the City should be erected at once and that upon it should be placed the responsibility of—

- (a) dividing the city into "school areas" of suitable size,
- (b) examining the existing arrangements in each area with a view to withdrawing grants from such institutions as are incapable of doing good work, and concentrating them on the improvement and extension of such schools as will best serve public interests,
- (c) deciding how far the existing outworn system of grants and fees can be replaced by a system of schools in which the teachers are paid fixed salaries as servants of the Corporation or of the Education Authority for the City,
- (d) building and equipping new schools out of public funds or such money as may be provided by public generosity,
- (e) appointing and dismissing teachers,
- (f) inspecting and reporting on the work of the schools, and making arrangements for their improvement,
- (g) spending and accounting for all funds, whether capital or recurring, that may be available for primary education, whether contributed by Government, the Corporation or the generous public.

68. This authority should be as small as is consistent with the representation upon it of all the main interests concerned, including the teachers, and should have a permanent executive staff under its control. This staff should work upon principles laid down by the authority and should be compelled to act and take full responsibility for their actions on those principles, reporting but not previously referring every detail to the authority.

69. The existing Committee has in the meantime decided to proceed to the building of one primary school for 300 boys in each of the four districts of Calcutta. The sites have been selected and, where necessary, acquisition proceedings are in progress. Type plans have been prepared for these schools but they will be revised to suit the shape of the sites and local needs generally. It may be stated roughly that the sites are likely to cost Rs. 50,000 each and the buildings a like amount. The cost of one school will, therefore, be about one lakh of rupees. This figure includes about Rs. 1,500 for equipment.

70. The Newson gift of one lakh of rupees will in all probability be used for a similar school, the Corporation providing a site and Rs. 50,000 being used for the building. This will leave Rs. 50,000 for investment as an endowment to assist with the capital costs of the project.

71. Mr. Sasi Bhushan Dey has offered to build such a boys' primary school, to bear his own name, and an exactly similar girls' primary school to bear his wife's name, side by side, on certain conditions. A site of about 16 bighas has been acquired and towards this Mr. Dey is contributing Rs. 20,000 in addition to the buildings. Plans have been prepared and it is hoped that the scheme will be completed during this financial year.

72. It is suggested that each of these schools should be staffed with 10 teachers on Rs. 50, Rs. 40, Rs. 30, Rs. 30, Rs. 25, Rs. 25, Rs. 25, Rs. 20, Rs. 20, Rs. 20, or Rs. 285 per month. In addition funds will have to be provided for contingencies, including cleaning, and care-taking, paper, ink, chalk, dusters, etc., and for repairs.

73. It is clear that it will be a long time before Calcutta can be completely provided with primary schools on this scale, though every attempt has been made to keep down their cost. The Committee is therefore considering additional means of developing the work.

74. Morning Schools.—High Schools in various quarters of the town have been asked whether they would be willing to allow the use of their buildings and equipment for free Morning Schools. There has been a generous response from all parts of the town. Several of the schools have been selected for making a beginning, and negotiations are in progress for starting the experiment this year. The following time-table indicates the kind of work that it is intended to develop in these schools:—

7-0 A.M. to 7-45 A.M.—Arithmetic, including Mental Arithmetic.

7-45 A.M. to 8-30 A.M.—Reading and Recitation.

8-30 A.M. to 9-0 A.M.—Writing.

9-0 A.M. to 9-30 A.M.—Another lesson, e.g., English, Geography, Religion, Oral Composition, Drawing, etc.

75. Park Schools.—Further, it is clearly impossible to pay for many sites for primary schools at the present inflated price of land in Calcutta. There are, however, some 25 parks and squares which belong to the Corporation and which are well distributed over the City. If these could be utilized for primary schools, a solution of the greatest difficulty would have been found. Of course there are many objections to the proposal but in a choice of evils the lesser of the two must be taken. Nor would the establishment of schools in the parks be a serious evil if it were properly done; indeed it would be a great advantage to the general public.

76. It is proposed that in corners of the parks where public sanitary arrangements already exist or ought to exist, open shelters should be erected. These should be of artistic but inexpensive design, with venetian shutters capable of being let down to keep off sun and rain. In the early morning and evening these would be utilised by the general public when taking the air, and would be most valuable for shelter, rest and conversation during the rains. In the middle of the day they would be used by children, who would thus be provided with inexpensive accommodation in healthful and airy surroundings which would be the town equivalent of the open buildings so often used for school purposes in the villages of Bengal. Sheds of the kind proposed already exist in some of the squares. They should have pucca plinths, and tiled roofs supported on steel pillars, with moveable jhal-mils. In the centre or at one corner of each school would be a small pucca room for storing school materials.

77. Private Agencies.—The Corporation schools proper, the Morning Schools, and the Park Schools mentioned above should be under the direct management and control of the Education Authority of the City. That Authority, recognising its inability to cope with the whole problem, should also make use of private agencies as far as possible. Such a case is that of the "Workingman's Institution" near Sealdah Station. The Managers of this Institution are in communication with the Corporation with a view to establishing a triple scheme for providing that part of the town with free primary education in day and night classes.

78. The view of the Special Officer is that no real development can take place along these or any other lines until a proper elementary Education Authority is erected and all existing and proposed arrangements put into their hands with only such financial and administrative restrictions as may be absolutely essential from the point of view of Government and of the Corporation.

79. C.—Mills, Factories, and Cantonments.—In some places the mill and factory population is scattered among the general population, but as a general rule they are grouped together in special “hives” and quarters. Generally speaking, such primary schools as exist for the labouring classes are started by and to a large extent under the supervision of the mill, factory, or cantonment authority. Any real attempt to place them under municipal control would be likely to lead to friction. It has also been made plain that the Bengali population, especially those of the bhadralog class, object to the association of their children even in school with the children of the “foreign” element in the mills. The different vernaculars in use also constitute a difficulty. For these and other reasons it is abundantly clear that as a general rule it will be better in the case of large factories, mills, and cantonments to treat each concern as a separate unit for the management and development of primary schools.

80. The time has not been favourable for new developments, and after several attempts the Special Officer realised that, until prosperity reappears, it would do more harm than good to press their responsibilities in this matter upon owners and managers of these concerns. After consultation with the Superintendent of the Rifle Factory at Ishapore, proposals for starting a school on special lines suited to this class of child have been sent in to Government for sanction as an experiment.

81. It is probable that when the time comes an attempt will have to be made to educate adults as well as children, not necessarily in the three R's, but in general knowledge through readings, lectures, demonstration, magic lanterns, cinemas, and so forth. Those adults and children who show intelligence and interest will then be led to use their powers for reading, writing, and reckoning, when they see the uses to which they can be put.

82. One last point may be offered for consideration if the views expressed above are accepted. The mills and factories pay large municipal rates and taxes, and these are partly used for the support of municipal schools. The managers may object to paying for the municipal schools, as well as having to run their own special institutions. On examination it does not appear to be as unjust an arrangement as it at first sight may seem to be. The taxes are paid for certain specific advantages of a material kind secured by the firm controlling the factory. The humane responsibility of the firm towards the children of its employees rests upon a different footing. These children are not strictly children of the townspeople at all, but are brought in as attached to those who are necessary for the prosperity of the business concern, with which they would depart if for any reason a move became necessary. The mill or factory pays municipal rates and taxes for strictly municipal purposes which include the education of the truly municipal children, but the firm also owes a humane duty to the children of its labourers, namely, that of educating them.

CHAPTER IV.

Finance.

83. Challenge Regarding the Cost of the Scheme.—The nature of the scheme proposed for the expansion and improvement of primary education in Bengal has been explained in the Special Officer's (1921) Report and in the earlier chapters of this one. On the capital side in the country districts the sites are expected to be given free, while those in the towns that cannot be secured free are to be paid for at market rates. In country districts buildings are to be of mat or mud and thatch, Government providing such small funds as may be needed for buying posts, windows, doors, and such materials as cannot be supplied by the villagers themselves. The cost in money for a school of 50 boys is usually to be Rs. 300 only (£20). In the towns the buildings proposed are somewhat better in most cases, but still kutchas, and as these kutchas structures cannot be erected from loan money, an alternative estimate for simple pucca buildings has been put forward. Each boy has been allowed 6 square feet of floor space, but from this meagre allowance he has to give up some for the passage ways, for the teachers' tables and chairs and for the blackboard. The equipment has been cut down to the minimum, the children being expected to sit on mats on the floor.

84. On the recurring side the cost of the staff has been estimated at an average that is rather below what a coolie can earn. Four scales have been suggested for—

- (a) Calcutta.
- (b) the larger municipalities (over 30,000 population),
- (c) the smaller municipalities (under 30,000 population), and
- (d) unions.

These are printed as Appendix I to this Report. Contingencies (cleaning, pens, ink, paper, registers, and other incidentals) have been reckoned at eight annas per boy per annum in the unions and at twelve annas in the towns. For a school of 50 boys this comes to about Rs. 2 per mensem in the unions, and to about Rs. 3 per mensem in the towns. Repairs have been estimated at the same very moderate rate. In the towns the average annual cost per boy is just over Rs. 10 and in the country just under Rs. 7.

85. If there are any critics of these proposals on the ground that they are extravagant or "too costly," it is hoped that they will be so good as to show how economies can be effected under any of these heads without the sacrifice of the moderate degree of efficiency that is aimed at.

86. One other point is perhaps open to attack. It may be said by economists that the "school areas" might be larger and the schools fewer. The majority of parents of children of 6—10 years of age are inclined to ask that the circles should be of less and not more than half a mile in radius. Most careful consideration has been given to the point and the half-mile school area seems to be the most economical and practical that can be adopted with young children.

87. Dissipation of Small Funds is Equivalent to their waste.—If then further economies can be effected under none of these heads, if the organisation and estimates proposed are at the minimum cost for securing a fair degree of efficiency, it is of no use to cut them down. There is a line below which economy becomes waste. Money spent on a too cheap boat or ladder is wasted and worse, for it endangers life and limb. Money spent on a too cheap public system of education is wasted and endangers the national well-being. The new funds that may be placed at our disposal must not be too widely dissipated but should be spent in such a way as will produce the maximum of effect wherever the new system is introduced.

88. The uselessness of spreading even large sums too widely may be seen by considering the fact that there are at present over 47,000 primary schools in Bengal. If an increase of Re. 1 per month is given to one teacher in each school, the increase in the monthly bill is nearly half a lakh while the annual expenditure is increased by Rs. 5,64,000! It has already been pointed out in paragraph 44 above that if Government undertook to pay only one teacher in each school a salary of Rs. 20 the monthly bill for this alone would approach ten lakhs, and the annual cost would amount to Rs. 1,12,80,000! Yet in neither of these cases would an expansion or improvement in primary education result which could be regarded as commensurate with the expenditure.

89. Municipalities.—The municipal towns are comparatively thickly populated and are limited in number, they therefore constitute a suitable field for the full operation of the proposed organization. Omitting Calcutta, Darjeeling, and Kurseong which are special cases; and Bhola in the Bakarganj District and Rajbari in the Faridpur District which are in the process of becoming municipalities, we are left with 113 towns. Detailed schemes have been worked out for all these in consultation with the local authorities. The details of their present financial conditions are summarized in Appendix K, and of the conditions proposed in Appendix L(a) to the Report. The following tables summarize the total (i) recurring, and (ii) capital cost of all the schemes together:—

Number of towns.	Number of schools.	Sal.	Contingencies.	Repairs.	Rent.	Total.
1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.	7.

(ii)—Capital.

Number of towns.	Number of pupils.	Sites.	Buildings.	Total of Sites and Buildings.	Equipment.	Total of Sites, Buildings and Equipment.
1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.	7.
		Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.

90. Recurring Cost.—The present recurring cost of the schools in these towns is made up as follows (see Appendix J):—

	Rs.
Government	1,37,777
Municipalities	66,477
Fees	3,87,343
Contributions	62,864
Total	6,51,461

In the primary schools and primary departments of high and middle schools, 67,687 boys are being educated. In the new primary schools, apart from those primary departments that may continue to exist, provision is to be made for 70,155 boys who would be far better housed and placed under teachers of improved qualification and fixed pay, while the schools would be properly situated and organised, and therefore conveniently capable of further extension and improvement as the necessity may arise. The increase of cost is (Rs. 7,09,529—Rs. 6,54,461) Rs. 55,068. This is a comparatively small sum, but it must be noted that the schools would not be free if only this increase were to be provided, for the amount derived from fees is a very large item in the present bill. It is plain that the Government of Bengal and the municipalities will have to determine how far they are prepared to go at present in the direction of making primary education free. The view of the Special Officer is that municipalities which cannot afford to make it free all at once should be encouraged to collect the fees themselves from those parents who can afford them, to state a fixed proportion of free places for each school according to local circumstances, and gradually to enlarge the number of free places till it becomes possible altogether to abolish the fee system by means of an education cess. If, however, Government desire to make primary education free at once in these municipalities they can do so at a new cost of (Rs. 7,09,529 less their present contribution Rs. 1,37,777 and the existing municipal grants Rs. 66,477) Rs. 5,05,275 per annum.

91. Capital Cost.—The capital cost of the complete scheme for all the municipalities, making use wherever possible of existing buildings, amounts to Rs. 28,66,205 if light structures are used as decided upon in consultation with the individual local authorities. Unfortunately, neither the Government of Bengal nor the local authorities are in a position to find the whole or even one-half of this sum out of current revenue all at once. To meet this difficulty, programmes have been drawn up for all the municipalities except about a dozen in which they are not needed. The number of years devoted to building varies from two to ten according to the size of the work to be accomplished. The programmes have been summarized for ready reference in Appendix L. The disadvantage of this programme-plan is that, while all the ratepayers would have to pay for it from the beginning, some of them would have to wait a number of years before their own areas were provided with schools. The great advantage is that the schools would be erected without any debt being incurred. The average cess per ratepayer during the years of the programme would be less than two annas per month or about one rupee six annas per annum, while after the building was finished it would drop to less than one anna two pice per month or slightly over one rupee a year.

92. The alternative to—(i) immediate payment from current revenue, or (ii) the programme-plan is (iii) the adoption of a loan policy. Unfortunately, on this plan it is not possible to proceed to the erection of kutcha buildings which might disappear through fire, storm, or neglect before the loan was repaid. If a loan policy is to be adopted the buildings must be of a permanent character. A general estimate of Rs. 5 per square foot of plinth area has been adopted, each boy being given 10 square feet of floor space including verandahs and the thickness of the walls. Equipment may be paid for gradually out of current revenue and need not be discussed here in detail.

93. The cost of sites and such buildings for complete schemes in 113 municipalities amounts to Rs. 42,76,300. (See column (e) of the table (ii)—Capital in paragraph 89 above.) Including interest and a sinking fund for repayment in 25 years, together reckoned at 8½ per cent., a loan for this amount would need an annual budget provision of Rs. 3,63,486 for 25 years. This is a large but not an impossible sum and, if voted by the Legislative Council, would solve a very difficult problem. If it is to be divided between Government and local authorities very great difficulties will be experienced and a long delay must be anticipated. The view of the Special Officer for Primary Education is that if Government has determined to place primary education on a sound footing it is advisable to face this expenditure courageously and to commence the work of land acquisition and building without delay, providing the requisite funds (Rs. 3,63,486) in their annual budget.

94. One School in each Municipality.—Government might prefer to start the scheme by presenting each town with one central school of suitable size housed in a permanent building. The sites would cost approximately Rs. 1,61,000, the buildings Rs. 11,03,000, and equipment Rs. 66,000 or an approximate total of Rs. 13,30,000. This sum taken as a loan, and costing 8½ per cent. for interest and sinking fund for 25 years, would demand an annual budget provision of Rs. 1,13,050. This would be a definite advance and would make a very widespread provision for sound primary education.

setting up a new standard. The approximate recurring cost of these schools would be Rs. 2,80,000 per annum which, if shared equally between Government and the local bodies, would demand Rs. 1,15,000 from each. The number of boys accommodated would be 22,050. If Government should decide to make these schools all free without making any demand whatever on local bodies at this stage, budget provision would be needed for (Loan Rs. 1,13,050 plus recurring charges Rs. 2,80,000) Rs. 3,43,050, or say, three and a half lakhs of rupees.

95. Recurring and Capital Costs Together.—In order to make complete provision for all the schools in all the municipalities on a free basis without making any charge on the local funds, Government would have to provide in the annual budget (Recurring Costs Rs. 7,09,520 plus Loan Charges Rs. 3,63,486) Rs. 10,73,051 or (say) ten and three quarter lakhs of rupees. This would represent a new Government expenditure of (Rs. 10,73,015—present Government grants Rs. 1,37,777) Rs. 9,35,238, remitting the present municipal grants for some other purpose, perhaps for the education of girls or for vocational education.

96. Division of Cost between Government and the Municipalities.—Whatever may be the reason, municipalities as a whole are at present not inclined to offer a guarantee of their half of the cost of their schemes although these are admitted to be economical and suitable in all other respects to the requirements of the situation. The cost of half of the scheme, however inexpensive in itself, amounts to a very large percentage as compared with other existing municipal taxes, and even now these often cause attachment of goods when vigorously collected. Government is therefore faced with the alternatives of compelling municipalities to find their half share, or of relaxing their present half-and-half offer and making a larger provision from the funds of the Provincial Government. (The decisions on such questions must rest with the representatives of the people in the Legislative Council.) If compulsion is to be adopted, a careful survey of the finances of each municipality will have to be undertaken, perhaps by the Local Self-Government Department. Upon this survey would be founded a classification of the towns according to their ability to pay a half share, or more or less, towards the cost of their own scheme. Certain data are given in columns 7 to 20 of Appendix K. These are incomplete owing to the failure of some municipalities, to assist the enquiry by giving the desired information, but they indicate the nature of a possible basis of classification. It has to be remembered, however, that some municipalities may be taxing their citizens higher than others in order to carry out public services. It would not be fair to regard those which are already raising a comparatively large revenue as necessarily those which are richer than others which are not taxing nearly up to their full power.

97. It would seem to be desirable for Government, in order to break the present tradition of inefficient primary education and to set a better example, either to take up on very generous terms the complete schemes of those municipalities which are willing to do anything in the matter, or to present one school to each municipality at once, as suggested, in paragraph 94 above, and then to reconsider the general position with a view to taking the next step.

98. Non-Municipal Areas.—Since there are about 7,220 village unions in the Province of Bengal, it is clear that the Special Officer and his small staff could not hope to survey the whole of the rural areas in detail, with a view to making out schemes for them all, in the limited time at their disposal. The working out of union schemes and consultation with the village, especially, as is often the case, where there are disagreeing parties concerned, is a protracted business. This is the more so since the ideas underlying the schemes are still unfamiliar to the educated and the uneducated alike. Nevertheless, the substantial number of 204 unions has been worked out, including the whole of the Hooghly District and samples in all the other districts. From the facts and figures so secured it is possible to arrive at fairly definite conclusions regarding the cost of providing the whole of Bengal with a primary school organization will be capable of development and improvement.

99. Total Cost of Non-Municipal Areas in Bengal.—The average cost of a union organization is about Rs. 2,000 capital and Rs. 2,300 recurring. Multiplying these figures by the number of unions we get Rs. 1,44,40,000 capital and Rs. 1,66,06,000 recurring as the total cost of developing all the rural areas in Bengal. These are, of course, terrifying figures, and their contemplation merely has a paralysing effect upon the will. If England had begun by trying to envisage the total cost of educating all her people, nothing would ever have been done. It would have been like the old story of the centipede which stopped to consider in what order it moved its many legs, and was consequently quite unable to proceed thereafter. Bengal, like England, and the wiser centipedes, must get on with the business in hand with the resources that are available without giving too much heed to the expense involved in a complete scheme, and so overcome the difficulties step by step. England took 28 years to secure the opportunity of free primary education for all her people, and found in the process of that time that the necessary resources became available as the results of her partial measures became effective.

100 The Hooghly District.—If the whole of the Hooghly District were provided with schools a splendid start would have been made. This would cost Rs. 2,20,700 capital and Rs. 2,91,813 recurring (vide Appendix N). The trouble is that the natural conservatism of the people and the paralysis caused by their recent political exploitation have for the present destroyed the hope that the people generally will impose an educational cess upon themselves voluntarily. It is not the amount of the cess that constitutes the difficulty, for it is clear that if they alter their minds towards having free primary education, the people could pay a cess which would amount to an average of less than one rupee a year on the rateable holdings if Government were to pay half the recurring cost of the schemes. It is the idea and fear of taxation in any shape or form for whatever purpose that is hated and misunderstood so completely. Conditions being such as they are they must be accepted till a better understanding prevails. In the circumstances, the Special Officer has felt it to be his duty to advise the Hon'ble Minister of Education that a general offer should be made to unions of the whole of the actual money required for the capital cost of the schemes, and one half of the recurring cost for about three years, without demanding from the union boards the levy of a cess or an exact guarantee of the payment of the other half of the recurring cost. This would enable any union board to build and equip the necessary public schools and to utilize whatever money they could raise from fees, contributions, district and union board grants, etc., to make up the half of the cost of the scheme that, as they would understand, it would be their duty to find, even if they were to fall short at first of the full amount required by them.

101 An example may be taken to show what is meant. Let it be supposed that in a given union one school of 100 boys and three for 50 boys are needed and that the union board with Government help has erected all the necessary buildings. The recurring cost would be—

The total annual recurring cost is Rs. 1,930. Of this Government would give a grant of Rs. 965 pointing out to the union board that it would be their duty to find a like amount. If the existing district board grants to the schools in the union were Rs. 65 per annum, Rs. 500 would remain to be found by the union board. Compared with the income of the average union board this is a large sum. If an average fee of three annas a month were charged for all the boys whom the schools are capable of accommodating, the fee income would be Rs. 562-8-0 per annum, still leaving Rs. 337-8-0 to be produced from contribution and ordinary union board funds. It is plain that, in the absence of an education cess, great difficulty must be experienced by union boards in giving an honest guarantee for their full share, and some may give way to the temptation of inducing teachers to sign receipts for the full amount of their pay, though in receipt of only a part of it. Experience has already shown that this is not an imaginary danger.

102. If, however, Government pay their half without asking for a definite guarantee of the other half, the Government grants will be very substantially increased as compared with the existing grants, and the onus of improving the schools further will rest on the local people. As has already been explained in paragraph 49 above in the schools of 50 boys, for instance, it will be possible to guarantee to one teacher Rs. 15 a month from Government funds alone. It is important that the union boards should estimate and fix the amount of their local contribution from time to time, so that their members may receive a training in sound and exact public finance in however small a way, and so that the teachers may receive fixed salaries, however small, and feel that they are in a real sense public servants, however humble.

103. Schemes for all the unions in the district having been submitted, the Hooghly District Board were recently asked by telegram whether they could name enough union boards to use Rs. 60,000 this year on capital expenditure for this kind of scheme. They sent the names of enough unions to cover Rs. 32,000, but, of course, they had neither time nor opportunity to make proper enquiries, or to explain to the union boards the generous nature of the proposals. It is hoped that propaganda work of the right kind will be widely undertaken by public and private bodies so that effect may be given to the suggestion, if it receives the sanction of Government.

104. At the same time every possible source of local revenue should be explored with the utmost care. Some interesting proposals have been made for the purpose of raising money. (i) It has often been suggested that the village chowkidars should be made a part of the central police system, and that the chowkidari tax should be devoted to education. This suggestion even if carried into effect does not meet the case for no new money is brought into play, and the taxes of the Provincial Government would have to be increased. The presidents of the unions would also lose a certain amount of their prestige. (ii) Another common proposal is that the numbers of the chowkidars should be reduced and the wages of the remainder increased, the balance of the savings being devoted to education, e.g., where nine chowkidars are now employed on Rs. 6 per mensem each (total Rs. 54 per mensem, or Rs. 648 per annum), two on Rs. 12 per month each may be employed in close attendance on the president, a saving of Rs. 30 per month or Rs. 360 per annum being effected. This would pay for the staff of one school of 50 boys. (iii) It has also been suggested that district boards should be empowered to raise a land cess for the purpose. (iv) Increased economy in the police and the administration generally are frequently recommended. These suggestions are set forth here because they have often been pressed but a consideration of their soundness or otherwise does not fall within the scope of this report.

105. Other Districts.—Schemes have been worked out in all the districts of Bengal so that all the district boards should have the opportunity of discovering by experiment the effect of providing free primary education among their people. The general idea is that Government should pay for the capital and for half the recurring cost of these schemes, and that, if the union authorities do not agree to providing their share, the district board should provide the other half for a fixed term of three to five years. The union would receive the benefit of a set of properly distributed school buildings and would enjoy free primary education for the period of the experiment without any cost to itself. At the end of the period the people would have to make up their minds as to whether they would go back to the fee system or levy the necessary small education cess. The district board would then transfer their funds to other unions, choosing first those which showed the greatest signs of self-help. In this way the opportunity of free primary education with a clear knowledge of its financial implications would be offered to the people of rural areas. Details regarding the schemes that have been worked out are tabulated in a condensed form in Appendix N.

CHAPTER V.

Conclusion.

106. It appears to be necessary to sum up the contents of this Report in a few sentences for the benefit of those who are too busy to read the Report itself.

107. Chapter I.—After referring to the orders of Government, Chapter I is devoted to a summary of the previous Report with emphasis upon the principles of—

- (a) the proper distribution of the schools,
- (b) the concentration of the children,
- (c) the popularization of the schools, and
- (d) the co-ordination of primary schools with the other parts of the school organization.

The four steps which progress must follow are then stated, and these are followed by notes on the curriculum, the grading of schools, and an alternative Roman Bengali Script. The chapter closes with a reference to the resolution of Government (No. 1284 Edn., dated 2nd July 1921) asking for opinions on the Report of 1921, and references to some of those opinions.

108. Chapter II.—This chapter deals with what has been done in connection with the new developments. It begins with a division of the work as between municipal and rural areas. The municipal problem is then discussed in detail and various methods of finding the capital and recurring costs of the scheme are outlined. The rural problem is then taken up and experiments that are being tried by various district boards are described. The proposed methods of providing capital and recurring funds are next dealt with. The necessity for propaganda work is urged. The chapter closes with some account of the difficulties that have been experienced.

109. Chapter III.—The third chapter deals with three comparatively minor problems, viz., Darjeeling, Calcutta, and Mills, Factories, and Cantonments. The first is dealt with in some detail as showing what a determined municipality can do with a loan policy. It is admitted that the circumstances are exceptional in the hill town, but a good example has been set. Calcutta is only to be regarded as a "minor problem" when compared with the tremendous problem of Bengal as a whole. This Report does not pretend to deal with Calcutta in detail, but merely to render some slight account of the matter. Mills, factories, and cantonments are also shortly dealt with in this Report but the whole matter will have to be thrashed out separately as soon as trade show signs of a definite improvement.

110. Chapter IV.—This is the most important part of the Report dealing, as it does, with finance. It begins with a challenge as to the possibility of reducing the cost of the scheme as a whole or in any of its parts. A warning against the wasteful dissipation of funds follows. The municipal section of the general problem is then discussed on the sides of its recurring and capital cost. This is followed by an explanation of the difficulties of meeting capital expenditure, with suggestions as to how they may perhaps be overcome. The implications of giving one free school to each municipality are next set forth for the consideration of Government. The difficult question of the due proportions in which the expenditure on primary education should be shared by Government and the local authorities is raised and tentative suggestions made towards its answer.

111. Non-Municipal areas are then taken up and a glance given at the tremendous cost involved in providing primary education for all the vast rural areas and populations of Bengal. The whole of the Hooghly District has been worked out in union schemes, giving a fairly extensive sample of the probable cost of the new proposals. A suggestion is made that Government should make an offer of all the actual money required for capital expenditure and one-half of the recurring cost without the demand of an actual guarantee of the other half from the union boards who are at present so awkwardly situated in respect of taxation and finance generally. Other districts have had sample unions worked out in them, so that the whole problem can now be faced with a fairly sound knowledge of the difficulties, financial and otherwise, that have to be overcome.

112. It is now plain that the problem of the provision of improved and extended facilities for primary education in the municipal and rural areas of Bengal can be solved without any cost to the poorest of the people if (a) Government can and will provide half the cost of the schemes, and (b) the rate-payers, through their local representatives, will provide the other half. This latter can be done at a cost which amounts only to a very small fraction of what they spend on pan (betel-nut). Is this too much to ask of a people whose spirituality has been proclaimed by their poets, their orators, their statesman, and their press? If so, the only possible remaining course of action is to summon a conference of the local representatives of the people, to enquire what smaller amount, if anything, they are prepared to pay, and for the Government of Bengal to decide whether they will (i) accept the offer whatever it may be and impose general taxation for providing the necessary balance, or (ii) compel the local bodies to pay more than they offer willingly, or (iii) abandon for the present the attempt to educate the masses of the people. Surely, it is impossible that this last will be the mandate of the people of Bengal to their first responsible Minister of Education.

It will be seen that Bengal has the largest number of primary schools and Madras the largest number of scholars. A comparison between the figures for the two years shows that although there was an increase in the number of primary schools in Bengal, there was a marked decline in the number of pupils. The average strength of a primary school in Bengal is less than that in almost all other provinces of India. Further, the number of square miles (average) served by a boys' primary school in Bengal is 2.2 and is less than the corresponding figure in any other province. This clearly goes to show that what is needed in Bengal is not an increase in the number of primary schools but their proper and systematic organisation and distribution on a well-defined plan. The financial difficulty involved in the acceptance of such a policy in Bengal is the first problem for solution; for in this province the existing expenditure on primary schools is deplorably low, as will appear from the table below.

TABLE II.

(b) The following table shows the total expenditure on primary schools, the average annual cost of teaching a pupil in a primary school and the average annual fee per pupil in a boys' primary school in the different provinces of India:—

It will be seen from the above table that the cost of educating a pupil in either a boys' or a girls' primary school is smallest in Bengal. It has been already shown in Table I that the average strength of a primary school in Bengal is also comparatively low. The conviction that is forced on the mind is that the cost of primary education in Bengal is far below the lowest possible level of efficiency. It is, however, satisfactory to note that the rates of fees in primary schools of Bengal are higher than those in any other province. Thus the people in Bengal voluntarily contribute more to the cost of primary education than the people of other provinces. The expenditure from public sources in Bengal is, however, small in comparison with that in Bombay and Madras. This will appear from the table below.

TABLE III.

(c) This table shows the total expenditure on primary schools from different sources, the percentage of expenditure from different sources and the average expenditure per head of population from provincial revenues on primary schools:—

It will appear from the above table that Madras, which has a population less than that of Bengal, contributes 51.5 per cent. from provincial revenues, 17.0 per cent. from district funds and 5.0 per cent. from municipal funds or a total of 73.5 per cent. from public sources to the expenditure on primary schools for boys; and Bombay, which has a population less than half the population of Bengal, contributes 66.0, 5.5, 14.9 per cent. respectively, from the same sources, or a total of 86.4 per cent. from public sources; whereas Bengal contributes 32.8 per cent. from provincial revenues, 14.8 per cent. from district funds, 1.8 per cent. from municipal funds, or a total of 49.4 per cent. only from public sources to the expenditure on primary schools for boys. Moreover, the total expenditure on primary schools in Bengal compares very unfavourably with that either in Madras or in Bombay. The cost per head of population from provincial revenues is also very low in Bengal in comparison with Bombay and Madras. It is very desirable that the expenditure on primary schools of Bengal should be increased considerably and that Government should contribute more generously towards the cost of primary education in this province.

It will be seen from the above table that the percentage of publicly managed primary schools in Bengal is only 6.9, in Madras it is 26.9 and in Bombay 80.7. This shows that in Bengal the local authorities have not yet taken up in full their responsibility in regard to mass education. The primary schools in this presidency are mainly of the teacher-manager type. They grow and die at the will of the teachers.

(b) The strongest impression left on the mind after carefully considering the state of primary education in Bengal is the lack of any definite systematisation which might enable us at any time, to judge how far the problem is really being solved and to ensure that the limited funds at our disposal are spent to the best possible effect. It is to the construction of such a system that we must now turn."

APPENDIX C.

No. 1284 Edn., dated Calcutta, the 2nd July 1921.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of Bengal, Education Department.

The late Government of Bengal, convinced of the necessity for the expansion of primary education in the Presidency and desirous of bringing the Bengal Primary Education Act, 1919, into effective operation, placed Mr. E. E. Biss, of the Indian Educational Service, on special duty in August 1920, with instructions to scrutinise the returns received under the Act, to make a careful survey of the conditions of primary education both in municipal and rural areas and to formulate a programme for its expansion throughout the Presidency. The report of Mr. Biss has been received by the Minister for Education, who desires to acknowledge the capacity with which Mr. Biss has discharged his task. His report is a valuable contribution to the literature on the subject, and his suggestions merit careful consideration. It has been decided to publish the report and to invite the opinion on it of local bodies and also of public associations and individuals. The Government of Bengal (Ministry of Education) will welcome criticism both of the general principles enunciated in the report and of details connected with the schemes suggested in it. In particular, they will be glad to receive constructive proposals with reference to specific local conditions and in regard to the cost of carrying out these schemes and the sources from which the necessary funds, capital and recurring, are to be derived.

2. There can be no doubt that a wide expansion and definite improvement of primary education is necessary to the welfare of the country, and the Government of Bengal (Ministry of Education) are of opinion that the time has come for the organization of a complete national system of primary schools for Bengal. The object in view is the formation of a network of schools so placed as to be within the reach of every household. To this end, the populated portion of any given locality would be divided into fixed "school areas" each served by a central school designed to accommodate the great majority of the boys of primary school age within the "school area." The Bengal Primary Education Act of 1919 proceeds on the assumption that a child of primary school age can walk one mile to school. Mr. Biss has suggested a circle of half a mile radius as a rough guide to the size of a "school area," the exact size and shape of each being settled in accordance with local conditions. It has to be remembered in this connection that the larger the area served by one school, the smaller will be the number of schools and the smaller the cost of establishing and conducting them. These schools would be publicly controlled by the municipalities, i.e., the municipalities and the district or union boards. The teachers would be paid salaries instead of making what they can, as at present, from small grants and fees. Opinions are invited upon the best size of the "school area," and also on the subject of the re-establishment of a public examination at the end of a primary school course (c.f. paragraphs 30 and 65-69 of the Report).

3. In some localities, it may be possible to exercise compulsion in order to secure the attendance of boys of 6 to 10 years of age, as is contemplated by the Bengal Primary Education Act of 1919, but it is recognised that for the present it is not possible to make its application universal. Expressions of opinion as to whether the adoption of compulsory primary education in the future should be taken as a directive idea would be welcomed.

4. The question of the desirability of giving religious instruction in primary schools, with which Mr. Biss has dealt in Chapter IV of the Report, is a difficult one calling for careful consideration, and it is hoped that well-informed views, capable of practical interpretation in actual school conditions, will assist Government in formulating a policy.

5. Mr. Biss has advised that primary and middle schools should together be regarded as the elementary schools of the future. He advocates the gradual raising of the former to the status of the full elementary school as rapidly as may be possible, though he recognises that the process will necessarily take some time. At present there are five Government normal (or 1st grade training) schools in Bengal and 22 guru-training schools of an improved type. A number of less efficient institutions which are slowly being replaced by training schools of the new type. Mr. Biss suggests the combining of normal and guru-training schools, and the training together at convenient centres of all elementary teachers, i.e., teachers for primary and middle schools, and for the lower classes of high schools where these continue to exist. In his opinion each district should be provided with a combined institution of this kind. The Government of Bengal realise the great importance of the improvement of the training of teachers, but have not as yet come to a decision on the matter. They would value expressions of opinion upon the subject from those who are conversant with it.

6. It is obvious that if there is to be an expansion and improvement of primary education more money must be made available for the purpose. It is beyond the power of Government to bear the whole cost, and the present policy of dividing it between the central and local authorities must, therefore, be continued. The Government of Bengal (Ministry of Education) are not yet in a position to fix a definite proportion as between these contributing parties, either as a general rule or in relation to local bodies individually. It will take some time to ascertain fully and give effect to the national will in respect of the lines on which the development of primary education should proceed; and in the meantime Government will sympathetically consider any individual schemes that may be put forward, taking into account the circumstances of the locality concerned and the degree of self-help displayed by the local authority. At the same time they invite reasoned opinions as to the manner in which the question of proportion should finally be determined both in regard to capital and recurring expenditure.

7. It is also a matter for careful consideration whether it will be possible to forego the income from fees, which in the past have bulked so largely in the receipts of the schools. While Mr. Biss's proposals make a far larger demand on the Provincial Government, they do not on an average demand more but, on one alternative plan, substantially less than is now being paid in fees, local grants and contributions. His suggestion is that the money should be paid on a different method, i.e., by the rate-payers as a whole. In this way heads of large families would be relieved of some of their expenses, while people who have no children and have fewer expenses would be called upon to pay a small sum for the national good: the average incidence per head in the municipalities for which calculations have been worked out is less than three annas per month. This is, he urges, a form of co-operative effort for the common good, which is calculated to produce far better results, by the provision of a better organisation, a better staff and better buildings and equipment, than is possible in present circumstances. While Mr. Biss strongly advocates this plan he does not exclude the possibility of finding a part of the local contribution from fees, nor do his proposals depend upon making primary education free.

8. Expressions of opinion are invited on the suggestions set forth in the Report in the matter of loans to finance programmes of development, and it may be stated here that the Government of Bengal are prepared to consider the possibility of allowing local bodies to raise loans locally from sources other than Government and of themselves contributing towards the charges involved in the payment of interest and the repayment of capital.

9. The Government of Bengal are already putting the ideas of the Report to a practical test by experiments in certain areas. They will welcome detailed proposals for additional experiments from local bodies who desire to make sure of their ground before going forward with a new policy throughout the areas under their jurisdiction.

10. The new primary system will undoubtedly have to be linked closely with a larger organisation of higher education which, together with it, will form a co-ordinated national system designed to meet the requirements of all sections of the people in respect not only of general or cultural instruction, but also of vocational education, i.e., a training primarily intended to fit its recipients for earning a livelihood in some definite industry, trade, or profession. The development of this larger organisation is receiving the attention of the Government of Bengal (Ministry of Education).

APPENDIX D.

Copy of opinion of the Chairman, District Board, 24-Parganas, on the (1921) Report of Mr. Biss on the Expansion and Improvement of Primary Education in Bengal, passed at a meeting of the Education Committee of the District Board, 24-Parganas, held on the 15th November 1921.

I have read with considerable pleasure the interesting and comprehensive report of Mr. Biss, and on behalf of the District Board of 24-Parganas, I beg to submit with their approval my observations on the various points raised in the summary and conclusion in Chapter X.

A.—There can be no question that universal literacy should be the end and aim of Government. There are many obstacles in the way, which should in course of time be overcome. Mr. Biss has gone into the question very sympathetically and has come to the conclusion that unless provision be made in this province for further intellectual equipment of every kind for keeping abreast of the progress made by the people in other countries, especially in the West, he is sure to lag behind in the competition, when he becomes a full-grown citizen, in the various departments of science, arts and industries, that make up the civilisation of a country. It is for this reason that Mr. Biss points out that it is high time that Bengal should prepare for making an ample provision for enabling its boys and men to hold their own in the struggle for existence that is becoming keener in India day by day. I fully agree with him that provision should be made for universal elementary education, though there are various difficulties, financial and otherwise, in the way which would hamper Bengal from giving effect to this salutary recommendation in the course of a very few years.

B.—It is absolutely necessary that some sort of religious instruction should be given to our boys. It is easy for the Maulvis to give to the Moslem boys lessons in the Holy Koran, prayers, etc., but owing to a great diversity of form in the Hindu religion, it would be necessary to select a common method which would not be considered offensive and objectionable by any of the different sects. It would be difficult to avoid these shoals and sandbanks, but it would not be insuperable. A common basis may be discovered if efforts be made, on the grounds of common humanity, common feelings and sentiments founded upon a sense of the common Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. The dignity of moral life would itself appeal to the heart of boys as an uplifting power and ennobling sentiment. Government, as usual, must maintain strict neutrality, but should leave to the people—the leaders of the various sects to decide the common ground of Faith and Love on which the religious instructions should be based—in other words, a course of moral instructions should be imparted to the children, which are based upon the moral sense common to all civilised people, with a view to form their character and prepare them for their dealings with men in all phases of life when they come in contact with the world.

C.—The present plan of giving grants-in-aid to schools should continue so long as the scheme of "Co-ordination" suggested in the Report does not bear any fruit. When the organised national system has fully developed, the available public funds should be gradually transferred to that system, and the grant-in-aid should be discontinued. The Report lays stress on "Co-ordination" and advance in a continuous line from the elementary to the highest University stage. But education at every stage, even if it is to be a preparation for the higher stage, ought to have a finality of its own, so that those who have to finish at any intervening stage may leave with an equipment that will fit them better for the work of their life. In a complete scheme there must be both finality at every stage and continuity at the same time, so that there may be no abrupt transition from one stage to another. As regards age, no hard and fast rule should be laid down. In a well-educated family with enlightened surroundings, the rate of progress would be much faster than in a family not so happily situated, and it should not be made so inelastic as to fetter the progress of a boy naturally intelligent above the average. These are indeed matters of detail, but they should not be neglected when the scheme in its broadest aspect comes up for acceptance.

D and E.—The co-ordinated national system of schools, as shown in the diagram on page 21, is the best that has yet been suggested for the gradual development of children's capacity for receiving instructions. It must be followed as closely as possible, and the vocational training should be given in central schools, where steps should be taken fully to realise and remove agricultural and industrial needs of the district, and where vocational teachers should be trained.

It is stated in the Report (see page 21) that the vocational training of the boys commences with their promotion to the Upper Primary School at the age of 10. This, as it should be, but I beg leave to observe that the technical subjects in which they would be trained should not be of uniform character: it should vary according to the varied requirements of a village in group of villages, where certain industries already flourish or where the raw materials could be utilised for manufacture. Agriculture should be the main subject of training in every district of Bengal, but attention should be given to those particular commodities of agriculture which are commercially profitable, and which, according to the peculiar nature of the soil and climate of the locality, are easy of production, so that with a modicum of knowledge which a boy may pick up from the Upper Primary Schools, he may be better fitted to be taken to those branches of agriculture and earn his livelihood, if he cannot proceed up to the Matric or higher standards in his career.

Though we have dilated generally upon the question of extension of Primary Education through Primary Schools, the question of Upper Primary and Middle English Schools should not be left out of view, because it is through them that the boys completing their courses in the Primary Schools would have their regular training. We leave out of consideration the provision for the schools for imparting general literacy education with the remark that the curriculum should be so prescribed that it might not be a strain upon the mental and physical capacity of the learner. The present curriculum is very defective in this direction, and should not be transferred to the reformed schools in a new garb. We have formed an impression from the Report that the semi-vocational classes would not be of much benefit to the boys as might be continued further through the higher vocational classes, corresponding with the high classes and the Intermediate College classes in a parallel line, without continuing in the literacy side for some time. We think with a due selection of courses the boys can be taught in such a way that a particular boy beginning with the semi-vocational classes might pass on directly to the next higher vocational classes which again might lead on to still higher classes. A Government examination may be held at the end of the study in each of these sets of classes, so that it may be left to a particular boy to continue or discontinue at his option his vocational studies at the end of any of these examinations.

F.—We would heartily support the scheme of Social Welfare Centres if the expenses are not too forbidding. There would, however, be great difficulty in carrying it into effect owing to want of teachers, and so at the outset, one or two centres may be opened in prominent places, and, if they turn out a success, their numbers may be gradually increased. If the value of primary education has to be brought home to the minds of those classes of people who do not realise it at all, it cannot be done better than by demonstration and other methods, as also by propaganda work which shall not only create a taste for literacy, but also create an interest in all these crafts, arts and trades which go hand in hand, and are sometimes so essential to carry on the agricultural industry, as rough carpentry, smithy, ropemaking, etc.

G.—It would facilitate the training of elementary school teachers if each district has training schools of their own.

H and I.—The Union Boards should have real control of elementary education and the Sub-Inspectors must act according to their orders. There must be an Education Board which should be mainly constituted by the election of some of the members of the Union Boards, and all their proceedings and representations must be sent to the District Board. The District Board instead of being made the conduit pipe for the distribution of the pay of teachers should have real power and be allowed to hold communication direct with the Director of Elementary Education, when appointed. In the language of Mr. Biss, "they are not able to understand Secretariat delays, and will lose heart if an interval is allowed to elapse between the moment of their enthusiasm and the commencement of actual work." As we all know that delay acts as a damper, and therefore new and direct methods should be introduced for the prompt disposal of business. The new organisation should appropriately be placed under the Minister of Education and under the Minister of Local Self-Government.

J and K.—Primary education should be made free as soon as possible, but compulsion should not be introduced so long as the people do not appreciate its benefit. From the very beginning freeships and half-freeships should be introduced in every school, the proportion being fixed according to the total number of students. They are to be regulated according to the degree of poverty of the parents or guardians. The number of freeships should be increased gradually till in the fulness of time primary education might become totally free.

If it be the aim to gradually raise the number of primary schools in the rural as well as in the municipal areas, and if Government wish to act in accordance with that object, the District Boards and the Municipalities might be asked to earmark a portion of the funds (in the case of the former a portion out of the funds separately allotted from the District Fund for the Union Boards when they are established especially in regard to the District Board of 24 Parganas for the opening of such schools in suitable places within the areas under their jurisdiction. The total number of schools need not be fixed at once, for that would depend upon the funds available for the purpose; but it should be made binding upon each body that it should open a certain number of schools within a fixed period, the reducible minimum being fixed according to the population of that body. It is needless to add that these bodies should try their best to raise local subscriptions or donations, even by holding out the inducement that the donor's or their relatives' name should be perpetuated by naming the school or particular portion thereof after them.

L.—The crucial problem involved in the scheme of primary education is the method of financing it, and this is to be considered in view of all the circumstances, not only of the people but also of the local bodies in whose jurisdiction the schools are situated. The Provincial Government ought to contribute the whole of the cost incurred on primary education, but if owing to present financial straits they decline to shoulder the capital outlay of about a crore and a half and a recurring expenditure of about one crore and ten lakhs then the reforms proposed in the Report will be held in abeyance for an indefinite period. My District Board would be unable to pay more than what they now pay towards stipends, owing to their having to pay a considerable sum from their own District Fund towards other objects for which they are not responsible. I do not know the pecuniary condition of the other District Boards, and am, therefore, not in a position to say what proportion of their income they would be able to contribute. In these hard times the levy of an Education Cess, is out of the question as taxation has almost reached its extreme limit, and although in one sense it may be said as increasing the earning capacity of the people, it will, however, have a crushing effect owing to the chronic state of their poverty intensified by the present economic circumstances. Money could at the start be realised by fees and taxing amusements, which however would not go a great way in meeting expenses, but much help may be rendered thereby. Inspection, however, has to be effected in every possible direction. The present system of inspection by men who have no real and living touch with the boys, of their life and activities, who have no experience of teaching or without any necessary training in themselves, and even without any time at their disposal for any satisfactory inspection, is a real clog and a hindrance rather than a source of strength and inspiration, and the sooner such a system is done away with the better it is for real education. The huge and cumbrous system of direction and inspection by the Director with the help of Assistant Directors, Inspectors, Second Inspectors, Assistant Inspectors, Deputy Inspectors, Assistant Deputy Inspectors, Sub-Inspectors, Assistant Sub-Inspectors and Inspecting Pandits absorbing a large share of the Education grant which might be better utilised for the improvement of educational facilities and the pay of teachers, should be done away with as soon as possible. Instead of the present system, a simple decentralised system should be introduced at a less cost which will result in great saving. The real fact is, however, that we must save ourselves by our own exertions and not rely upon any material assistance from extraneous sources, such as the Government of India, in the task of reconstruction. On account of the great need of the people for vocational education as well as the spread of literacy, it would be improper to set aside the scheme framed by Mr. Biss for financial reasons. If financial stringency stands in the way, the proper course would be to proceed gradually so that the full measure of primary education might be reached, if not in 10 years, at least in 16 or 20 years. But we must commence work without delay in consideration of the fact, which is of paramount importance, that unless men are trained from their very boyhood for attaining proficiency in particular arts and industries which is the crying want of Bengal at present, no amount of effort subsequently made can make up for the lost time and opportunity in a boy's life. We should therefore suggest that instead of establishing at once new lower primary and upper primary schools, the very buildings of which would cost a large sum of money, steps should be taken to utilise the existing materials as far as possible for the following purposes:—

- (1) The guru, if found incompetent to teach on the improved lines, should be removed.
- (2) If he be found competent, his pay should be increased in order that he might give full attention to teaching, instead of seeking to try to supplement his salary which distracts his mind from his principal work. He must be given a living wage, and if funds permit, he should be appointed in a graded pay, the maximum to be reached in four or five years. He should be given an opportunity of attending a Teacher's Institution in order that he may have an acquaintance with the scientific methods of training. The passed teacher after a certain period of service in the lower primary school, should not be debarred from bettering his prospects by a promotion to the Upper Primary School, and then, if he be found competent, to a next higher school at an increased salary.
- (3) The buildings where the primary schools are now located, may be abandoned or repaired, if they do or do not fall far short of the sanitary requirements. At the outset it is possible that the locations may not tally with the geographical positions, as sketched out in the Report, of a mile or half a mile radius, but it should be laid down that the positions of the future schools, in conformity with that principle, might be regulated by starting from the point of the present locations and any irregularity in the present position of the old buildings may be rectified in future when they become old and unfit for use.

- (4) With a view to help the spread of ~~general~~ ^{technical} training all over Bengal and reduce the pinch of our financial position, would it not be better to get up dramatic performances as they do in Dorset, in all our rural areas, to place the proceeds and thus stimulate local patriotism and literacy? No doubt the time is far off for the realisation of such an idea, yet steps should be taken for giving such a training as may lead to develop patriotic feeling and at the same time prove beneficial, in a pecuniary point of view, to the general community. If such a view be carried out, then that would obviate to a great extent the necessity for the imposition of an Education Cess, as it has been proposed to do because any such imposition, however necessary, would be a very great hardship to the generality of the people.
- (5) Imposition of an Education Cess in the present economic condition of the country is not at all advisable; it would really be an oppression upon the people, though the object of the imposition would be for their benefit. Yet money is required for financing the scheme for expansion and development of primary education. To a great extent the difficulty may be obviated by inviting the co-operation of the citizens and by introducing a voluntary system of subscription, monthly or annually, which would not be so keenly felt as compulsory payment of taxation, at least the voluntary system of payment is worth experimenting.

M.—I am not in a position to reply to this question.

Ranaghat.—

	Rs.
Capital	12,000
Recurring	2,780

The Commissioners accepted the scheme and agreed to levy taxation to meet the recurring expenditure. Their difficulty is with the capital cost, and for raising their part of it they have asked Government to issue Debentures of the value of Rs. 100 to cover Rs. 6,000. The reply of Government is awaited.

Moheshpur.—

Cost without sites—

	Rs.
Capital	2,300
Recurring	1,230

The Divisional Commissioner's view as well as that of the Magistrate is that this Municipality is a dying one, and that the half and half basis is hard upon it. The Chairman strongly urges the introduction of the scheme and prays for special consideration. Sites are offered free on long leases as a municipal contribution to the capital cost. They now contribute Rs. 108 per annum for primary education, and undertake to raise an additional Rs. 200 by a cess making a total of Rs. 308 out of their share of the recurring cost which amounts to Rs. 615, or a quarter instead of a half share. In view of the support of the Commissioners and Magistrate, these proposals were made to Government. No reply has yet been received.

Kotechandpur.—The Commissioners have decided to levy a cess from April, 1923, or to appoint a committee to go into details.

KHULNA DISTRICT.

No reply has been received from Satkhira and Debbhatta.

Khulna.†—The Commissioners approved the scheme and offered one-third of the recurring cost, if Government would pay the remaining two-thirds. The local contribution was to include fees. They desired the pay of the teachers to be reduced on the ground that if teachers' salaries were allowed to rise, the cost of education would go beyond the means of the people. They did not offer to pay a share of the capital cost. They considered the levy of a cess to be impossible in the then existing state of the public mind.

* The scheme has since been abandoned.

Dacca District.

Dacca.—The scheme is for 12 schools to accommodate 3,200 boys. The Municipality has not felt justified in undertaking the whole scheme at once, negotiations are in progress regarding several individual projects. The Commissioners sanctioned Rs. 5,000 for one of these last year. Sites have been looked out in all the centres of the "school areas," but cannot be acquired till the financial problem is solved.

Narayanganj.—

	Rs.
Capital	48,150

Recurring	4,080

The scheme has been accepted by the Municipality. One-half of the capital cost has been offered by the "Santosh Six Annas Estate." The Commissioners, after most careful consideration, found they could not raise one-half of the recurring cost, and have resolved to find one-third of the cost if Government will grant them the remaining two-thirds. The scheme was sent to Government for sanction in this form. It has been refused because Government insists on the half and half basis.

Capital	5,400
Recurring	1,260

The scheme has been adopted in full by the Municipality on the half and half basis and the Divisional Commissioner has asked the Special Officer for Primary Education to recommend its acceptance by Government. Certain details are forming the subject of correspondence before Government can be addressed.

Faridpur District

Faridpur—A modified scheme is under consideration and is a subject of correspondence.

Madaripur—“Considering the present financial crisis, the Commissioners cannot accept the scheme at present.”

Barisal District.

No reply has been received from Pirojpur

Barisal.—The principles of the complete scheme were adopted by the Commissioners who decided to proceed with one central school at first, and to offer one-half of its capital and recurring cost if Government will give the other half, the full cost of the project being Rs. 9,600 capital and Rs. 1,800 recurring. Government has been approached for sanction but no reply has hitherto been received.

* Bhalpur has since accepted the scheme but asks for all the capital cost of this scheme and the balance of the recurring cost after deducting their present small grant.

† Natrakona has since accepted the scheme.

This town is small and can easily be served by one central school. It was decided to begin with a municipal free school for 50 boys with two teachers. The principles and estimates of the scheme were adopted by the Commissioners, who decided to offer a site valued at Rs. 300 and Rs. 400 in cash, or Rs. 700 in all on the capital side, if Government would give Rs. 1,250 to make up the value of site, building, and equipment, i.e., Rs. 1,950. The Government decided to contribute Rs. 100 per annum from their ordinary funds and Rs. 203 from an educational cess under the Bengal Primary Education Act of 1919, or a total of Rs. 303 towards the recurring cost of the scheme, if the Government of Bengal will give an equal amount. The scheme and part of the money was sanctioned by Government in the last financial year, and the balance will be sanctioned this year.

Jhalakati.—

					Rs.
Capital	7,550
Recurring	1,920

After careful consideration, the Commissioners unanimously resolved that the scheme should be accepted. Government was approached by the Municipality for the whole of the funds needed for capital expenditure. The Chairman states that half the recurring cost will be met from the ordinary funds of the Municipality. The Magistrate and Divisional Commissioner are of opinion that half the capital cost could be raised in the town among its wealthy merchants. Correspondence is proceeding.

Patuakhali.—Consideration of the scheme is postponed because "the present political movement in this country has greatly hampered the progress of education. Almost all the existing schools are in a deplorable condition on account of a major portion of the boys having left the schools. The Government is not in a position to make arrangements for primary education without levying an education cess, the imposition of which is not possible under the present state of things."

CHITTAGONG DIVISION.

CHITTAGONG DISTRICT.

No reply has been received from Cox's Bazar.

Chittagong.—The Commissioners did not feel that they could adopt the scheme all at once, but decided to experiment with a municipal school of their own for 150 boys in an existing building—(a) by collecting the fees themselves and paying them into the municipal treasury; (b) by appointing a staff of five teachers on fixed pay of Rs. 30, Rs. 25, Rs. 20, Rs. 15, and Rs. 10 per month with an allowance of Rs. 225 per annum for contingencies and repairs; and (c) by providing 38 free places. The total annual expenditure of Rs. 1,425 was to be divided equally between Government and the town. Of the municipal share of Rs. 713 it is estimated that fees will give Rs. 395. The present municipal grant to the school is Rs. 96, and a new expenditure of Rs. 222 per annum is undertaken by the municipality. The sanction of Government was asked in October 1921, but has not yet been received.

TIPPERA DISTRICT.

Comilla.—One central free school for 200 boys is definitely under consideration, and the Commissioners have voted Rs. 725 for their share of its maintenance. It is hoped that it will soon be possible to arrange for the necessary capital expenditure.

Brahmanbaria.—The scheme was approved as a "laudable one," but the Commissioners felt they could neither pay their share from their ordinary funds nor venture to levy a special cess at present.

Chandpur.—

					Rs.
Capital	37,900
Recurring	10,280

The original scheme was sent to the Chairman on 6th January 1921; after discussion it was accepted in full, the Commissioners resolving to levy an education cess up to 15 per cent. to make it possible on the "programme" plan. The sanction of Government was sought on 4th March 1921. For reasons which are not understood, sanction has not yet been accorded though over fifteen months have passed since that date. The scope of an excellent and brave example has been seriously minimised.

NOAKHALI DISTRICT.

Noakhali.—In view of the fact that the town is rapidly being washed away, the Commissioners do not feel justified in spending money on the scheme at present.

RAJSHAHI DIVISION

RAJSHAHI DISTRICT

Rajshahi (Rampore-Boalia).—The Commissioners decided to attempt to find money for the scheme from the increased funds that were expected to be at their disposal as a result of re-assessment. The matter is being raised afresh. It has been difficult to get as large a proportion as two-thirds of the Commissioners (14 out of 21) together to consider the question.

Notes. The Commissioners have decided to provide half the recurring cost if Government will provide the other half and the whole of the capital cost of the scheme.

DINAJPUR DISTRICT

Dinajpur. The Commissioners resolved that the consideration of the matter should wait till "an Indian Educationist of repute should be appointed as Director of Public Instruction."

JALPAIGURI DISTRICT

Jalpaiguri. The Commissioners resolved that they would take the matter up for further consideration after the next assessment when more funds might be expected.

RANGPUR DISTRICT

Rangpur.—

Capital	27 600
Recurring	10 890

The scheme was sent to the Municipality in the first instance on 21st December 1920. It was adopted in full on 16th January 1921 and sent to the Special Officer for Primary Education on 19th January 1921 with a request that Government might be moved to sanction the scheme and give permission for the levy of a cess. This was done on 22nd January 1921. Many reminders have gone forward since that date, but for reasons which are not understood no reply has been received till now one year and five months later. The force of an excellent and brave example has thus been seriously minimised, but the Rangpur Municipality has the great credit of being the first local body in Bengal to face all difficulties and to determine to place primary education upon a sound footing in the town for the well-being of whose children the Commissioners are responsible.

BOGRA DISTRICT

Bogra.—The Commissioners resolved that they would not adopt the scheme unless Government were to pay the whole of the capital and three quarters of the recurring cost of it. The proposal was not sent to Government for consideration.

Sheepur.—The Commissioners have decided to begin with one school for 100 boys.

PABNA DISTRICT.

No reply has been received from Serajganj.

Pabna.—The Commissioners decided that they could not afford to pay for the scheme and that Government should be asked to bear the expenses of free primary education.

MALDA DISTRICT.

No reply has been received from Malda (English Bazar), Old Malda and Nawabganj.

DARJEELING DISTRICT.

Darjeeling.—A large central school is being built on a site acquired for the purpose. It will be opened this year. Details of the scheme are explained in Chapter III of this report.

Kurseong.—Progress has been made owing to a lack of agreement among the Notes on Individual Unions.

BURDWAN DIVISION

BURDWAN DISTRICT

NOTE—Schemes were worked out for Memari, Ahmadpur and Nimo Unions, but the District Board thought it safer to do nothing in the matter on account of shortness of funds, and especially on account of the present political situation

BIRBHUM DISTRICT.

NOTE—The District Board, with its energetic Chairman, Mr. A. C. Banerjee, M.A., M.L.C., have taken a great interest in the matter of primary education. Political conditions have made things exceedingly difficult in the District, but progress has been made. Schemes have been worked out, but no further action has been taken in Purandarpur, Raipur (the home of Lord Sinha), Dubrajpur, and Kundali. Arrangements are proceeding in the three Unions mentioned below—

Hetampur.—The Union Board was not able to take up the whole scheme, but decided to develop one school for 100 boys. For this the Raja has kindly given a site and building free, and Government have been asked for Rs. 200 for equipment. The full estimated recurring expenditure for the school is Rs. 700, but the Union Board cannot guarantee their entire half, viz., Rs. 350, but only Rs. 120 together with the District Board grant of Rs. 24 to the two existing schools which are to be combined. The local guaranteed contribution will therefore be (Rs. 120 plus 24) Rs. 144 with hopes of an early increase. The Union Board has asked that the Government grant of Rs. 350 may be made. If this is allowed, Rs. 494 will be available. With this it is intended to pay three teachers on Rs. 20, Rs. 10, Rs. 10 and to allow Re. 1-2-0 for contingencies, the Union Board undertaking to keep the building in repair. Government has been approached for sanction to these proposals.

Labpur.—

	Rs.
Capital	3,000
Recurring	1,040

A full scheme was drawn up for the Union, but it had to be modified owing to the political difficulties of the time. It was therefore decided to open one school for 100 boys and two "infant schools," but that the houses for the latter should be built and equipped at once in the confidence that the people would see their advantages before long. Plans and estimates have been prepared by the District Board, the cost of the buildings being found from the funds at the disposal of the District Board in connexion with the Panchayet Union School Scheme. Government was to be asked for half the recurring cost. Of the remaining half, viz., Rs. 250 the District Board has promised Rs. 160 instead of their present grants of Rs. 80, the remaining Rs. 360 being personally guaranteed by the Chairman of the District Board. The people will therefore enjoy free education without a cess or contributions. As this goes to press the philanthropic zamindar of Labpur, Mr. Sashi Kinkar Banerji, has offered Rs. 2,500 to secure a better building for the main school of his Union.

Sultanpur.—

	Rs.
Capital	2,500
Recurring	970

A full scheme was worked out for this Union, but owing to political difficulties it had to be refused. It is expected that the people will realise the advantages of the scheme, so that it is intended to build the four schools that are needed, and to proceed with a reduced staff for the present. The capital cost will be found from the funds at the disposal of the District Board in connexion with the Panchayati Union School Scheme. Plans and estimates have been prepared by the District Board. Government is asked for one half of the recurring cost, while of the remaining half, viz., Rs. 485, the District Board has promised to contribute the balance (Rs. 325) has been guaranteed by the President who is also Chairman of the District Board. The people will therefore enjoy free education without a cess. Government has been approached for sanction of the scheme.

BANKURA DISTRICT.

NOTE.—The District Board was advised by the Special Officer for Primary Education to take up experimental schemes in the four Unions mentioned below. They agreed to meet the capital expenditure from funds at their disposal in connexion with the Panchayati Union School Scheme, and to find one-half of the recurring expenditure for three years, if Government would find the other half. Government has sanctioned all four schemes. The people of these Unions will therefore receive free primary education for three years without any cess or other local payment. A special feature of the scheme is that the District Board proposes to find part of their share of the recurring cost from savings effected by placing seven inspecting pandits in the schools as teachers:—

NOTE.—A scheme was worked out for Contai Union, but the District Board decided to await results at Naranda before proceeding with Contai. Mr. Upendra Nath Bera offered a site and a building free, and undertook to extend the latter to suit the scheme. The building of another school was offered by Mr. Rampasad and his brother Mr. Bharat Mahtia. The thanks of the Union are due to these gentlemen who were prepared to do some constructive work. This District has suffered very severely from the results of the non-co-operation movement.

Government has sanctioned the scheme, and arrangements are now being made for its establishment.

Malapur.—The matter is still under consideration and correspondence is proceeding.

Bhangamora.—The principles of the scheme have been accepted by the Union Board, but they do not feel strong enough to levy a cess at once and to carry it out in full all at once. They have taken a lot of trouble in working out modified proposals which have been sent to Government for sanction. Mr. Golap Chandra Bera has offered Rs. 5 per month for the scheme and has asked that it may be collected with the union rates. Mr. Surendra Nath Pal, the Vice-President, has guaranteed one-half (Rs. 205 per annum) of the recurring cost of the school in his village. Dr. J. C. Ghose, Professor of Physical Chemistry at the Dacca University, has given a guarantee of Rs. 205 per annum (half the cost of one school) for five years.

Thana Badangunja.—

Shyambazar.—Mr. Prabodh Chandra Chatterjee, the President of the Union Board, is a grandson of the great Pandit Iswar Chandra Vidyasagar, and gives the scheme "his warmest support." Correspondence on ways and means is proceeding.

Thana Dadpur.—

Makhalpur.—The Union Board does not want to start the scheme in this union.

Thana Dhaniakhali.—

Shahbasar.—The scheme has been approved by the Union Board with certain modifications. These are now the subject of correspondence.

Bhattera.—The Union Board finds it impossible to levy a cess just now. Correspondence is proceeding.

Melki.—One school has actually been built by the Union Board in anticipation of sanction. The President has also guaranteed half the recurring expenses of the school. As soon as the legal papers are complete, Government will be approached for sanction.

Thana Goghat—

Kamarpukur.—The scheme was not accepted on account of difficulty of raising a cess.

Thana Khanakul—

Balipur.—The value of the scheme was emphasized and Government was to be asked to contribute their half of the recurring cost, leaving the people to find as much of the balance as possible. Correspondence on these lines is proceeding.

Atphora.—The Union Board expresses its inability to levy a cess on account of the non-co-operation movement. Correspondence is proceeding.

Khanakul.—The people are said to have been impoverished by a flood and therefore to be unable to carry out the "valuable scheme."

Thana Pandua—

Jam-Duarbanini.—The Union Board has not felt able to tackle the whole scheme, but decided to open a free primary school as a lower section of their secondary school. Unfortunately a difficulty has arisen in getting the grant for the higher part of the school as a result of cutting off the primary classes. Correspondence is proceeding.

Rameswarpur-Gopalnagar.—The scheme has been accepted. Details are being worked out.

The Union Board has accepted the principles of the scheme and has resolved at first to build three schools each for 100 boys. They have guaranteed to find Rs. 1,050 per annum from fees and contributions towards the recurring cost of the scheme. The proposals are almost ready to be laid before Government.

Dihibpur.—The President wishes to commence with one school as an experiment. Correspondence is proceeding.

Pursurah.—The people are not willing to give free sites, but wish the existing building to be developed and the schools to be run on a fee system. The scheme is being revised accordingly with a view to securing (i) school areas, (ii) teachers on fixed salaries.

Thana Serampore.

Pearampur.—The scheme has been postponed for a year owing to difficulties and a division of opinion within the Union.

Thana Polba—

Sugandha.—It was decided by the Union Board to adopt the scheme and levy a cess from this year. Details are now the subject of correspondence.

Rajhat.—The proposals for carrying out part of the scheme are under consideration.

Polba.—The scheme was accepted in full by the Union Board and the District Board and was sent to the Director of Public Instruction for sanction on 1st September 1921. No reply has been received. This case was being watched with interest by other Union Boards in the district, and the value of an excellent and bold example in the face of great difficulties has been lost by delay.

Mahanad.—The President considers the people are too poor to pay extra taxes.

Alna.—A modified scheme was worked out and agreed to, but no definite guarantee has yet been received from the Union Board. The difficulty has been the fear of levying a cess. Correspondence is proceeding.

Amnan.—A scheme was agreed upon, but at the last moment the Union Board failed to take the necessary steps. Correspondence is proceeding.

Gosain-Malipara.—The scheme was declined by the Union Board without any reason being stated.

Thana Singur—

Singur.—The scheme was accepted in full, but without agreement to the levy of a cess. Correspondence regarding details is proceeding.

Gopalnagar.—The President of the Union Board sent in his own revised scheme which is the subject of discussion and correspondence now. ~~It is to be a cess as "a measure of relief" from an otherwise insuperable difficulty, and the levy of a cess has been resolved upon by the Union Board.~~ The District Board made a reference to the Inspector of Schools on the subject in January 1922. This was answered favourably on 9th March 1922, but no reply has been received from the District Board.

Bora.—The Union Board declined to adopt the scheme on the ground that it might "interfere with the existence of the present Middle English School."

Thana Tarkeswar—

Talpur.—The fear of the levy of a cess decided the Union Board against the scheme.

HOWRAH DISTRICT.

NOTE.—Nalpur Union has been worked out, but no further action has been taken.

Kan. Agore.—Nothing has been heard from the Union Board, but several letters and petitions have been received from individuals and groups of people on the subject. Correspondence is proceeding.

The scheme has been adopted by the District Board who have been authorized by Government to carry it out. The capital cost is to be met by funds at the disposal of the Board in connexion with the Panchayati Union School Scheme. Government is to pay half the recurring cost and the District Board is to pay the other half for three years, so that the people will enjoy free primary education for that time. The titles to the sites are being secured and the plans of the buildings drawn up.

Flabaria.—The Union Board wanted an additional grant of Rs. 400 from the District Board which was refused.

Jujura.—An attempt is being made by private persons to carry out the scheme.

Mahuri.—The Vice-Chairman of the District Board reports that no offer of free sites has been made and therefore the scheme cannot be made effective.

PRESIDENCY DIVISION.

24-PARGANAS DISTRICT.

NOTE.—Schemes have been worked out for Madral-Narayanpur, Bodra, Dhankuria, Maliberia, and Rajibpur Unions. The District Board was invited to select some from these and to find half the recurring cost as an experiment in giving free primary education, Government giving the other half. The capital cost was to be found from the Panchayati Union School Scheme funds at the disposal of the District Board. No reply has been received from the District Board.

Rajibpur.—The Union Committee agreed that the scheme should be introduced by a majority of 4 to 1, but desire that the District Board should experiment for three years with free schools.

MURSHIDABAD DISTRICT.

NOTE.—Schemes were worked out for Nimtita, Beldanga, Mahalandi, Gokaram, and Jibanta Unions. The District Board has not yet replied as to whether they will attempt to establish any of them in an experimental fashion.
